BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11 (11:30 a. m.).—Gen. Tsai Ting-kai, commander of the Chinese Nineteenth army, went to Woosung early today to take personal command of the Chinese forces.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11 [Thursday].—[U.P.]—Five women were known to have been killed and 16 were injured today when a bomb dropped by a Japanese airplane struck the Chinese owned Wingon cotton mill No. 3, located in the American sector of the international settlement.

The bombing plane was attempting to dislodge Chinese troop concentrations across the international settlement line in the Markham bridge sector.

Lieut. J. S. Cook and 18 United States marines stationed within the mill escaped injury. The marines, who were in another part of the building, were shaken up by the explosion.

The mill was bombed at 10:30 a. m., while 3,000 women were working. The bomb crashed through the roof, landing in the winding room and causing considerable damage.

U. S. Envoy to Protest.

A panic ensued as the women ran screaming from the scene. Scores of homes in the neighborhood were shaken by the blast and mothers gathered their children about them in an effort to protect them.

United States Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham immediately began an investigation of the bombing and at 11:45 a. m. filed a statement of facts with Japanese Consul General Murai, indicating that representations will be filed as soon as possible.

Chinese artillery in the Chapei native quarter this noon began bombarding the Japanese right wing. This was followed by intense artillery and machine gun fighting along the entire front.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11 [Thursday].—The greatest concentration of guns, man power, and ammunition of the entire Shanghai-Woosung engagement was in progress this morning as the Japanese and the Chinese got ready to fight it out to the finish.

The troops were massed about the Woosung forts, where the Chinese have stood up for a week under almost continual bombardment and aerial attack.

The concentration movement was carried out under the cover of darkness last night and early this morning. Passengers aboard steamships from Japan that docked at Shanghai late yesterday said they had passed a dozen Japanese troop ships. Neutral sources here received a code message from Japan saying two army divisions, about 20,000 men, had embarked for the front.

Chinese Bring Up Troops.

The Chinese got ready for the big push by draining their reserve troops from trench lines to the rear of their positions in Chapei.

In the sector about the north station only two lines of trenches remained manned. Hitherto three or four lines have held full complements of men. A gap of half a mile existed between the Chinese front and the support lines after the shift had been completed.

Japanese field pieces, unloaded from ships in the Whangpoo river, were picked up from the Shanghai docks by motor trucks that rumbled away to the north.

Bales of Cotton for Barricades.

Japanese trucks rushed bales of American cotton into the Woosung sector for use in protecting strong points from Chinese machine gun bullets and artillery shells. These bales, ideal for the purpose, were picked up at Japanese owned cotton mills along the edge of the Whangpoo—mills which have been closed since the out-

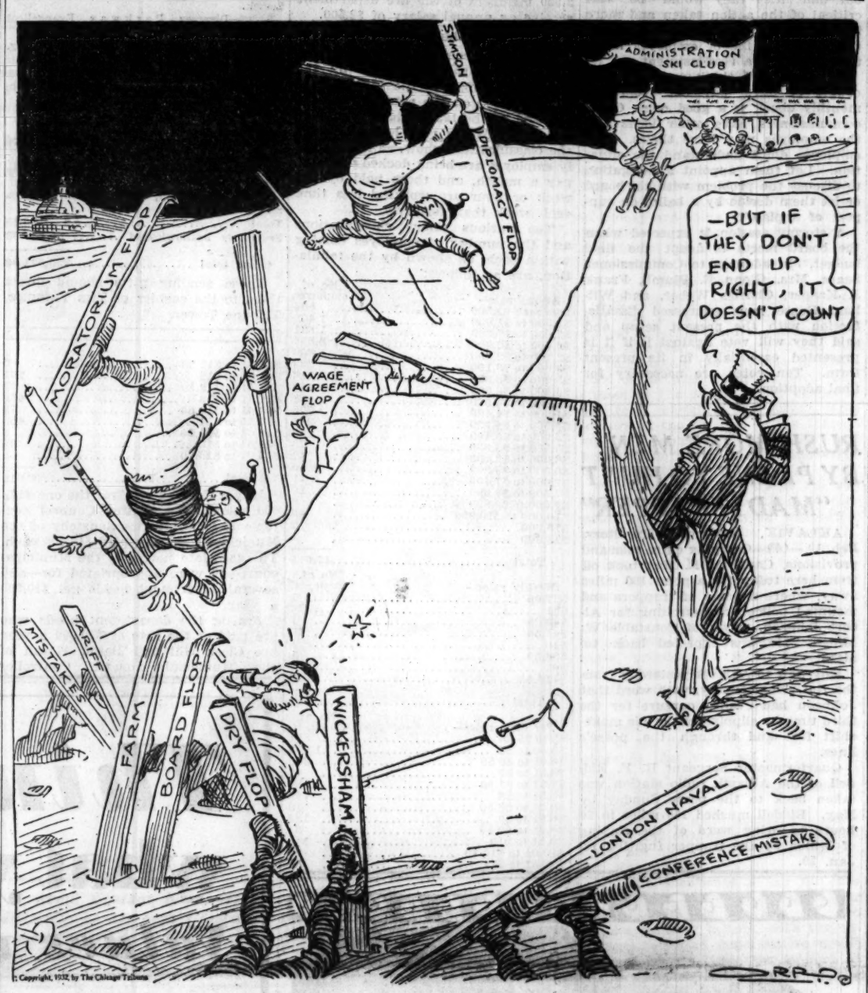
A GREAT STARTING PLACE



City Prepares to Celebrate Lincoln Day

Lincoln's birthday will be celebrated throughout Chicago tomorrow. In civic meetings on the 123d anniversary of the Great Emancipator's birth his qualities will be reviewed and his ideals held aloft with special emphasis upon his integrity as a statesman.

As usual, the public schools will be closed, but today exercises will be held in many schoolrooms commemorating Lincoln's birth.

There will be no afternoon carrier delivery of mail tomorrow so that postmen may enjoy a half holiday. However, the general delivery, special delivery and stamp departments of the postoffice will remain open all day.

Hyde to Speak Here.

One event tomorrow will be the banquet at the Hamilton club, where Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde will give the principal address. He will speak on "Keeping Faith with Lincoln." He expected to bring a message from Washington for all Republicans in the middle west, according to Allan T. Gilbert, president of the club. William D. Saltiel is chairman of the banquet committee.

At the Chicago Woman's club tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock will be held a Lincoln birthday good-will meeting. Among the speakers will be Dr. Allen D. Albert of the Century of Progress; Hugo F. Simon, German consul general; Dr. Francis V. Corcoran, president of De Paul university; William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools; Rabbi Gerson B. Levi, and the Rev. E. Wayland Ward. The winner of the essay contest in the public schools recently sponsored by the Woman's club will speak.

Community Meeting Planned.

"What Would Lincoln Do About the Problem of Unemployment?" will be the subject of a community meeting to be held at Chicago Commons, 955 West Grand avenue, tomorrow evening.

The young people of the Methodist churches in Chicago and suburbs will observe Lincoln birthday at a meeting in the Chicago temple at 7:30 p. m. J. Stitt Wilson, former mayor of Berkeley, Cal., will speak on "Wanted: the Spirit of Abraham Lincoln in the Present World-Wide Economic Crisis." The Armour Glee club will sing.

Children of the city are invited to observe Lincoln's birthday tomorrow at the Field museum. The James Nelson and Anna Louise Raymond foundation will present at 10 and 11 a. m. motion pictures of the life of the civil war President. Admittance is free.

THIS WYOMING CITY EARNS POSITION AS TAXPAYERS' UTOPIA

Torrington, Wyo., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Torrington is to be a taxpayers' Utopia in 1932.

Under a budget being prepared by city officials, not a cent of taxes will be levied for city purposes. Proceeds from the city light and water systems will be sufficient to operate all municipal departments, officials announced today.

During the last two years the tax levy has been reduced 50 per cent although many municipal improvements have been made, including the paving of the business section.

In the same period there was a 15 per cent reduction in rates for electricity, and $23,000 in bonded indebtedness was paid.

Apartment Owner Shot by a Burglar; May Die

Bomb Shakes Co-op Movie House in Gary

Eight hundred patrons of the Gary theater, at 5th avenue and Broadway, in the heart of the Gary business district, were startled last night when a black powder bomb exploded in an alley in the rear of the structure.

The explosion occurred at 10:15 p. m. It blew out windows in the Broadway hotel nearby and in a restaurant and laundry adjoining the theater. Guests in the hotel hurried to the sidewalk and a huge crowd gathered at the corner.

Fails to Halt Show.

The noise of the bombing was not so distinct to the patrons in the theater and there was no panic. The talking picture which was on display at the time was continued. The bomb tore a hole in the pavement of the alley but did not damage the wall of the theater.

The theater has been operated for five months as a coöperative venture. Stage hands, motion picture machine operators, ushers, and others connected with the house took out their wages on a percentage basis of the profits made.

Opposed by Unions, He Says.

This arrangement had been bitterly opposed by unions of stage hands, operators and others, according to William Wolfe, the manager. Efforts to make the employés join unions were fruitless because of the profit sharing system. However, he had received no threats, Wolfe said.

Police were told by witnesses that suspicious appearing characters had been seen loitering about the theater during the evening but no identifications were offered.

SIX OFFICIALS ARE ACCUSED OF DRY RAID MURDER

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 10.—(AP)—A federal prohibition agent and five constables were charged with murder today in connection with the fatal shooting last night of Luther Barnett during a raid on a still.

Those charged were B. L. Smith, a federal officer, and Constables Deaton, James Marshall, Ova Dunn, Lewis Taulbee, and Blake Centers.

BINGHAM MAPS 3 WAY PLAN TO MEET BUDGET

Would Permit Beer, Cut Paternalism.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A way to balance the budget without raising federal taxes was submitted in an address tonight by Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.], under auspices of the American Taxpayers' league.

SENATOR BINGHAM. [Fotograms.]

The Bingham proposal is to extirpate federal paternalism now costing the taxpayers 800 millions a year, legalize beer, the excise on which would raise from 400 millions to one billion dollars, and meet the remainder of the deficit by increasing the public debt, which has already been reduced several billions ahead of schedule.

Labor's Demand for Beer.

Earlier in the day organized labor, through its national committee for modification of the Volstead act, today adopted a petition to be presented to every member of congress, demanding immediate passage of legislation to permit the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer.

The petition set forth four principal grounds on which labor's demand for modification was based.

"Modification of the Volstead act," it stated, "will bring about the immediate employment of hundreds of thousands of workers now unemployed and restore useful life to an industry recognized as legal throughout the world.

"It will immediately provide enormous revenues, federal, state, and municipal.

"It will remove the cause of gangsterism, racketeering, and a host of other crimes against persons and property, including the invasion of personal constitutional rights by law enforcement officers.

"It will strike a blow at intolerance and make way for a return to tolerance and temperance."

For Stringent Economy.

"My first proposal for escaping new taxation," said Senator Bingham in his night address, "is stringent economy, cutting government expenditures to the bone, particularly in matters which it is agreeable to have, but which are not needed for the national defense or the national credit.

"My second suggestion is that we take advantage of a law passed in 1916 which placed a tax of $5 a barrel on beer. In order to take advantage of this existing tax law we must change the Volstead act so that it will not apply to anything except beverages containing more than 4 per cent of alcohol. This would permit the manufacture and sale of good, wholesome beer and ale, beverages which our ancestors in Germany and England found wholesome and harmless during many centuries of their use as ordinary beverages. To abuse their use is, of course, harmful, just as it is harmful to drink too much coffee or smoke too many cigarets, or too many cigars, or to eat too rich food. Intemperance is always harmful.

Sees 400 Million Gain.

"By legalizing the manufacture and sale of good, wholesome beer under the present tax laws, without increasing those taxes, we could add 400 million dollars to the national revenue at a time when revenue is very badly needed.

"Of course, if you wanted to place the same tax on a bottle of beer that the government now places on a package of cigarets, you could raise more than a billion dollars in taxes and there would be no more complaint about it than there is today about the tax on tobacco.

Would Hit Only Bootleggers.

"Furthermore, this money would come chiefly out of the pockets of the bootleggers, who would be deprived of a large part of their market for an inferior and illegal product which nets them enormous profits without paying any taxes to the federal government.

"Incidentally, it would benefit a large number of industries, including one hundred thousand farmers, who would find a new market for their grain.

"But I am concerned now with its value in raising taxes and in helping us to avoid new taxation."

Mine Writers Escorted Out of Kentucky

Pineville, Ky., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Within less than an hour tonight members of a writers' relief committee were arrested in their hotel rooms, arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct, had the charges dismissed, and were escorted to the state border after being advised never to return to Bell county.

Upon motions of Horace Rollins, police court prosecutor, the charges were dismissed. Alan Taub, New York attorney, who was arrested with eleven writers who accompanied three truckloads of supplies brought here to distribute to miners, then asked for protection while they returned to their hotel.

Ordered to Leave County.

Mayor J. M. Brooks answered this plea by advising them all to leave the county immediately. He said their visits here "only stir up trouble and excite miners so that bloodshed may result." His statements were supported by city and county officers present.

Accordingly, it was arranged to furnish transportation to Cumberland Gap, Tenn., for those who did not have automobiles. The group was accompanied to their hotel, where they obtained their luggage, and special officers started with them toward the Tennessee line.

Before they left, Mayor Brooks advised them not to return. Two other members of the group, Harold Hickerson and Doris Parks, held on open charges after their arrest while addressing a miner's mass meeting, remained here in jail.

Writers in Party.

Writers included in the exodus were Waldo Frank, Malcolm Cowley, Edmund Wilson, Mary Heaton Vorse, Polly Boyden, Benjamin Leider, Dr. Elsie Reid Mitchell, John Henry Hammond, Liston Oak, Quincy Howe, and A. M. Max.

All but three were arrested in the hotel, and special officers later rounded up those missing in time for the arraignment.

The southeastern coal fields where the national miners' union called a strike Jan. 1 were reported quiet today, save for Knox county. A mine worker giving the name of Harry Sims was shot through the abdomen in the Brush Creek field there today. Sims claimed he was shot without provocation. Mine guards reported Arlie Miller, a mine guard, shot him when he pointed a pistol at another guard. Miller was released in $3,000 bond pending a hearing.

BUSINESS MAN IS BEATEN AND TIED; CONDITION GRAVE

Evidently trapped by a robber, Horace W. Bowman, president of the Holmes Disappearing Bed company, was slugged, bound and left unconscious last night in his private garage in the rear of 930 Argyle street. He also was subjected to carbon monoxide fumes from the running motor of his car.

Bowman was taken to the Edgewater hospital, where his condition was said to be grave. He is 52 years old, and lives at the Copeland hotel, 5009 Sheridan road.

A heavy club wrapped in paper was found alongside Bowman. His scarf was stuffed in his mouth, and his hands and feet were bound with rope. Nearby was his car, the motor running.

KELLY DEMANDS BOARD GO BACK TO 1924 BUDGET

Warns Public Can't Pay High Costs.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The D. F. Kelly tax warrant sales committee urged the school board yesterday to trim $30,000,000 from its 1932 budget, which tentatively totals $90,045,140 in its present form.

The property owners cannot pay the taxes which the board would authorize the schools to spend this year, in the opinion of Mr. Kelly, whose letter was delivered to President Lewis E. Myers of the board of education late yesterday afternoon.

After summarizing business conditions, Mr. Kelly made his recommendation in this sentence:

"It seems obvious that the businesslike thing to do would be to prepare a budget that is based on 1922 and 1924 expenditures, rather than upon 1929 taxes."

1924 and 1931 Compared.

As indicating what that recommendation means, Mr. Kelly recited in his letter the appropriations for 1924 as compared with those for 1931. These appropriation figures, obtained from School Auditor H. H. Brackett and prepared on a comparable basis with certain items eliminated, are as follows:

	1924.	1931.
Educational	$38,710,763	$58,140,513
Textbooks	791,885	1,311,253
Playground	645,588	1,291,622
Building	17,261,438	27,299,659
Teachers' pensions	571,192	824,629
Totals	$57,980,866	$88,867,676

Mr. Kelly's general reasons for recommending such a drastic cut are as follows:

"In view of the general business depression it is obvious that the board should not predicate its budget on the 1929 tax roll, for the very good reason that the volume of business in general—manufacturing, retailing, and almost every other line of endeavor—declined at least one-third during the last two years. Business is being carried on at the present time in volume that is comparable with what was done in 1922.

Cites Corporation Reports.

"The annual reports of corporations that have been published since Jan. 1 indicate that almost every business in the city is and has been operating at a substantial net loss, thus indicating that business has declined tremendously during the last two years. The inability to pay also applies to the small taxpayer, thousands of whom are out of work and many of whom have lost their life savings in banks that have closed."

Mr. Kelly said that he is not impressed with the board's representation that it has reduced the 1932 budget estimates $14,046,982. The orders of the board that the department heads submit estimates for only "essential activities" is looked upon by Mr. Kelly as only a form.

"Why not order them," he wrote, "to reduce all of their costs of operating to a minimum, in order to bring them down to present day levels?"

On Building Appropriation.

Mr. Kelly said that he is not informed on what the board intends to do with the proposed 1932 appropriation of $28,932,817 for buildings and construction work. He placed the average annual expenditure from this fund for the last six years at $12,732,000. His letter to Mr. Myers went on:

"In the matter of appropriations for new buildings on which construction is to be started, you indicate that the board has decided to reduce this item to $1,000,000 for the cost of a school building to be erected at 41st street and Lake Park avenue. Inquiries concerning the proposed building show that the cost will not exceed $400,000.

"As to new sites, surely real estate will cost no more next year than this. Why not eliminate the entire appropriation for sites?"

$50,000 for Bathrooms.

As to school bathrooms, Mr. Kelly said his committee has been informed that if this item is reduced to $50,000 it would cover every requirement for baths. He continued:

"Concerning playgrounds, may we suggest that this is one item of expense that could be materially reduced. In fact, we have been told that this budget was reduced and later restored, for unknown reasons.

"It is obvious that a very substantial sum of money, at least two-thirds of the amount provided for textbooks for 1931, could be eliminated for 1932. Two-thirds of the appropriations for playgrounds for 1931—as compared with 1924—could be eliminated.

"We cannot emphasize too strongly the necessity for economy in the matter of repairs, betterments and renewals. All of these items of expense should be suspended, let us say, temporarily."

In his first letter to the board two weeks ago Mr. Kelly suggested a saving of $1,000,000 or more in the operation of the school plants. In his letter yesterday he suggested that the Columbia university commission, which is making a $100,000 survey of the Chicago schools, be asked to report on the cost of plant operation.

"Regardless of the rules and regulations, which you intimate exist in Chicago," said the Kelly letter, "the costs of operating schools here should not be higher than they are said to be in New York and Philadelphia."

Mr. Kelly also told the board there is no money in sight with which to pay its employés.

"We are sure your board realizes," he wrote, "that the people of Chicago are thoroughly chagrined over the fact that there will be no money to pay the employés of the board on March 1 when they will be entitled to more than $30,000,000."

President Myers said that copies of Mr. Kelly's letter will be delivered this morning to each school trustee so that they may be prepared to give the matter careful consideration at an early date.

ACCOUNTING OF TRUST FUNDS IN BANK ORDERED

Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski yesterday ordered an accounting of two trust funds totaling $350,000 placed in the Home Bank and Trust company, which has been taken over by the United American bank. The order was made on the petition of Mrs. Anna D. Krejci, wife of B. William Krejci, a real estate operator. Mrs. Krejci, who said she created the funds in 1927 and 1928, charged that they had been mismanaged by the trust officers and handled for their own convenience. A hearing was set for Feb. 23.

Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg entered an order allowing a payment of $23,316 to depositors of the Second Humboldt State bank, which closed last summer with deposits totaling $500,000. The payment will be the first made to depositors of the bank.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson closed the Baker State bank of Cicero yesterday at the request of the bank's board of directors. Steady withdrawals since June, 1930, were blamed for the closing. The bank had deposits of $930,000 in June, 1930, as compared to $168,000 at closing.

SMITH'S NAME TO BE FILED IN NORTH DAKOTA

Minot, N. D., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith of New York will be listed as a Democratic presidential candidate in the state preferential primary election March 15 on the initiative of a North Dakotan.

The secretary of state announced today that consent of the candidate was not necessary.

E. H. Stenvick, former postmaster here, said he would circulate nominating petitions in behalf of Smith and hoped to file for him by late Saturday, the deadline for such action.

Stenvick said he had not consulted Smith, but refused to abide by the decision of the state Democratic convention, which indorsed Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. Roosevelt's name was filed yesterday.

Canal District Pays $149,000 on a Pay Roll of $189,598

The sanitary district yesterday paid $149,000 on a pay roll of $189,598 due to employés for the last two weeks of November. Employés in the lower pay groups received the full amount due for the period. Because of the shortage of $40,598 necessary for a complete pay roll, department heads, executives and others in the higher salaried groups were not paid, in accord with resolutions adopted by the board at the last meeting.

SCHOOLS FACE A COAL CRISIS; BILLS UNPAID

Dealers Threaten to Stop Fuel Deliveries.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Coal dealers who supply about one-third of the public schools with fuel notified School Engineer John Howatt yesterday that they will quit delivering on Saturday unless they are paid.

The school board conferred for an hour and a half on the subject during the afternoon and authorized President Lewis E. Myers to call in the coal contractors. He said he will do that today.

The president was informed that some schools have a week's supply of coal on hand, while others have as much in their bins as they need for two weeks if the weather continues moderate. But the forecast last night was for colder weather today and much colder weather tomorrow.

Bills Unpaid Since April.

The trouble arises from the fact that the board has not paid a coal bill since last April. These bills, it is estimated, now total around $700,000. Engineer Howatt estimated that the schools will need about 40,000 tons of lump coal and 20,000 each of nut coal and screenings to operate until June.

The blame for the board's predicament was placed by the trustees on Mayor Cermak. It was charged that he has not signed the tax anticipation warrants which were sent to him 11 or 12 days ago. With those warrants, the board asserted, it could get coal.

The Consumers company and the Wisconsin Lime and Cement company, two of the coal contractors, have been asking for these warrants for some time.

Ask Carr to See Mayor.

In order to get action on the part of Mayor Cermak, the board requested Trustee Robert Carr to persuade the mayor, if possible, to sign the warrants.

"I think the board is duty bound to take all proper steps to get coal for the schools," said Trustee James A. Hemingway. "It would be well for the board to start mandamus proceedings to compel the mayor to sign the warrants. If the schools must close for the lack of coal, the responsibility will be on the mayor, and he will have that to explain."

"O, he will be able to explain it," said President Myers.

Myers Hopes to Get Coal.

The dealers who have served notice they will quit deliveries are those who are reported to deliver for the Materials Service company, which is said to have an agreement with a strip coal mine south of Joliet. The board is not informed whether these dealers will accept tax anticipation warrants in payment, but Mr. Myers said he hoped to prevent the schools from closing for lack of coal.

"The board has faced a coal shortage before," explained Engineer Howatt, "but the board has never before been without credit. The coal contractors, reputable concerns, are headed towards bankruptcy. I hope we may be able to get enough coal to keep the schools open."

Mrs. Grace L. Fredericks, 40 years old, committed suicide by hanging herself yesterday afternoon in her home at 835 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park. The body was discovered by her son, Raymond Jr., 14 years old, an Oak Park High school student.

County Board to Hold Public Budget Hearing on Feb. 20

The county board last night voted to publish a tentative budget for 1932 of $42,199,541. No vote of approval was taken on the budget which was prepared by the finance committee. Under a new budget law the board set Feb. 20 as the date for a public hearing to receive suggestions on amendments before the budget is passed in final form on Feb. 29.

The 1931 budget was $40,493,301. The contemplated 1932 increase is $1,706,241. Commissioners favoring the tentative budget said there was nothing final in the present setup and that adjustments probably would be made after the public hearing. They held the increase necessary because they said elections this year will cost $1,800,000 and the $1,037,396 deficit of last year must be met.

Items of Two Years Compared.

A comparison of items in the 1931 budget and the 1932 tentative budget follows:

	1931.	1932.
Corporate fund	$20,046,733	$26,660,103
Highways	13,560,521	15,801,721
Bond and interest	3,855,565	4,786,375
Trust fund	2,350,481	271,342
Employés annuity..	680,000	680,000
	$40,493,300	$42,199,541

The tentative budget was based on an estimated assessed valuation of $4,275,000,000 for Cook county property, which would bring in tax revenue of $13,680,000 to the county corporate fund. The finance committee had previously estimated an assessed valuation of $4,516,000,000. The difference represents a decrease of $300,000 in anticipated taxes. The committee estimated income of $7,372,500 from county fee offices and $645,000 from miscellaneous sources. The 1931 deficit of $1,037,396 cut the estimated corporate fund income to $20,660,103.

Under the new budget law the county is required to have 100 printed copies of the tentative budget available for scrutiny in the controller's office. The public is invited to examine the budget and make suggestions and criticisms up to Feb. 20.

Commissioner Amelia Sears voted against the resolution authorizing printing of the copies. She explained that she voted so because she was against the tentative budget on the ground that it does not represent the retrenchment demanded by existing financial conditions. She held that unnecessary jobs should be abolished.

Commissioner Walter La Buy, author of the plan to reduce the wages and salaries of employés and officials 20 per cent for the last nine months of the year by deducting six days' pay a month, suggested a vote of county employés on adoption of a pay cut plan.

He suggested a ballot of five propositions; first, a definite salary cut; second, a suspension of pay for possibly six weeks; third, the present plan; fourth, graduated reductions on salaries; and fifth, job cuts. He will present a resolution asking for the vote before the finance committee tomorrow.

Seeks to Educate Employés.

"We should educate the public and employés to our problem," Mr. La Buy said. "If the employés knew our difficulties they would be less critical of the action taken and more in sympathy with the board. I believe the rank and file of employés know there must be a readjustment.

"Personally I think my idea of a couple of days' pay cut from the monthly check is a good one. Other commissioners have other ideas and the employés may have theirs. The employés don't understand the situation. Let them appoint a delegation to discuss the problem with the board or let them decide by a ballot on support of a plan."

A stormy session is expected when the board meets to adopt the final budget. In addition to Commissioner Sears, Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, Frank J. Kasper, Charles Weber, and William Busse have expressed dissatisfaction with the present setup and said they will vote against it if it is presented essentially in its present form. Ten votes are necessary for final adoption.

CONTEMPT CASE OVER CONNOLLY SET FOR FEB. 23

State's Attorney Swanson, John E. Northup, his first assistant, and three others yesterday were cited in a petition presented before Judge Philip L. Sullivan to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt of court in connection with the habeas corpus proceeding in behalf of Timothy L. Connolly, former purchasing agent for the sanitary district. The three others named in the petition are Assistant State's Attorneys Harold Keele and Henry Seyfarth, and James McQueeney, a private detective who was the governor's messenger in bringing Connolly back from San Diego, where he was arrested. It is charged the prosecutors evaded the purpose of a habeas corpus writ issued by Judge Sullivan by keeping Connolly in another state while an effort was made to get a confession from him. The hearing on the petition and answers will be Feb. 23.

STORE OWNER IS ROBBED.

John Krojach, owner of a cigar store at 10900 Torrence avenue, was robbed of $690 late yesterday by five men, one armed with a sawed off shotgun. Krojach kept the money to cash pay checks of mill workers, he told the police.

RUSH MORE MEN BY PLANE TO HUNT "MAD TRAPPER"

AKLAVIK, Northwest Territory, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Carrying extra men and provisions, Capt. W. R. May took off from here today for a point 100 miles away, where a posse of trappers and mounted police are searching for Albert Johnson, slayer of Constable W. Millen. He was expected back tonight.

May flew to Aklavik yesterday from the Rat river country, with word that Johnson had evaded capture for the third time by slipping out of his makeshift fort and through the posse's lines.

Quartermaster Sergeant R. F. Riddell of the Aklavik radio station was taken back to the posse Sunday by May. Riddell mushed 100 miles in 20 hours to bring word of the slaying of Millen by the trapper fugitive on Jan. 20.

CITY EMPLOYES' PAY ANALYZED; 23,382 ON ROLLS

Largest Group Found in $2,400 Yearly Class.

Among the 23,382 city employés for whom salaries and wages were set up in the 1931 appropriation bill, the largest group, with respect to classification by compensation, is the one whose members are paid between $2,400 and $2,699 annually, according to figures compiled yesterday by the staff of the city council finance committee.

In this group are listed 3,882 employés, or more than one-third of the total number. Most of the 6,500 members of the police department and 2,500 members of the fire department receive an annual salary of $2,500.

Use in Budget Making.

The finance committee staff's tabulation was prepared for use by the aldermen in making the 1932 budget. It was based on the rates of pay authorized by the 1931 budget. Actually the employés are paid less now than the classifications show, as the monthly employés are being docked six days' pay a month, and those paid by the week or hour are working less time each week than formerly.

The various salary classifications and the number of employés coming within each, as shown by the tabulation, are as follows:

BALANCE OF HUNGRY PUPIL FUND TURNED OVER TO SCHOOLS

The balance in the Hungry School Children's fund, a little more than $2,000, was turned over to the board of education yesterday for distribution in the 211 schools that are serving free lunches to needy children.

By careful assignment that money may last a week or ten days. The provision for lunches after that depends on the response of TRIBUNE readers to the call for more funds. There are to be benefits in the near future, but even the receipts from these will be unable to care entirely for the children who now are depending on the fund for their heartiest daily meal.

Yesterday a total of $192.45 was received for the fund. The total received since last fall is $35,571.98, all except yesterday's gifts having been turned over to the schools. Yesterday's gifts follow:

$50—"Two pupils of Petersen School."
$20—From a friend.
$15.95—The Bookhouse for Children.
$10—Joseph and Asher Wilk, Henriette C. Warner, Madeleine Foreman, Norma M. Zemek.
$7.75—Diversey Parkway Evangelical church.
$5—School official, Elizabeth R. McCarthy, Geneva, Ill.; Endeavor Bible school, Mayfair Lutheran mission, Mrs. Martha French, Mrs. G. Applebaum, the Reading and Study club, in memory of Edward Magnus.

HOOVER MOVES TO FREE BILLION IN U. S. RESERVES

New Bill Would Drive Down Value of Dollar.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Into the administration's program to expand the credit facilities of the country President Hoover today drew the federal reserve system.

At the close of a day of conferences it was announced that a bill will be introduced in congress tomorrow, revising fundamental portions of the federal reserve act with the view to increasing the amount of money in circulation, thereby stimulating credit, driving down the dollar's value, and sending commodity prices up.

With the approval of the leaders of both parties in congress, including the banking experts of house and senate, and supported by the counsel of the treasury triumvirate—Mills, Meyer and Dawes, a measure was agreed upon which liberalizes the rediscount authority of the federal reserve banks, and which will permit hitherto ineligible types of paper to be used as collateral against the issuance of federal reserve notes.

May Release Billion.

The bill, it was explained, may be expected to accomplish the following results:

It makes a $2,500,000,000 increase in currency theoretically possible; it may release close to a billion dollars of the federal reserve system's "free gold" for use as the basis of new credit; it will make eligible for rediscount billions of dollars in paper not eligible under present regulations.

The bill will be introduced in the senate by Senator Carter Glass [Dem. Va.], one of those prominent in the conferences today. Essentially, the new measure is a compromise based on one of the disputed sections of the bill to revise the federal reserve and national banking laws which was drawn up by the subcommittee of which Senator Glass is chairman. In the house, the new bill will be introduced by Representative Henry B. Steagall [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the house banking and currency committee.

Provisions Are Described.

A statement signed by Senator Glass and Mr. Steagall, and by Senator F. C. Walcott [Rep., Conn.] and Representative James F. Strong [Rep., Kas.], who headed the subcommittees which handled the reconstruction finance corporation bill, described the provisions and functions of the new measure as follows:

"The bill will include three proposals, the first two of which will improve the facilities of access of the member banks to the reserve banks, by providing for the advancement of funds by the federal reserve banks to member banks that have no further eligible or acceptable paper upon the security of sound assets not technically eligible for discount. Member banks may obtain these advances under proper safeguards either upon the indorsement of other member banks or in unusual cases without such indorsement.

"This provision will prove valuable in cases where by reason of diminished business or other causes the bank does not have an adequate supply of paper technically eligible for discount, though having other sound and adequate security. Moreover, many banks which have no immediate need for the use of these provisions would feel increased confidence in meeting their customers' needs freely by reason of the knowledge of the existence of these facilities.

Will Release Gold Reserves.

"The third provision is for the purpose of giving greater effectiveness to the gold reserves of the federal reserve system by releasing for use large amounts of gold which might temporarily be tied as collateral for federal reserve notes in excess of the 40 per cent required by law. The federal reserve act contemplated a 40 per cent gold reserve against note issues. Owing to the present unusual circumstances the amount actually held is now far in excess of 40 per cent. The proposed amendment would, when the federal reserve board deems it desirable in the public interest, have the effect of making all of the assets acquired by the reserve banks under the present provisions of law available, for not to exceed one year, as collateral for federal reserve notes in addition to the 40 per cent gold reserve, thus making the excess gold serviceable.

"This provision will have the effect of giving greater flexibility to federal reserve operations. It will make the system's large supply of gold more useful as a basis for credit. It will at once increase the system's free gold by nearly one billion dollars."

Will Get Preference.

With Senator Glass behind the bill and with the approval of congressional leaders pledged, the measure will be given the preferential treatment reserved for the administration's efforts to meet the depression by legislative enactment.

According to the theory of those supporting the bill, the discounting of a wide range of paper and the use of this paper to back the issuance of federal reserve notes will release a large amount of gold held temporarily by the federal reserve banks against note issues and so create a more liberal credit.

It is argued that member banks, in an effort to maintain a high degree of liquidity have refused to make loans, such as loans on real estate, which would tie up their funds for a number of years. The theory is that with more credit available to the member banks by reason of the more liberal rediscounting privileges the member banks will in turn be in a position to act more liberally toward would-be borrowers.

Would Decentralize Relief.

As put by Senator Vandenburg of Michigan, a staunch Hoover Republican, the proposed legislation will supplement the reconstruction finance corporation act at its point of greatest weakness by decentralizing credit relief and extending into places not hitherto reached.

He declared that the bill will permit the maximum use of the nation's gold supply as a basis for currency, since it would permit the federal reserve currency for the first time to be expanded to the limit legally permitted by the gold in hand. The gold coverage of federal reserve currency, due to the shortage of securities eligible to rediscount, is now between 75 and 80 per cent of the currency outstanding, he said, whereas only 40 per cent of gold coverage is required by law.

Means Government Bonds.

In a sense, therefore, the administration seeks to accomplish by releasing the surplus gold supply of the federal reserve system, what the free silver advocates claim would result by increasing the currency through the monetization of the white metal.

Although the statement signed by Senators Glass and Walcott and Representatives Steagall and Strong asserted that "all of the assets" of the reserve banks could be used as collateral for federal reserve notes, it was learned that the language of the new bill relates more specifically to government bonds. To the section of the federal reserve act defining acceptable collateral will be added:

"Provided, however, that if the federal reserve board deems the public interest requires it, it may designate and authorize a federal reserve agent to accept obligations of the United States."

Leaders at Conference.

The four signers of the statement were among the conferees who met with the President at the White House. Other members of congress at the conference were: Senators Watson [Rep., Ind.], Republican senate floor leader; Robinson [Dem., Ark.], Democrat senate leader; Townsend [Rep., Del.], Bulkley [Dem., O.], Speaker Garner [Dem., Tex.], and Representative Snell [Rep., N. Y.], house minority leader; Luce [Rep., Mass.], and Beedy [Rep., Me.].

With them met Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation; Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board and chairman of the finance corporation; and Ogden L. Mills, newly named as secretary of the treasury and as such a director of the corporation.

The establishment of five additional loan agencies and the appointment of as many regional managers for the handling of loan applications under the Reconstruction Finance corporation act was announced by the corporation today.

New Managers Named.

The managers announced were:

Joseph E. Chapman, Minneapolis; J. E. Olsen, Denver; L. H. Earhart, Omaha; C. E. Daniel, Oklahoma City and Charles F. Fisher, for Detroit.

The managers will fill out their committees through appointment of two or four other members to receive application from financial institutions and recommend to the central body in Washington their approval or denial.

There appeared little probability, meanwhile, for the adoption of a suggestion that the Reconstruction Finance corporation publicly offer an amount of its government guaranteed debentures of small denominations, with a view to attracting a part of the estimated $1,500,000,000 of hoarded money back into circulation.

Officials who discussed the proposition today were generally of the opinion that while it possessed some merit, the disadvantages of a public subscription were greater than the good to be accomplished.

BANSHEE OF FREE SILVER RISES TO STALK CONGRESS

Mine States to the Fore in Coin Ballyhoo.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—In the midst of the hardest hard times in the memory of living men, the ghost of free silver, more or less decently sepulchered at the Democratic convention of 1904, has burst its cerements and begun stalking the halls of congress.

In the days of the "crime of 73" of William Jennings Bryan's "cross of gold," of "Coin" Harvey's financial school and of the silver mine economics of "Silver Dick" Bland, one hears again the hard times cry that an increase of the money in circulation will cure our economic ills. Various schemes to inflate the volume of money are being promoted, but the favorite one is the unmodified Bryan doctrine of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one.

Same Old Story.

And just as it was in the '70s, '80s, and '90s it is the silver producing states, suffering from the present low price of silver, which are to the fore in ballyhooing the panacea of those good old decades when the silver purchases by the mints, at the behest of congress, enriched the silver mine owners at the expense of the taxpayers and consumers generally and brought the government to the verge of bankruptcy.

Numerous bills to increase the volume of money are pending in congress and are receiving committee consideration. Senator Burton K. Wheeler and congressman John M. Evans, both Democrats, from Montana, are sponsoring identical bills providing for the free coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 pounds of silver to one of gold. Senator Reed Smoot [Rep. Utah], another mining state, proposes to allow Europe to pay its war debts to the United States in silver at the market price.

Cries for Inflation.

Senator Wheeler, who calls his bill one of the "remonetization of silver" contends that what we are suffering from is a contraction of money and credit and that the remedy lies in inflation:

"I assert," said Senator Wheeler today, "and challenge intelligent criticism, not mere denial—of the following statements:

"1. The enactment of my bill into law would immediately thereafter nearly double the volume of the world's primary money, with the resultant increased conservative credit basis of twenty times the amount of primary money thus added to the world's stock.

"2. Within one year after the enactment of this bill the world's price of wheat, cotton, and all agricultural products would be more than trebled.

"3. The purchasing power of more than 50 per cent of the entire world's population now using silver as their sole yardstick of exchange and business transaction would be quadrupled; that is, the value of the silver stock would increase from 30 cents to $1.30, resulting in the creation of a market which would more than absorb all the surplus of our raw materials and manufactured products.

Sees Rise in Values.

"Within two years all our present agricultural land values throughout the United States would be more than quadrupled, thereby transforming the frozen assets of country banks in agricultural communities into liquid assets.

"When we realize that there is a shortage of gold, and what there is is maldistributed, when we realize that that is the one basic fact that is causing this depression, why is it that we do not have the courage to meet the issue squarely?

The soundness of such arguments is vigorously disputed by most economists, among them being J. Laurence Laughlin, who was for twenty-five years head of a political economic department of the University of Chicago.

"To many minds," he said today, "it seems axiomatic that an increase in the supply of money and credit is all that is necessary to an increase of production and employment. Nothing could be more crude and untrue. Since 1929 not only have prices fallen but also the volume of credit has fallen. That is, the forms through which purchasing power is properly directed have fallen, but the actual source of purchasing power in goods has in reality fallen, so that less money and credit are called into use. If there are less salable goods produced, no matter for what cause, then there will be less for any medium of exchange, such as money and forms of credit.

"Now, to increase the medium of exchange as a remedy when there are less goods to be exchanged is fatuous. There is as much actual gold and money, and as many of the possible implements of credit, at the disposal of the public as there ever was. The cessation of exchanges of goods and the prostration of industry could not possibly be attributed to a scarcity of gold in this country, or to the impossibility of getting credit for any one who has salable goods or discountable assets.

Have Too Much Gold.

"In fact, we have more gold than we need. We let other countries draw on us for 750 million dollars of our gold reserves.

"As a matter of cold fact prices did not fall because of any scarcity in gold or credit, for since 1929 both the quantity of gold and the volume of credit have never been higher. As unexampled speculation has been the cause of all our woes, the only way out is liquidation, a return to a production of goods in a proper adjustment to demand and supply, and prices will take care of themselves.

CONCORD BRISTLES AT U. S. PLAN TO SEIZE HER OLD NORTH BRIDGE

Concord, Mass., Feb. 10.—(AP)—No one, not even the federal government, backed by the army, navy and marines, is going to take the old North bridge away from the people of Concord without a fight. The red coats tried it, and the consequence is history.

Senator David I. Walsh's recently announced plan to take over the famous bridge and battlefield as national shrines has caused Col. Robert E. Goodwin, Raymond Wheeler and Edward W. Sheehan, the local board of selectmen, to rally modern minute men to the defense. They resent that at this late date there should be any insinuation that Concord cannot look out for her own revolutionary shrines.

At the annual town meeting next month the townspeople will be asked "to determine whether the town will take any action by way of protest or otherwise concerning the proposal of the United States government to seize and take over the battleground and the old North bridge."

Charity Sports Carnival Program Is Made Public

The official program of the charity sports carnival, to be held tomorrow night at the Chicago Riding club, 330 East Ontario street, was announced yesterday. All proceeds from the carnival will go to the Joint Emergency Relief fund. Tickets, ranging in price from $1 to 1.50, are now on sale. The program will open at 7:30 p. m. with an indoor polo match and will close with another one. Four events will be staged between the two polo matches. These include a mounted drill of the Black Horse troop and band, a polo pony bonding race, pair jumping, and a rescue race. The Black Horse troop will participate in all events.

SELL $2,750,000 TAX WARRANTS FOR POOR RELIEF

Expect to Complete Drive Within a Week.

Subscriptions for $2,750,000 worth of state tax anticipation warrants out of the $18,750,000 issue authorized by the state legislature for poor relief in Illinois was reported last night. The warrants were officially placed on sale at a luncheon of the Joint Emergency Relief fund which opened the campaign in the Chicago club yesterday.

SAMUEL INSULL JR. [Koehne Photo.]

Among the larger of the early subscriptions were: Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York, $1,000,000; International Harvester company, $300,000, and Joseph T. Ryerson & Sons, $250,000. The first application received was that of Mayor Cermak for $5,000. A number of smaller investors accounted for the remainder.

150 Attend Luncheon.

Approximately 150 business and industrial leaders, bankers, and city and state officials attended the luncheon. Among the speakers were Mayor Cermak, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the Joint Emergency Relief fund; Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the campaign committee which last fall raised $10,500,000 for relief, and Melvin Traylor, president of the First National bank.

"I personally and the city officially stand ready and willing to do all possible to aid this worthwhile campaign," Mayor Cermak told the gathering.

The patriotic keynote of the drive was sounded by Mr. Insull, who expressed confidence that the entire issue would be sold in a week.

"This campaign differs from that of last fall," he said, "in that at that time we were seeking gifts but now we are giving the public an opportunity to invest in an excellent 6 per cent tax exempt security backed by the state of Illinois."

Sees Completion in Week.

According to Frank McNair, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, who, with Frank Gordon of the First National bank, is in charge of the active selling, the first day's reception was good.

"I am sure that an intensive week will see the issue oversold," he said.

Also attending the luncheon were President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, who was chairman of the special gifts committee of the Joint Emergency Relief fund; A. W. Harris, president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank; Solomon Smith, president of the Northern Trust company; James Leavell, president of the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company; and Philip Clarke, president of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company.

Committee Meets Today.

The first meeting of the Illinois Emergency Relief committee, appointed by Gov. Emmerson to handle the entire fund, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in room 530 at 10 South La Salle street. At that time the members will outline a plan of procedure and elect their chairman. The seven members of the committee are Mr. Ryerson, Col. A. A. Sprague, Mr. Insull, Victor A. Olander, Joseph M. Cudahy, Omar H. Wright, and Arthur Eidman.

Simultaneously with the meeting at the Chicago club, the Bond Men's club held a luncheon at the Union League club, attended by 400 members. Plans were laid for the club's participation in the campaign. The bond group was addressed by Mr. Traylor, who pointed out that the success of the drive will do much to act as a deterrent to the movement to set up a federal relief program.

MARRIED A SECOND TIME

[Associated Press Photo.]

Prince and Princess Girolamo Rospigliosi, who were married for the second time within a few months in New York yesterday. They had been previously married in Italy. The princess was Marian A. Snowden, daughter of the late James H. Snowden, and a native of Indianapolis. Her father left a trust fund for her. When the prince and princess arrived from Italy on Jan. 22 it had been reported that the mother of the princess had asked immigration officials to detain the prince, but they refused to do so.

COUNCIL MOVES FOR SALES AND LUXURY TAXES

Seeks to Lighten Load on Realty.

Imposition by the city of sales and luxury taxes as a means of lightening the burden on real estate taxpayers was advocated in a resolution introduced yesterday in the council by Ald. John Toman [23d].

ALD. JOHN TOMAN.

The council adopted the resolution, which directs the corporation counsel to prepare an opinion on the legality of such taxes, and the ordinances or state statutes necessary to put them into effect.

The resolution suggested a 10 per cent tax on admissions to theaters and other amusements, on cigars, cigarets, and smoking materials, on candy costing more than 75 cents a pound, and on dues and membership fees other than in lodges exceeding $10 a year. On soft drinks and chewing gum it asks a 20 per cent tax, on perfumes, toilet goods, and patent medicines a 4 per cent tax, and on playing cards a tax of 10 cents a pack.

Proposes Tax on Autos.

The resolution suggested a tax of 5 per cent of the gross retail price on automobiles, of 10 per cent of the gross retail price on jewelry, carpets costing $200 or more, luggage costing $50 or more, and apparel costing $100 or more, and of 15 per cent of the gross retail price on firearms, ammunition, and fireworks.

Mayor Cermak submitted to the council his appointment of Frank Bobrytzke, 639 Deming place, as one of the trustees of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, and it was approved. Bobrytzke is in the investment business.

The council received a petition signed by 2,400 school teachers, asking that the city use all of the available cash in its aggregate of funds for the purchase of school tax warrants, to give funds for teachers' pay. It was referred to the finance committee.

Wants Platforms Inspected.

Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th] introduced a resolution, which was adopted, directing the building commissioner to investigate the condition of platforms on the South Chicago suburban branch of the Illinois Central railroad, which, he asserted, were obsolete and inadequate to give shelter to patrons in bad weather. Another resolution submitted by Ald. Hodes and Ald. David L. Sutton [8th] directed the commissioner of public works and the board of local improvements to seek some means of preventing the flooding of south side subways under railroad tracks during storms.

Legal Precaution

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—For the second time within a few months Prince Girolamo Rospigliosi today married the former Marian A. Snowden of New York and Newport. They had previously been wed recently in Italy.

Vincent M. Rothwell, attorney for the princess, a daughter of the late James H. Snowden and a native of Indianapolis, said the late Mr. Snowden had set up a trust fund for her and that the couple went through the second ceremony here to prevent any attack on the legality of the first marriage.

They were married by Supreme Court Justice Peter A. Hatting within an hour after they obtained a license. Mr. Rothwell and Miss E. M. Guckes, a friend of the princess, witnessed the ceremony. The prince gave his age as 24 and the princes gave hers as 19.

They arrived from Italy on Jan. 25 after reports had been published that Mrs. Walter Sherman Davidson, the bride's mother, had asked the state department to detain the prince at Ellis island. He was permitted to land, however.

CHICAGO TRADE LEADERS DEMAND U. S. CUT COSTS

Delegation Off Today for Plea in Congress.

A number of Chicago business men and manufacturers will leave Chicago for Washington today to make a direct appeal to their representatives in congress for an immediate curtailment in federal government expenditures. The delegation will be led by George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

G. W. ROSSETTER. [Moffett-Russell Photo.]

The business men will meet with Senators Glenn and Lewis and practically all of the Illinois delegation in the house Friday night. Discussing the mission, Mr. Rossetter declared that business must inform congress that "many of the bureaucratic and other federal activities originally undertaken to assist certain lines of business have not achieved their purpose and can now be discontinued."

Lays Cards on Table.

"It is about time that business laid its cards on the table with its own representatives in government," Mr. Rosseter said. "Our delegation will not attempt to tell our state delegation how to run those affairs with which they are most intimately acquainted. Our conference will be an entirely friendly one. We are not reformers and we will not make any flat demands for cessation of this of that particular federal expenditure.

"We do feel, however, that if our spokesmen in congress are enabled to vision actual current commercial conditions through the eyes of those business institutions which pay the great percentage of federal taxes it will materially influence their attitude in safeguarding us in the preparation of the next federal budget, now in the course of making at Washington.

No Blanket Demands.

"We shall not make any blanket demands for a general scaling down of federal appropriations, but will suggest that economies be practiced wherever possible. We feel that congress should carefully examine to ascertain if many of the bureaucratic and other federal activities can now discontinued. We are not suggesting the abandonment of any necessary public work or public improvement, but congress must recognize that this is no time and business is in no shape to allow appropriations of the pork barrel type to continue.

"Federal expenditures are today about 360 per cent above those of 1913. That this cannot go on indefinitely will probably be very drastically emphasized to congress when the federal income returns for 1931 are tabulated next month."

Tells Burden of Taxes.

Thomas S. Hammond, president of the Whiting corporation and first vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, another member of the delegation, declared:

"The federal tax program now being considered by congress contemplates an increase in federal taxes of approximately $390,000,000 for the current fiscal year and $920,000,000 for the fiscal year 1933. The execution of this program will impose a serious burden upon manufacturers and commercial enterprises of every kind at a time when taxes—federal, state and local—are already oppressive and business almost universally depressed.

Willing to Sacrifice.

"We realize that great and immediate reduction of the current expenditures of the federal government must result in the curtailment or discontinuance of many established governmental services and projects. Business stands ready with other citizens to share any sacrifice of services that are not vitally essential if it can be assured thereby that the burdens imposed by the federal government will be promptly reduced."

Others who will leave with the party today are Harold C. Smith, president of the Illinois Tool works; Benjamin F. Affleck, president of the Universal Atlas Cement company; D. A. Crawford, president of the Pullman company; Col. Robert Isham Randolph and James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

Large North Side Properties Fail to Pay Taxes for 1929

Owners of valuable real estate outside as well as within the loop have failed to pay any part of their 1929 taxes, due May 15, last, according to the tax records.

Technically, payment cannot be compelled at present. County Judge Jarecki has ruled that the 1928 and the 1929 taxes are illegal and void. That decision has been appealed to the state Supreme court and the discussion in the legislature yesterday indicated that no reviewing opinion is expected until April.

In the meantime the city, county, schools, sanitary district, park boards, and other local governments urgently need money to continue operations. The functions of some of these governments are essential to public safety.

Bill Cares for Overpayment.

It has been repeatedly urged that some of the property owners who have paid nothing on their last taxes should make some contribution to governmental expense. By a bill now pending in the general assembly it is proposed that property owners who now overpay will be given credit on subsequent tax bills for any possible excess payments.

One area in which there appears to be a number of large real estate owners who have paid no part of their 1929 taxes is in the township of North Chicago. That embraces the district immediately north of the Chicago river. The property is listed in tax volume No. 479.

Items Nos. 627, 636, and 637 contain legal descriptions of property credited to the American Furniture Mart, 666 Lake Shore drive. This property for taxing purposes is valued at $3,416,406. The 1929 taxes on the property total $214,881.95. According to the records nothing has been paid.

Objection Filed in Court.

Another property in this same volume listed under items 55 and 57 is set opposite the name of Gertrude H. Albright. This property is valued at $151,842. Objections have been filed in court to the $9,550.87 taxes and no part of the amount is shown by the records to have been paid.

A. J. Appleton trust, care of Hedberg & Bistor, are the names set opposite a description of other north side property under items 795, 796, and 797. This property is valued at $435,696. No part of the taxes, totaling $27,405.29, have been paid, and an injunction restrains any attempt to force payment.

Another Property Listed.

Another property, valued at $895,130, credited to Robert P. Bass, is described under items 181, 182, 184 and 183. The 1929 taxes on this property total $56,303.70. The owner has not only objected in court to these taxes, but has obtained an injunction preventing the advertisement for sale of the property for the nonpayment of taxes. This court action, as well as that on other property referred to, was obtained several months before Judge Jarecki held the taxes void.

To Edwin J. Bowes Jr. is assigned on the tax records the property described under item 555. This property is valued at $158,653. No part of the taxes, totaling $9,979.28, has been paid.

Under items 247 and 265 are properties credited to Edwin J. Bowesh which are valued for taxes at a total of $286,409. Collection of the taxes, $18,015.14, has been enjoined.

$24,445 Tax Is Unpaid.

W. H. Bush, care of the Michigan-Ohio Building corporation, is credited as the owner or agent on the tax books for property under item 398. This property is valued at $388,646, and the 1929 taxes total $24,445.84. No part of these taxes has been paid.

The Central Life Insurance company of Illinois is tied up to the property under item 688. This property is valued at $219,760, and no part of the taxes, $13,833.91, has been paid.

If the largest taxpayers decline now to aid the local governments in their period of extreme distress, it is contended that they are setting an example which the small property owners may follow later.

BAR ASSOCIATION DECRIES POLITICS IN BENCH SLATES

Efforts of the Chicago Bar association to recommend fit candidates for the municipal court bench are hampered by the fact that the association can only indicate the better material from the candidates offered by politicians, Charles P. Megen, president of the lawyers' body, told members of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday.

"The sad part," he said at the luncheon at the Hotel La Salle, "is that lawyers get to the bench not by advancing in their profession, but through political work which takes no consideration of their capabilities. However, in the 24 candidates for 12 vacant judgeships next November, there will probably be at least 12 good men."

5 BILLS TO FUND CHICAGO'S TAXES PASSED IN HOUSE

Assembly Rushes Toward a Recess.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—With a speed characteristic of the closing days of a regular session, the Illinois general assembly today hurried up its business and cleared the decks so that it may wind up next week by taking a recess until after the April 12 primaries.

DOUGLAS SUTHERLAND. [Tribune poto.]

One of the cleaning stunts was that of the house of representatives in striking off miscellaneous bills from the calendar of its first special session, the collection including the tobacco tax bill and the heavy duty motor truck and bus license bills recommended by the governor's tax conference.

The same chamber in a more deliberate manner passed the five so-called "funding bills" urged by the Chicago Real Estate board and other organizations to take care of the 1930 Cook county tax levy by a series of deferred payments.

Action Is Unexpected.

The action was unexpected as the bills were not in final shape but the attitude of the house was that they should be rushed over to the senate and that further changes can be made there, thus saving time toward ultimate passage.

In a session past midnight, the senate refused to hasten the advancement of the bills. Thomas I. Courtney of Chicago, the minority leader, moved they be put to third reading, but Harold C. Kessinger of Aurora objected, saying that important amendments were expected next week and that nothing could be gained by rapid action. A majority of the senate voted with him.

In this frame of mind the lower chamber passed by votes ranging from 125 to 0 to 113 to 0 the five bills setting new dates for the collection of 1930, 1931, 1932, and 1933 taxes, opening the way for reassessment orders and authorizing the issuance of bonds to the extent of the unpaid taxes.

These are the bills that resulted from the agitation by the Chicago Real Estate Board and other organizations which demanded a "lessening of the burden" on real property, their first insistence being upon a lifting of all of the 1930 levy by means of nonreferendum bonds. The real estate spokesmen have said they are satisfied with the compromise envolved and the Chicago delegation supported the program, but there was an immediate protest from expert advisers of the governor's tax conference which had worked out a different plan of deferred payments.

Objections of this sort came from Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Civic Federation of Chicago, and from Harris S. Keeler of the Chicago Bureau of Efficiency.

Calls Them Mistake.

"If these bills become law," said Sutherland, "warrants and bonds of the local government will not find a market for a long time to come. What will become of government is a desperate thing to contemplate. You can't make a market for tax warrants by extending the dates for tax collections indefinitely."

"Delay in the collection of 1930 taxes," said Keeler, "would mean that it would be difficult to obtain funds for the operation of local government between now and next October."

The first of this group of bills provides a definite calendar of penalty dates for taxes extending to April 1, 1935. Under its provisions 50 per cent of the 1930 taxes will be payable on Oct. 1 of this year. A second 25 per cent would be payable on Jan. 1, 1933, and the final 25 per cent on April 1, 1933.

A second important bill in the group would authorize municipal corporations, whenever one-fifth of a tax levy is delinquent, to issue its own nonreferendum bonds to the extent of the shortage. A third bill would authorize the state tax commission to order a reassessment of all property for any year, which, under the present conditions, would mean reassessment orders might be sought for the tax years of 1928, 1929, and 1930.

These bills carried the name of Representative A. O. Galvin but the fight for them was led by Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg who had important assistance such as that from Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe. Igoe said that if the program was not perfect it was the best that could be worked out at this time.

CERMAK OPPOSES ADJOURNING.

Mayor Cermak uttered harsh criticism yesterday of the proposal, advanced at Springfield, to adjourn the legislature until after the April primaries.

"Now that the legislature has taken care of the unemployed," he said, "it should take care of the employed. City employés are not being paid, and they are worse off than the unemployed, who at least can get food from charities. If the legislature adjourns until after the primary, relief for public employés will be out of the question then.

"They can't afford to adjourn until they give us what we need. The Kelly bill was only the key bill for financial relief. Other measures must be passed to supplement it."

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday urged the mayor and the legislators to use their efforts to submit the call for a state constitutional convention to a referendum at the next general election.

LESLIE REFUSES TO SAVE SLAYER.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Gov. Herry G. Leslie said today there would be no executive clemency for Herbert Johnson, who is awaiting electrocution for murder at the state prison early Friday morning.

Lake Shore Becomes Promenade with Mercury at 60

Weather suitable for early May prevailed in Chicago yesterday when the thermometer registered 60 degrees, only three degrees under the all time maximum of 63 for Feb. 10, reached in 1876. The parks, boulevards and the lake shore attracted hundreds of Chicagoans. The picture shows some of them strolling along the lake shore at Oak street. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

CHICAGO ENJOYS SPRING WEATHER, BUT COLD IS DUE

Early May weather prevailed in Chicago yesterday but the mild weather is due to depart tonight, according to Forecaster W. P. Day. He predicted that showers will cause the thermometer to drop late this afternoon and that tomorrow will be much colder with snow flurries.

Temperatures over the entire middle west were considerably above normal. The high mark of 60 degrees reached here for several hours during the afternoon came within three degrees of the all time record for Feb. 10, which was 63 in 1876.

Readings were as much as 40 degrees above normal over the middle Mississippi valley, the weather report revealed. The indications are that rain turning to snow will restore more seasonable temperatures to this region tonight and that real February weather will be back Friday.

All time temperature records were broken at Indianapolis where the thermometer reached 72.8 degrees in the afternoon. Similar temperatures were recorded all over Indiana and Illinois. It was 78 in Carbondale, Ill., 84 at Pana, Ill., a record for the day, 72 at Canton, Ill., and Mattoon, Ill., and 77 at Jacksonville, Ill., another record.

Reports from southern California told of storms which inundated thousands of acres of farm lands, washed out bridges, and disrupted transportation. San Diego was cut off from rail transportation following washouts. Rainfall records for Los Angeles of 17 years' standing were broken.

IMPLICATE FOUR NEW SUSPECTS IN HAWAII RAPE CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Feb. 10. — New evidence reported to have been obtained today in the Massie rape case implicates four new suspects in the attack last September upon Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and tends to exonerate the original five defendants, including Joseph Kahahawai, who was killed on Jan. 8.

It is for the latter crime that Mrs. Granville Fortescue, mother of Mrs. Massie, Lieut. Massie, and two sailors were indicted on charges of second degree murder by the grand jury recently. The trial on this charge is expected to get under way on March 10.

Because of the great attention given the killing of Kahahawai, efforts to secure new evidence on the rape case have been redoubled. The first trial of the five men, including Kahahawai, accused of the attack on Mrs. Massie resulted in a hung jury.

WEST PARK BOND ISSUE APPROVED BY HOUSE, 92-13

Referendum Will Not Be Required.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The biggest undercover drive for any bill in the present special session of the state legislature this afternoon put over the measure authorizing the Chicago west park board to issue $4,000,000 in bonds, without a referendum, for "maintenance, extension, and improvements of parks, boulevards, and pleasure ways." In other words, the proceeds of the bonds may be used to meet the park board's present deficit and charge up current expenses to the next generation.

The final success of the bond issue came in the house, where on Jan. 19, on the recommendation of the committee on judiciary, an identical bill was slaughtered by being tabled. That bill was introduced by Representative Curran, a west side Republican, and today's vote came on an upper chamber bill introduced by Senator Simon E. Lantz of Congerville.

Votes Begin to Pile Up.

Until the last moment the Lantz bill was not given a chance of passage, but as the roll call was started it became evident that pressure, including that of the state administration, which appoints the west park commissioners and deals out their patronage, was at work.

There was no debate worthy of the name. Not a word of the old criticism of the issuance of bonds without a vote of the people or the use of bond money for operating costs was heard. The roll call went steadily ahead, and when it was concluded the vote was shown to be 92 to 13, the affirmative including 15 more than the constitutional majority of 77 required for passage.

The 92 included 41 Cook county members. There were only two Chicagoans who voted against it—Miss Josephine Perry [Rep., 5th] and Robert M. Woodward [Rep., 29th]. There were eight Cook county members reported present who did not vote. There are two vacancies in the Cook county delegation. John Griffin has died since his election. Lawrence O'Brien is in Leavenworth.

CHARGES HAITI FORCED BY U. S. TO OBTAIN LOAN

Senate Committee Hears Brother of Minister.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Charges that the state department forced the republic of Haiti to float an unnecessary foreign loan of $16,000,000 in 1923 in order to perpetuate American control over the republic were laid before the senate finance committee this morning during a special session which concluded the hearings on foreign loans.

George Leger, brother of the foreign minister of Haiti, testified that Haiti, under the treaty of 1915, "never had the coöperation of, but was absolutely dominated by, the United States government."

Loan Runs for 30 Years.

The loan, floated in the United States by the National City bank, runs for a period of 30 years. And Mr. Leger declared that the state department has interpreted its provisions to permit the continuance of an American financial adviser in Haiti until its maturity.

"The Haitian people feel that the loan was put upon them by the United States for the purpose of maintaining political control over Haiti," Mr. Leger said. "The Haitians pay their debts, but they will not stand having that domination until 1953 just to satisfy New York banks. There is bound to be trouble if the situation continues."

Charges Denied by U. S.

In a statement issued later in refutation of the charges, the state department described the course of Haiti's fiscal affairs and closed as follows:

"At the present time, under the American financial administration, there is no internal debt; there is no floating debt; and the foreign bonded indebtedness had been reduced by Dec. 31, 1931, to $14,329,161.76. Furthermore, under the careful administration of the American financial adviser a surplus has been accumulated in the Haitian treasury which amounted on Sept. 30, 1931, to $3,292,568.30.

"Haiti was never before on such a solid financial basis, and when its financial position is compared with that of other governments in the post-war era the results of its finances under the administration of the American financial adviser are shown to be unique in the strength and soundness of its position."

PAL OF FACTOR GUILTY; SENT TO BRITISH PRISON

A London court has convicted Arthur J. Klein of New York of participation in the $7,000,000 swindle of the Broad Street Press, Ltd., allegedly engineered by his supposed superior, John [Jake the Barber] Factor, who is now in the technical custody of local federal agents, it was learned yesterday. Factor is fighting extradition to England.

Klein was found guilty Tuesday. Judge Holman, who presided at the trial, sentenced him to serve twenty-one months in prison. At the same time the judge explained he had imposed a light sentence because he believed Klein to have been under Factor's dominance.

Judge Holman's remarks were carried in a cablegram received yesterday by Franklin R. Overmeyer, counsel in Chicago for the British crown, who has been fighting since last summer for Factor's removal to England. According to the cable, Judge Holman described the case on which Klein was tried as of the "most appalling gravity." He was quoted further as follows: "The reason for the light sentence imposed on Klein is that he was a minor defendant, and under the influence of John Factor, a stronger and more wicked man."

Meanwhile Factor, having lost one phase of his long battle to avoid return to England, is relying on a writ of habeas corpus to defeat extradition. Last month Commissioner Edwin K. Walker recommended Factor's removal. His attorneys immediately filed the habeas corpus writ in the federal court. This petition is now under consideration.

WOMAN, 50, DIES ON HER WAY TO LENTEN SERVICE

An unidentified woman about 50 years old on her way to church for the beginning of Lenten services collapsed and died last night on the stairs of the Holy Trinity academy, 1443 West Division street, adjacent to the Holy Trinity Catholic church. In a search of her clothing to find identifying clews hospital attendants found five strings of rosary beads, a prayer book, and a card issued by St. Adalbert's cemetery showing that a lot was held in the name of Leon Napientsk. Further search also revealed sixteen $100 bills and $147 in notes of other denomination.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste, and your breath is foul. skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

SENATORS FIND A WAY TO DO 2 DAYS' WORK IN 1

Pass Bill to Protect County Treasurers.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11 [Thursday].—[Special.]—Midnight legislation—a precautionary move to guard against lack of a two-thirds majority later in the day—brought the senate into action at 12:15 a. m. this morning. A "trick" session, the members called it, for it enabled them, in effect, to do two days' work in one and catch the 2:30 sleeper to Chicago.

The bill passed in this meeting where speeches boomed hollowly in the quiet chamber, is described as a "safeguard" for county treasurers, abolishing their liability for public funds in the event of bank failures. The wish of the sponsor, Epler C. Mills [Rep., Virginia] was to enact the bill this week so that it can have the immediate attention of the governor.

Treasurers Work for Bill.

A handful of county treasurers from various sections of the state have been in Springfield all week, lobbying for the bill. If it is signed they would only be liable for such part of public funds involved in bank crashes as would be paid to them upon liquidation of the banks. The bonding companies are said to be friendly to the idea. It was feared that if the measure was delayed until the regular session at 10 a. m. enough senators would have gone home to force a postponement until Tuesday.

So Lieut. Gov. Sterling banged his gavel precisely at the hour agreed upon and the echoes it caused reverberated out into the silent, darkened corridors. Late comers scurried into the lighted chamber, almost as though they were afraid of the dark, and when they were seated, a quorum was found to be present. The bill was called and passed without a great deal of debate.

The senate had thus done two days' work in fourteen hours and a half. The bill was put to third reading yesterday morning, but because of the constitutional requirement, it could not be considered again until the next legislative day, which began at midnight.

Charity Measure Passed.

Work in the upper chamber late yesterday included passage of the charity bill put forward by Richard R. Meents [Rep., Ashkum]. Its provisions are similar to those of the $20,000,000 Chicago poor relief bill, which was raced through both houses last week in record time, but where the Chicago bill calls for a state bond issue backed by county shares of the gasoline tax, Meents leaves the matter entirely with the counties. It will allow downstate counties to provide themselves with charity funds this year, if they find it necessary, pledging their gas tax money for repayment.

PILOTS' STATUS AT STAKE IN AIR LINE WAGE FIGHT

Union Seeks Recognition as a Profession.

Whether commercial air line pilots are professional men or just "glorified truck drivers" must be determined in the fight against reduction of pilots' wages put into effect by Century Air Lines on Tuesday morning. This was the stand taken yesterday by the Air Line Pilots' association, which is opposing the reduction. The association is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

David H. Behncke, pilot for United Air Lines and president of the organization, which has offices at 6314 South Troy avenue, declared the pilots' union will stand pat on its demand for recognition and wages comparable to those of professional men for the 22 members of the organization who were discharged by Century when attempts on the pilots' part to arbitrate the pay cut failed.

Hangar Remains Closed.

While the pilots' union headquarters showed much activity, the Century hangar at Chicago airport remained closed. Fog hampered all air line operations yesterday. William F. Bliss, general manager of the air line, said he had received innumerable applications for the 20 piloting jobs he has to fill. Within a week, he said, he expects to have tested the applicants and to have selected enough pilots to resume normal operation of the system to St. Louis, Detroit an Cleveland. Two pilots were hired on Tuesday to keep the Chicago to St. Louis line in operation.

Armed guards continued to patrol the closed hangar yesterday, though no retaliatory tactics were expected from the discharged pilots.

Plan Passive Resistance.

Behncke and John H. Skoning, formerly a pilot for Century Air Lines, said the pilots' union planned only passive resistance to win its demands. "I don't believe the Century lines will be able to get 20 pilots to work for them," Behncke said, "despite the fact that there are hundreds of good pilots out of jobs."

He declared the union has about 500 members, including most of the pilots on all air lines in the United States. No sympathetic strikes are to be attempted.

COLD AND SNOW SWEEP EUROPE; MANY KILLED

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Snow and bitter cold swept over most of Europe today, and numerous deaths were reported from several points.

In Rumania 11 men and women in a wagon were found frozen to death and their horses also perished when they stuck in a snowdrift on a country road. All the members of two families were reported to have frozen in a Bessarabian village and the Danube was ice for several miles.

In northeastern France three persons died. Snow interrupted shipping and train service. The lowest temperature in France was five degrees above zero, but there was snow as far south as Bordeaux.

London had the first real snowfall of the winter and in some of England's rural districts the snow was a foot deep. All small craft in the channel took shelter from a strong easterly gale.

MRS. MAC FADDEN SUES PUBLISHER TO REGAIN STOCK

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary MacFadden is suing Bernarr MacFadden, her husband, and MacFadden Publications, Inc., for 1,550 shares of the corporation's preferred stock, it was disclosed in the Supreme court today. She filed motions to force MacFadden to disclose details of his defense that the stock formed a fund for the benefit of their children only.

Mrs. MacFadden declares in her complaint that MacFadden induced her to leave the stock with him on the ground that his possession of it would enure to her benefit. She says she has never had the shares in her possession and since 1930 her husband ordered them returned to the corporation and marked "cancelled."

THREAT TO QUIT COLLEGE MADE BY SUMMERALL

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Angered by what he termed a reflection upon his honesty of purpose by a state senator, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, U.S.A., retired, walked out of a senate committee hearing today announcing he would resign "within six hours" as president of the Citadel, the state military college.

The senate finance committee, in executive session, was hearing the former chief of staff upon the annual appropriation for the Citadel, of which he has been president since last September.

A deficit of $19,000 in operating expenses of the school was mentioned. Members of the committee said Gen. Summerall was asked by Senator W. C. Hamrick, of Cherokee county:

"By what authority did you increase the deficit? What is the good of the legislature fixing a deficit appropriation if a department may spend more than is appropriated?"

Committeemen said Gen. Summerall showed anger, and declared: "I resign. My resignation will be in the hands of the board of visitors within 6 hours."

BORAH AND FESS ROCK SENATE BY FIGHT OVER DOLE

Senators Uncork Fiery Verbal Barrage.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Federal relief and the question of whether the national government shall go to the rescue of distressed individuals and the states today precipitated the first vehement senate debate of a session that so far has marked time.

SIMEON D. FESS. [Harris & Ewing.]

It was a debate that will go down in history, for it saw the transformation of the usually retiring Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, who is chairman of the Republican national committee, into a fiery foe of a federal dole.

It saw the senator from Ohio cross swords with the redoubtable Senator William E. Borah, redical Republican of Idaho—not only cross verbal swords but order the Idaho senator to take his seat. There were times when the tilting was give and take.

Tomorrow Tells Tale.

It was a vigorously colorful prelude to the vote which is scheduled for tomorrow and which is expected to see both the 375 million dollar Costigan-La Follette bill for direct federal relief and the 750 million dollar Democratic substitute bill for highways and loans to states go down in defeat.

The clash started when Senator Borah broke in upon Senator Fess' denunciation of federal relief to recall the Illinois legislature's recent passage of a $20,000,000 relief bill, and to inquire what the difference was in the moral effect upon the recipient of charity whether the money came from the state or the national government.

"The difference is as wide as the poles," Senator Fess replied.

But Mr. Borah objected: "I must say that I cannot see the poles."

"The senator from Ohio is not responsible for the inability of the senator from Idaho to see," retorted Senator Fess, and began to talk about charity hospitals.

Borah Opens Show.

Exasperated, Senator Borah broke in with, "If the senator will discuss the propositions which I am submitting now, I think that with my limited ability I will still be able to follow him."

"I doubt it very much," Mr. Fess shot back.

"It may be," Senator Borah admitted, "I have had some difficulty in understanding the senator from time to time."

There was more spatting back and forth until Senator Fess was driven to declare that he would yield to no further interruptions.

"The senator is afraid to yield," was Borah's taunt.

"We will see whether the senator is afraid to yield," the senator from Ohio bristled, and his bald scalp within its frame of white hair grew redder than ever.

Told to Sit Down.

"The senator will please take his seat until I tell him," he commanded.

"I will do nothing of the kind," came in a belligerent growl from Senator Borah.

"Very well; stand, then," snapped Mr. Fess.

But a moment later he reiterated his order.

"When the senator is ready, and takes his seat, I will answer him."

"If my presence disturbs the senator, I will sit down," Mr. Borah's voice was too sweet to be sincere.

At last Mr. Fess got around to his answer.

"The difference is that the citizen receiving funds from state taxation is nearer to the source," he declared.

"The administration is in the hands of people of whom he is a part and who will understand his situation. But the man who receives funds from the federal government receives them from a bureau in Washington, with no contact locally with the individual."

Borah Tunes Up.

"May I rise now?" inquired Senator Borah, to the accompaniment of laughter from the galleries.

'The senator may rise," granted Senator Fess, without cracking a smile.

Mr. Borah stopped fencing and began to attack in earnest.

"In a number of the cities of the United States they are now allowing $5 to a family of three and four per week," he declared. "The senator knows perfectly well that that means the ragged edge of starvation. It is not living; it is sheer existence, and that is all.

"The senator knows perfectly well that if that father and mother should receive an additonal $5 from the federal government it would not demoralize and degrade them; it would cause them to appreciate the great government under which they live and for which they are willing to give their lives."

Galleries Chime In.

From the galleries came a patter of hand clapping that quickly swelled into loud applause.

"The senator has inadvertently announced the vicious element in this proposal," Senator Fess returned the attack. "He specifies an amount for a family. He sits in this chamber, distant from the point, and criticizes as he will when it comes to doling out the federal contribution. He immediately makes the federal dole a football of politics. Every community will demand as its right the amount that it wants."

He cast an eye upward toward the galleries.

"We see it in this town," he said, "where people find fault, say that they do not receive sufficient gratuity, and want a popular politician, who will announce what will bring applause from the gallery, that 'we want more than those on the ground say the government can afford to give.'

"When you open the way for the populace as represented by the people in the gallery to say how much the government must give to an individual out of the federal treasury nobody will be satisfied."

More Gallery Appreciation.

The people's representatives in the galleries applauded.

From a letter from a friend in England Senator Fess read a description of the disastrous effects of the British dole.

"Any system that makes it as profitable to be out of work as to work should never be entered upon by this or any other country," he went on. "In administering to the wants of the people we must leave it to the people in the community. It cannot be done by a bureau in Washington. People will be careless whether they work or not, because why should they work if they can be paid as much without work as with work? If we go into the matter of how much aid shall be given and leave that to the politicians God help the United States."

When Senator Borah's turn came to make formal reply, he began with an attack on the administration-inspired reconstruction finance corporation. Congress had been without constitutional authority, he declared, in ordering the taxpayers' money to be used for "taking care of the private business of private corporations."

"The senator from Ohio," he asserted, "cannot find any authority for the reconstruction finance corporation law except in the dictatorship of soviet Russia."

Interrupted by Fess.

"It is materialism on one side and humanity on the other. I contend that this government of ours, the federal government included, was created to take care of the citizenship whether they have a dollar or not."

"Heretofore," Senator Fess interrupted, "we have always supposed that the people should support the government, but the senator from Idaho is turning it about so that the government must support the people."

"There was a time," replied Senator Borah, "when the governmental philosophy prevailed that the government should never support the people, but that the people should always support the government. That passed away with the American revolution. We lodged governmental powers in the people of the United States. This is their government. It was made for them. They defended it upon the field of battle, they gave their lives for it, and the government which will not protect its protectors—its flag is a dirty rag and contaminates the air in which it floats."

BANDIT SEIZED BY RUSE NAMED IN FATAL HOLDUP

Patsy Marciano, 21 years old, 1119 West Harrison street, was identified yesterday as one of the bandits who last Saturday shot and killed Harold Cochran, manager of an A. & P. store at 4246 West Harrison street, during a holdup.

Marciano was arrested Sunday after a girl associate, Helen Lyons, had mistaken Dectectives Thomas Kelly and John Hock for gunmen and had boasted of the exploits of the stickup gang with which she was friendly. She took the detectives to a flat at 1225 West Jackson boulevard, where they arrested Marciano and four others.

Marciano was identified in the murder case as a result of a previous identification by Earl Childers, manager of another A. & P. store at 4122 West Lake street, who pointed him out as one of the gang which robbed that store 30 minutes before Cochran was slain.

A tan sedan was used in the robbery in which Cochran was killed. It was abandoned, and in it police found a revolver taken from Childers in the first holdup.

TRADE—THAT IS SECRET OF WORLD INTEREST IN CHINA

Struggle Among Powers Dates Back to 1839.

As a market for the investment of surplus capital, for the sale of goods and for the purchase of raw materials, China has been coveted by western countries as well as by Japan since 1839. Then Great Britain fought the opium war to force the imperial Chinese government to permit foreigners to trade in China as they pleased. Today Japan has taken control of 200,000 square miles of Manchuria and is now fighting the Chinese boycott of Japanese goods at Shanghai.

Economic exploitation is behind all interests in China. At one time proposals were made to partition China; at another the country was actually mapped out into spheres to influence; again, railroad concessions were sought after. But the object has always been trade, for China is the largest potential market in the world.

U. S. Stake Is $250,000,000.

No attempt has been made to colonize China—the country already is too thickly populated. Except for White Russian refugees and missionaries, all foreigners are traders who hope to make their fortunes and retire to their own countries. The Chinese population is about 400,000,000. Foreigners, including Japanese and Russians, number about 360,000. Exclusive of these, the western population in China is about 40,000, including 7,000 Americans. Japanese nationals in leased territory and along the South Manchuria railroad are in addition to these figures.

Estimates show that Great Britain and Japan each have a trade investment of $1,250,000,000 in China; soviet Russia about $300,000,000; the United States, $250,000,000 of which $50,000,000 is in Christian and charitable enterprises. France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Holland have varying amounts invested. Foreign participation in Chinese trade in 1930 amounted to about $1,500,000,000 at normal exchange.

Japan Takes Britain's Trade.

Great Britain's interest overshadowed all others before the war, but during the war Japan overtook Britain's trade and now the United State is probably the leading trading nation or is running very close to Japan.

Three terms recur in foreign relations to China:

Treaty ports, in which foreigners may dwell and do business.

Concessions, which are granted by China to a foreign government, allowing jurisdiction, but not surrendering the soil.

Settlements, areas set aside chiefly for residence of foreigners, jurisdiction being in the hands of a communion of their consuls.

How China Was "Opened Up."

Some of the initial steps in the opening of China to foreign trade may be listed as follows:

1842—Great Britain obtained Hongkong and the opening of five ports—Shanghai, Canton, Amoy, Foochow, and Ningpo—to foreign residence and trade.

1843-'44—Great Britain, the United States, and France obtained "most favored nation" treaties and the beginning of extraterritorial rights.

1858-'60—France, Britain, Russia, and the United States obtained treaties liberalizing extraterritoriality and opening several additional ports, including Tientsin, Chefoo, and some in the Yangtze valley. Britain also obtained the Kowloong promontory, opposite Hongkong, and Russia won a stretch of the coast, including the site of Vladivostok.

1898—Germany leased Tsingtao and the land controlling Kiachow bay in Shangtung; Russia leased the Liaotung peninsula; France leased Kwangchowwan, and Britain leased Weihaiwei.

1905—Japan entered the field by acquiring Russia's lease on the Liaotung peninsula.

There are now altogether some fifty cities which are open to foreign residence and trade, but only 19 are permitted to have concessions and settlements. There are today 25 concessions and settlements in these 19 cities. The present arrangement at Shanghai was founded in the first British treaty and now the city is the richest object of trade aspirations. The French still maintain their concession there, but twelve countries have interests and jurisdiction in the international settlement. The United States actually has never formally accepted jurisdiction over any area in China.

Of the foreign interests in China, Britain's principal investments are in Hongkong and radiate from there. However, her richest investments are in mines in the north of China, in railways in the central part and in the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking corporation, which dominates the money market. In recent years Britain has sold some of its valuable holdings and her position has receded.

French Prestige Suffers.

France attempted to develop a sphere of influence near French Indo-China but has done very little with the areas mentioned in treaties. Her strength lay in the protectorate which she long exercised over Catholic missions in China, but in recent years the church has not availed itself of this protection and French prestige has suffered. The French declined to unite with other nationals in the Shanghai international settlement, and the French concession in that city, although a delightful place for residential purposes in its better parts, harbors certain activities that give Shanghai an unsavory reputation.

During the czarist régime Russia made powerful efforts to pierce the middle of China and meet the British at the coast. After the soviet revolution in 1917 Russian influence waned. Since 1924 Russia has actively engaged in trying to regain her former position and outer Mongolia has affiliated with the U. S. S. R.

U. S. Insists on Open Door.

The United States has consistently avoided the delineation of a "sphere of influence" but has been insistent on two definite policies: [1] the "open door policy," enunciated by John Hay in 1899, and [2] that the territorial and administrative integrity of China must be preserved. United States traders have refused to recognize other nations' spheres of influence.

Japan's pressure in China dates from 1895, and of two spheres of influence marked out the Japanese have been successful in Manchuria while failing along the seacoast facing Formosa. In recent years Japan has developed a huge capital investment in Shanghai, principally in the textile industry and shipping. The Chinese have intermittently conducted an economic boycott against Japan, but western nations have frowned on strong arm tactics similar to their own in the 19th century.

CENTERS OF FOREIGN INTEREST IN CHINA

The shaded portion of the map indicates territory which has been seized by Japan in Manchuria since the Sino-Japanese imbroglio broke out in Mukden on Sept. 18, 1931.

break of the Shanghai trouble, throwing more than 40,000 Chinese out of work.

The Chinese had to content themselves with less serviceable materials of war. They carted great quantities of wooden beams and iron into the Woosung area and even requisitioned washboards with which to build shelter roofs and to buttress the sides of their trenches. Chinese troops went through villages on the outskirts of Shanghai, where usually most of the city's washing is done, and helped themselves.

Rush Guns and Ammunition.

While the Chinese were massing every available military unit in the Woosung sector word came from Canton that extensive preparations were going on to back up the 19th route army, which has borne the brunt of the fighting thus far.

These Canton advices said guns and ammunition had been shipped and that Gen. Chen Chi-tang, commander-in-chief of the first army, had promised additional financial support for Gens. Tsai Ting-kai and Chiang Kwang-nai, the defenders of Shanghai, to whom he already has sent $125,000 in gold.

Chinese declared that the valor displayed by the 19th army in holding its ground despite Japanese attacks from land, sea, and air had stirred patriotism throughout the country, and that the defenders might count on continued reinforcements and munitions.

War Chest Pledged.

Chambers of commerce throughout the country rallied to the government's support after word was received from Tokio that the Japanese government had appropriated $14,500,000 for the military campaign at Shanghai.

Interpreting this action as an indication of a prolonged struggle, the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce circularized similar organizations throughout the nation by telegraph, asking for funds.

The National Associated Chambers of Commerce, consisting of 3,000 organizations throughout the country, pledged the whole-hearted aid of the entire Chinese business community for the national government's policy of armed resistance against the Japanese.

The guns at Chapei and at Woosung were quited during the troop movement last night and this morning. Only an occasional machine gun burst indicated the opposing armies were in the field.

Observers said the purpose of the Japanese apparently was to clear away the last trace of resistance at Woosung and then sweep over the entire 16 mile area from the forts to Chapei, where they might fall on the Chinese rear. The Japanese landed additional troops on the bank of the Yangtze above the forts.

A private message received from Japan said the stubborn resistance put up by the Chinese at Chapei and Woosung had come as a complete surprise to the Japanese, as naval officers had had fullest confidence that the force of several thousand blue jackets, aided by guns of the warships and airplane bombers, would break the Chinese morale and finish the job assigned to them in short order.

French Troops Arrive.

The French cruiser Waldeck-Rousseau brought in a battalion of French colonial infantry from Haiphong, French Indo-China. This battalion will reinforce the French troops already on duty within the French concession.

Also aboard the cruiser was Pierre Pasquier, governor general of Indo-China, who, it was understood, was dispatched by the French government to investigate the Shanghai situation.

The Japanese command announced that vigorous protests would be filed with the Chinese authorities for the killing of the captain of a Japanese merchant vessel by Chinese soldiers. The captain was fired upon last Tuesday, the Japanese said, after he had left his vessel, anchored in the Whangpoo, in a steam launch.

Reports published abroad that Chinese women soldiers had been killed at Woosung were described as "fairy tales" by both Japanese and Chinese authorities, who said no women were engaged in the military activities at Woosung or elsewhere.

Chinese civil authorities said peace proposals had emanated from Japanese sources in a "veiled fashion" last night. They said they were unaware of the exact source of these proposals, but expected further developments today.

JAPS EVACUATE POSITION AFTER PROTEST BY U. S.

Withdrawal Lifts Danger to American Sector.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 10.—Fifty Japanese marines with two machine guns and one three inch field piece, who have been guarding the Japanese Toyoda cotton mill located well within the Chinese lines adjacent to the sector held by British and American forces, evacuated their position today as a result of pressure exerted by British and American authorities and an ultimatum delivered by the Chinese military commanders that the mill would be shelled unless the Japanese evacuated immediately.

The Japanese had occupied the mill for protective purposes for a considerable time prior to the present trouble. They had fortified themselves behind sandbag barricades on the roof. Since the mill is well within the Chinese lines, the Chinese frequently have threatened to shell the position, but desisted since the shells would have fallen within the western residential section of the international settlement, which is guarded by British and American troops.

Japs Spurn U. S. Request.

Last week Col. Richard S. Hooker, commander of the American marines, personally urged the Japanese to evacuate their position voluntarily in order to avoid complications. The Japanese refused unless the Americans were willing to assume the responsibility for guarding the mill. Col. Hooker declined because of the location of the factory.

Today the Chinese definitey announced their intention to shell the mill. They alleged that the Japanese were using the position to spy on the location of Chinese troops and batteries. The Japanese then decided to evacuate. It is understood the Chinese gave assurances that the mill property would not be damaged.

Powers Plan New Peace Attempt.

Nelson T. Johnson, American minister to China; Sir Miles W. Lampson, British minister, and Henri A. Wilden, French minister, left Nanking for Shanghai today. The American minister left on the destroyer Simpson, the British minister on the British sloop Bridgewater, and the Frenchman on a French warship. Responsible reports today said they are coming here to lead a new desperate attempt by the powers to bring about a truce in the fighting.

While Chinese officials and commanders of the Chinese 19th army continue to declare their intention to continue to fight until the Japanese forces have been withdrawn, Chinese bankers and merchants at Shanghai are exerting efforts through neutral intermediaries to bring about a compromise.

Visit U. S. Admiral.

Although secrecy is maintained regarding a visit today by a committee of Chinese bankers upon Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, commanding the United States Asiatic fleet, aboard the flagship cruiser Houston, it is believed the bankers urged an attempt at mediation.

It is also reported that Japanese merchants with interests in Shanghai are trying to mediate in the military complications.

A devastating fire which swept across several blocks of Chinese property and practically reached the settlement boundary was started this afternoon when Japanese airplanes dropped a number of incendiary bombs along North Honan road. A change in the direction of the wind prevented the fire from igniting the buildings in the sector now held by a company of American members of the local volunteer corps.

Chinese Shell Foreign Area.

While the fire was at its height, Chinese and Japanese batteries kept up a continuous cannonading within one block of the American position, but no shells fell in that vicinity. Most of the shells dropped in settlement streets held by the Japanese marines.

The Japanese claim that the Chinese are firing into the Hongkew section of the setlement to back up the recent declaration of Mayor Wu Teichen that the Chinese government will no longer accept responsibility for foreign lives and property as long as the Japanese use the settlement as a base of operations against the Chinese army.

Japanese forces ashore in the Shanghai and Woosung sectors now number 9,000, consisting of 6,000 sailors and marines and 3,000 regulars, according to a report by neutral military observers today.

The report said, however, that Japanese reinforcements, composed of about 10,000 regulars, are aboard transports which are now near the Chinese coast.

Six hundred Japanese sailors who have been taking part in the attack on Woosung were transferred back to Shanghai this afternoon, leading to the supposition that the Woosung offensive has been turned over to the regular troops.

Although the Japanese today shelled Chinese trenches and buildings on the Chinese side of Woosung creek, using three inch guns almost continuously, no attempt to cross the creek and storm the Chinese position had been made up to this evening.

China May Call on League Assembly to Check Japan

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 10.—Now that the league of nations council has failed to act, the Chinese delegates here see only one course left them to secure help to end the Japanese invasion of their country. That is to call the league assembly, where they hope to get the support of the smaller powers and keep their case before world opinion.

But pressure is being put on them not to call the assembly, although they have the right to do so under article XV. of the league covenant, which they have invoked with no success. The great powers are anxious to avoid the impotence of the league being stressed to such an extent that the league's prestige would be dealt a death blow.

Fear Pressure by Powers.

The Chinese themselves fear that once the assembly has met, although they would normally get the sympathy of the small powers, bigger influences would be brought to bear to prevent even platonic condemnation of the Japanese action.

"We have promised not to endanger the league just to protect ourselves," one of the Chinese spokesmen said today. "Why we should go on protecting the league's prestige to such an extent, and we the only ones to do so, I don't know."

Robert Olds, former American undersecretary of state and now adviser to the Chinese delegation here, returned from Paris today. He said he would strongly advise his clients of the inadvisability of convoking the assembly.

Council Is "Pitied."

The council's failure to act yesterday cast much gloom not only on the league secretariat, but also on the disarmament conference. To have one of the local papers pity the council members for their weakness did not brighten the situation any.

League apologists take one of two tacks. One is that the covenant in reality is not designed for powers that do not adhere to occidental standards; the other is that the league is only what the big powers want to make it and in this case the big powers have "washed out."

If America would only push forward in the affair, the league could follow at a safe distance and save its prestige, it is felt. Naval and military experts gathered here for the disarmament conference are unanimous, however, in asserting that the United States is not strong enough navally to do any pushing west of Hawaii.

Charge Japan Violates Pledges.

The charge is made here that Japan has violated its pledges and has created submarine bases in the Ladrones, Caroline and Marshall islands, which Japan holds under mandate.

As these islands, numbering between 40 and 50, stand as a double screen between Hawaii and Japan and her trade routes to south China, experts here don't see how the American fleet would dare go past Pearl Harbor. A European expert familiar with the Pacific said:

"Even if the Japanese haven't created submarine bases at the islands they could use them without previous preparation for both submarines and seaplanes. One must not forget that out of 1,312 fighting planes Japan has 500 naval planes. Your navy has 776 and if you had enough airplane carriers you could send them forward as protection against the Japanese planes and for observation against submarines. But the Saratoga and Lexington carry only 200 planes between them. One can look at those islands good on the map and wonder how ships can get through them even without submarines and planes to worry about."

WAR REFUGEES REACH MANILA ON TWO LINERS

MANILA, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Small groups of women and children, refugees from the fighting at Shanghai, arrived here today on the liners President Van Buren and Empress of Russia.

The refugees reported business in Shanghai at a standstill and said their ships had been delayed because of the Japanese bombardment of the Chinese forts at Woosung. They said many more American women and children were planning to come to Manila on later ships.

All those arriving today had sufficient resources to care for themselves. Charles H. Forster, manager of the Manila chapter of the Red Cross, was prepared to care for any penniless refugees.

TOKIO STUDENTS RIOT; DENOUNCE WAR ON CHINA

Police Seize 25 Agitators Against 'Imperialism.'

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The first public demonstration of any moment against Japan's course in Shanghai and Manchuria took place today at the Imperial university.

Twenty-five students were arrested for participating in a protest meeting, at which hand bills urging the people to "stop this imperialistic war" were distributed.

Eight hundred students assembled in front of the main lecture hall of the university heard speeches by four of their colleagues and then attempted to parade through the streets in the vicinity, carrying red banners. The police dispersed them and arrested the leaders.

National Holiday Today.

Hand bills were circulated in the university throughout the forenoon, and posters were pasted on university buildings. The posters read: "Down with the Students' Patriotic Association!" and "Down with Empire Day!"

Tomorrow is "Kigensetsu," the national holiday which celebrates the supposed anniversary of the founding of the empire in 660 B. C. by Jimmu Tenno, a descendant of the sun goddess.

While the police pressed ahead with their investigation to determine exactly what was behind the assassination Tuesday of Junnosuke Inouye, leader of the opposition party, it was learned that Kijuro Shidehara, former foreign minister and the sole survivor of Japan's famous triumvirate of liberal statesman, was seriously ill. The baron suffered a fainting spell and an attack of cerebral anemia Monday night.

"Last Friend of U. S."

The killing of Inouye and the death last August of former Premier Huko Hamaguchi from the effects of an assailant's bullet left the baron the only living member of the famous trio of statesmen known as special friends of the United States.

Physicians reported today that Baron Shidehara, who is 60 years old, was recovering slowly. He was confined to his bed and was running a slight temperature. His condition was complicated by a cold and bronchitis.

The press and the national leaders of Japan expressed horror and sorrow at the assassination of Inouye. Police, investigating to determine whether the principles of some such reactionary organization as the Black Dragon society played a part in the killing, said they believed that Tadashi Konuma, the youth who shot the former minister, was suffering from a form of dementia.

He was anæmic and jobless, they said, and they speculated that he acted alone without the backing of any responsible political element.

Police released Inajiro Terada, member of a reactionary group, in whose home Konuma had lived, as they were convinced he was not connected with the assassination.

The youthful Konuma, readily confessing that he had committed the crime, said he had wished to avenge the bitter lot of peasants who, he declared, had suffered greatly as a result of the retrenchment policy carried on when Inouye was finance minister. Konuma was a wanderer who had lost successive jobs through illness or unfitness, the investigators said.

Japan Plans Special Envoys.

Foreign Minister Yoshizawa announced he was considering a plan to send special envoys to the United States, Great Britain, and France to clarify the Japanese Manchurian policy.

The men to discharge this task have been tentatively selected. They are Viscount Kentaro Kaneko, who would go to Washington; Baron Gonsuke Hayashi, who would be sent to London, and Viscount Kiku Jiro, who would present the Japanese explanation at Paris.

BABY IS BORN IN DUGOUT; SHELLS BURST OVERHEAD

[Copyright: 1932: By the United News.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 10.—A child was born in a makeshift dugout while shells burst overhead during a Chinese family's flight from the Shanghai war zone, according to a story told today by Miss Zee Chin-Mei, member of a prominent family.

Miss Zee told how her family of 10 adults and three children became alarmed when the Japanese began firing from the rifle range. Their home was between the Chapel and Kiangwan districts.

"We constructed a dugout in a dry creek bed behind our house, using planks, furniture, and bedding," Miss Zee said. "It was there my sister-in-law gave birth to her child. We were in the midst of a terrific bombardment."

CIVILIANS EQUAL SOLDIERS IN WAR AREA HOSPITALS

Many Women and Children Among Wounded.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 10.—(AP)—More than 1,000 persons, half of them civilians, were suffering from war wounds in Chinese Red Cross hospitals here today, and the wounded continued to be brought in from the battle area.

A visit to one of these hospitals by the Associated Press correspondent today found its four staff doctors haggard from the strain of working day and night in intimate contact with the grim side of war—its agony and its pathos.

And it's not merely a soldier's war. Half the injured are coolies, peasants, and the like, caught by bombs, shells, and stray bullets.

Stoicism in Evidence.

The wounded from the Chapei area get emergency treatment at a field dressing hospital at Chenju. Here they are swathed in bloodsoaked rags and towels and placed row on row on the floor.

This correspondent rode from Chenju hospital to the Chinese general hospital in Shanghai with a load of the wounded. The patients obviously were suffering great pain as the vehicle bumped over the rough road through the Chinese lines, but they bore it without an outcry.

Arrive in Trucks.

This stoicism also was in evidence at the hospital when the wounded were treated as they arrived in trucks from the front.

The pluckiness of a young army officer was typical. While attendants picked shrapnel fragments from a wound in his arm he discussed cheerily with the doctors the progress of the fighting in Chapei.

One of the most pitiful sights was the many innocent women and children who have been maimed for life as a result of their wounds.

C. C. Wu Spurns Canton Post; Opposes Army Rule

HONGKONG, Feb. 10.—(AP)—C. C. Wu, long an outstanding figure in Chinese politics, has declined appointment as governor of Canton, it was said on good authority today, because he could not exact from the military arm a pledge that an entirely civilian government would be permitted.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER.

The body of a man about 65 years old, with 3 cents in the pockets, was found floating in the north branch of the Chicago river at Kinzie street yesterday afternoon

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lillian Ralston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right.

"For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external treatments or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

JAPAN AND ITALY BOARD ARMS CUT WAGON IN GENEVA

Grandi Assails French Security Thesis.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 10.—Italy and Japan today followed precedents already set at the world disarmament conference and asked for reduction and limitation of arms on patterns recognized generally as most advantageous to them.

TSUNEO MATSUDAIRA. [Harris & Ewing.]

Italy, through her youthful foreign minister, Dino Grandi, spoke up for Germany, too, by insisting on equality for all, and vigorously assailed the French thesis of security through an armed league of nations as a prerequisite to disarmament.

Grandi restated Italy's demand for parity with France as the condition of her entry into the London naval pact, on the basis of which new reductions were invited yesterday by Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador. He reiterated Italy's desire to have capital ships and submarines abolished, and added to them aircraft carriers, heavy artillery, tanks, and all kinds of bombing aircraft, and he adhered to a proposal already made by the French and others to abolish chemical and bacteriological warfare, and generally humanize the laws of war.

Japan Would Cut Capital Ships.

Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japan's ambassador to London, indicated in his speech that the Japanese favor reductions in the tonnage of capital ships, the caliber of their guns, and the tonnage of aircraft carriers, and are willing to see aircraft carriers abolished altogether, along with landing stage ships of any kind.

Matsudaira did not speak for the abolition of submarines, regarded as the chief instrument in Japan's mastery of her part of the Pacific, but he agreed to the abolition of chemical and bacteriological warfare. The Japanese ambassador, head of the Tokio delegation to the conference, spoke mildly. When he finished silence greeted him save for the nervous applause of several scores of his compatriots.

He referred at once to the orient.

"At present events in Asia are unhappily troubled," he said, adding that he would refer to the matter no more in this conference since the league of nations' council is handling the matter.

His stress on security as an essential of disarmament and some other points of his speech brought asides from the French delegation that the similarity of the Japanese and French programs is almost embarrassing.

Matsudaira pointed out the importance of international engagements. A government "which neglected these obligations would constitute a veritable menace," he said. While Japan has already reduced her army and her aviation is only in its infancy, she attached most importance to the navy, he indicated. He added that real disarmament could not be accomplished without great improvement in international relations.

Grandi Creates Stir.

Grandi's vigorous talk, preceding that of the Japanese delegate, brought bursts of applause, not always, however, from the French sector.

His speech was full of striking phrases such as "demagogy of disarmament," "sophistry of disarmament," and "our task is to fortify justice, not to justify force."

The French delegation showed no emotion at remarks obviously directed at them. Grandi called any attempt to go on conditioning disarmament on security or vice versa, "sophistry of disarmament."

"This will lead us nowhere," he said, "and will only dishearten our peoples."

Crisply he cited the Versailles treaty to show the clear obligation to disarm all around to meet the disarmament imposed on Germany.

The facts show, he said, that there can be no security without disarmament—the exact reverse of the French proposal. Quoting figures to show the increase in armament expenditures since 1925, he expressed alarm over the new armaments race.

"Bloodshed in the far east should be a warning to us all," he said.

Then he ripped the plan proposed by Andre Tardieu, French war minister, for an armed league to preserve the status quo.

"Any military preponderance must inevitably make its pressure felt on the whole body of international relations and it would be vain to believe that such pressure is always placed at the service of justice," he declared. "The method of repression by the strongest is the most dangerous method one can imagine for insuring peace."

TO FREE PHILIPPINES WOULD LAUNCH CHAOS, HURLEY WARNS HOUSE

P. J. HURLEY. [Harris & Ewing.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today told the house committee on insular affairs that conditions in the far east make it unwise for the United States to grant independence to the Philippines at this time. Testifying in opposition to legislation calling for early independence for the Philippines, Mr. Hurley said the Filipinos have not yet progressed to the point where they are ready for independence.

"The political chaos in the Orient is such today, that in my opinion, this is no time to deal with Philippine independence," Secretary Hurley said. "The present legislation directed to that end would serve the interests of neither the Filipino people or the United States."

"The Hare bill providing independence, if enacted by congress in its present form, would cause economic chaos, social anarchy, and political revolution in the Philippine islands."

Discussing the general situation in the islands, Secretary Hurley said that under existing conditions the Filipino people could not defend themselves from foreign enemies except with American aid. He said that "until they should have made greater progress toward economic independence, political independence would merely invite revolution and anarchy."

HEADACHE HALTS BOMBING; TWO POLICE PERILED

An attempt to bomb the four apartment building at 7058 Emerald avenue, tenanted by two policemen, was frustrated early this morning because of the alertness of Mrs. Mary Moss, also a tenant.

Kept awake by a headache, Mrs. Moss was sitting at her front window when she saw an automobile drive to the curb. Two men stepped out, one holding an oblong package. She saw the other strike a match and apply it to the package. The flame went out, and she saw him light five other matches. Suddenly Mrs. Moss saw a sputtering flame.

She ran to the apartment of South Park Policeman Martin Walsh, owner of the building, and aroused him. Walsh ran downstairs just as the two strangers fled. In front of the entrance lay the package. At its end was a sputtering fuse. He stamped on the fuse, then kicked the package to the street.

Sergt. Michael Toohey and his bomb squad were called. Toohey examined the package. It contained three sticks of dynamite, which, had it exploded, would have wrecked the exterior of the building.

Policeman Walsh declared the bomb could not have been meant for him. He believed it was mistakenly placed. Other tenants of the building are the Mosses, Policeman William McGuinn of the Gresham station, and Walter Smith. Walsh is detailed as policeman in charge of Bessemer park, 89th street and South Chicago avenue.

LLOYD GEORGE IS BARRED FROM HIS COMMONS SEAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The secret of the absence of David Lloyd George from the new house of commons since his reëlection was revealed tonight. He is barred from sitting as a member of parliament because of an oversight.

His return of his election expenses was not sent within the statutory period and as a result he is not allowed to take his seat. In order to straighten out the matter, Lloyd George has formally applied to the high courts for relief from any consequences that may follow his accidental breach.

The legal position is that any member of parliament taking a seat or voting in the house before he has made a signed return of his election expense is liable to the forfeit of £100 [about $350 at the present rate of exchange] for every day he sits or votes.

GASSY STOMACH TORTURE ENDS

"I am glad to say that ACIDINE helped me quicker than anything else I ever tried," says W. Rontz, Windgap, Pa. "I will tell you there are a good many people killed with this gas in the stomach. If you have a weak heart it is dangerous."

"Was in pain from gas on my stomach all of the time. I would become weak and faint," says G. H. Buzzerd, Bath, N. Y. "Could not eat much of anything until I used ACIDINE. Now I eat anything I want. ACIDINE is a Godsend for anybody troubled with gas."

End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Maker guarantees ACIDINE ends your stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

LEAGUE MANCHURIA COMMISSION HERE IS BOUND FOR ORIENT

The League of Nations Manchurian commission arrived in Chicago last night on the Pennsylvania railroad, en route to Yokohama, and departed so quickly over the C. & N. W. railroad for San Francisco that the Earl of Lytton, grandson of Bulwer Lytton, noted English author was moved to say:

"We're being hurried through your country without opportunity of seeing it."

They stopped long enough for Lord Lytton to explain that the commission, as a friend of all nations, is on its way to give the assistance sought by both China and Japan towards peace. He gave an illustration of an experiment once undertaken by the science master at his school and made it apropos of this statement:

"We have been asked to try and produce a new element, peace, from the union of two elements that, at this moment, seem more likely to repel than to coalesce. If we succeed in suggesting a solution that may be beneficial to China and Japan the rest of the world will benefit chiefly by the fact 'nothing has happened.' If, however, we are so unfortunate as to fail the consequences may be felt in the remotest part of the world."

On the commission with Lord Lytton are Gen. Henri Claudel of France; Conte Luigi Aldrozandi Marescotti, Italy; Dr. Heinrich Schnee, Germany, and Maj. Frank R. McCoy, United States of America.

TWO ST. CHARLES BOYS ON PAROLE HELD AS ROBBERS

Charles Bielowa, 18 years old, of 1921 South Kedzie avenue, and Frank Niperany, 17, of 2344 South Whipple street, both out on parole from St. Charles reformatory, were arrested last night by Oak Park police while, it is charged, they were breaking into the delicatessen of George Gray at 21 Harrison street, Oak Park.

Police said Bielowa was arrested three years ago and at the time admitted 300 burglaries. He was known as the "Lone Wolf" as a result. Niperany was shot two years ago by Policeman James Skala of Oak Park in an attempted drug store robbery.

The boys were seized last night by Sergt. Edward McAlear and his squad. They denied they were trying to enter the delicatessen. Police searched Niperany's home and found three radios, some jewelry and clothing, believed to have been stolen. The prisoners later confessed fifty gasoline filling station holdups.

FRANCE IS ALLY OF JAPAN, LONDON PAPER INDICATES

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 11 [Thursday].—In large headlines today, the Daily Express asked: "Has Japan a European Ally?—a Secret Treaty?"

Two developments, its political correspondent wrote, have brought suspicions to a head. First, is Japan's determined resistance to the peace efforts of the great powers. Second, is the rise in French munition shares.

"It is argued," he stated, "that Japan would not maintain such an uncompromising attitude without the knowledge that her actions would automatically be supported by her European ally. It is believed, moreover, that Japan's orders for munitions are being financed by France. Rightly or wrongly, these are the deductions which have raised the fear that a secret Franco-Japanese treaty is in existence."

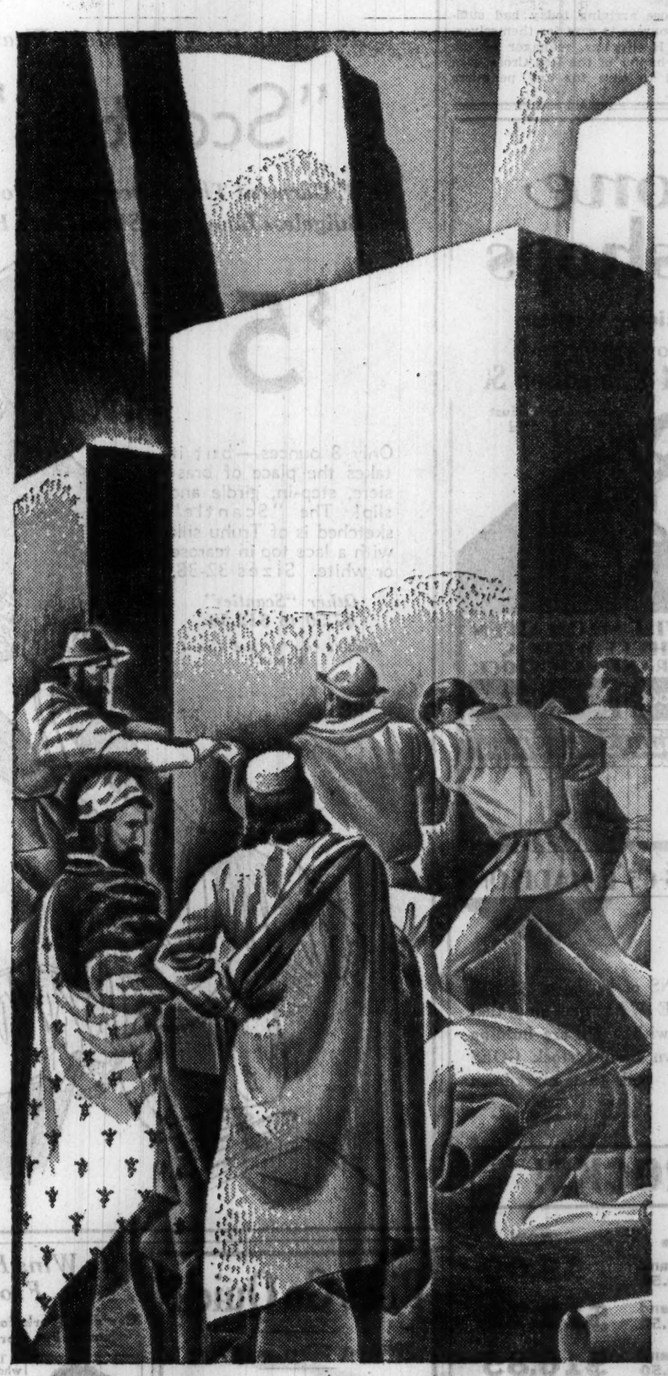
FLEETWOOD



GRIST FOR GENIUS

Seldom in history have communities attained the commercial eminence enjoyed by the Italian cities of the Renaissance. The names of their merchant princes were names to conjure with, and more than one was accorded the title of "Magnificent." But who can name them now? Only a few are remembered—those few who befriended a Michelangelo, a Cellini or a Titian—who provided the marble, the bronze or even the sustenance without which these artists' works would have been impossible.

Modern business, also, achieves its crowning glory in its patronage of the arts and sciences. And today a shining example presents itself. Fleetwood . . . for years a name that has stood for the utmost in custom coachcraft . . . now shows the world a breadth of conception, a skill and a finesse never realized before it acquired its new facilities. Under the patronage of the Fisher Body Corporation, new fields of observation and research are opened up. New means for experiment are provided, new methods of operation are made possible, a new co-operation from chassis engineers is enjoyed.

Witness the result. Bodies that surpass all former Fleetwood creations are surrounding that hall-mark with a new prestige. And to the engineering advances in the new Cadillac V-Eights, V-Twelves, and V-Sixteens they are adding a reputation for unprecedented beauty, comfort and elegance.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

ORATORY VS. ARITHMETIC.

The county board and the school board have been engaged in recent weeks in frantic efforts at self-deception. The members of both boards have been attacking their budgetary problems in the apparent belief that if only enough speeches are made and enough fists are brandished beneath enough noses a thousand dollars will become fifteen hundred dollars. The majority in both boards seems to be convinced that speechmaking can overcome arithmetic.

For instance, at last reports the county board had concocted a budget calling for the disbursement of $42,000,000 in 1932, an increase of $1,600,000 over last year. Last year the county was unable to pay off its maturing bonds and in consequence was unable to find any one to buy its new bond issues. The county, like all the other local governments, has discovered that its income from taxes in 1931 fell far below the estimates of what the income would be. Accordingly employés have been unpaid for months at a time and bills for supplies have been allowed to accumulate.

The board has gone on the assumption that if it says it is going to spend $42,000,000 that sum will find its way into the treasury by some means or other. It would be hard to find a parallel to that act of faith. There are some 4,000,000 residents of Cook county, and it is doubtful if any of them, except the members of the county board and some county employés, believe that the receipts from taxes this year will be as large as the receipts a year ago. There is not a responsible banker in Cook county who thinks that the county board can borrow enough to make up the difference between the taxes which will be collected and the $42,000,000 which it is proposed to appropriate.

But the board has gone ahead on the fantastic assumption that the money is going to be found. It isn't. It follows that the board, if it persists in its present course, will end up the year more heavily in debt than it is at present, its credit will be still further impaired, and the morale of its employés who will be unpaid will be destroyed.

The self-deception of the board members has been abetted by some of the county's employés. The board fears the political effect of wage reductions and talks euphemistically of six days' work for five days' pay, a policy to be applied blanketwise to all employés. As Mrs. Plumb and Miss Sears were at pains to point out, the pay roll brigade of political appointees is to be maintained at its usual strength. The useful employés may have to take a cut in any case, but their sacrifice is to be made the greater in order to keep the ward heelers happy. For some mysterious reason the employés have, in large part, dodged this conclusion.

The same refusal to face facts, the same tender consideration for grafters and loafers, has marked the budget deliberations of the school board with the exception in favor of the county board that its minority of clear-headed members is somewhat larger. The school board, as Mr. Hewitt has shown, spent $68,000,000 in 1929 and $79,000,000 in 1930. The expenditures for 1931 have not yet been tabulated, but in 1932 the board is proposing to pay out, on a strictly comparable basis, $87,000,000, an increase of $19,000,000 over 1929 and $8,000,000 over 1930.

Possibly the school board members have not heard of Chicago's tax difficulties. Perhaps the members have not been told there is a depression which is making it difficult for many to pay taxes and impossible for others. Only on some such assumption could the drafting of the school board budget be regarded as the work of men and women possessed of ordinary reasoning power.

School board employés have in a measure encouraged the board members in their folly. Every suggestion to drop costly and nonessential items from the budget has met with blind opposition. Instead of facing the probability that the board's income is going to be 30 per cent below last year's, and resolving to make the smaller income stretch as far as possible over the most important services rendered by the schools, the employés have allowed their hopes to warp their judgment. In the end they will pay for their misplaced optimism. The money isn't going to come in, and, as adequate economies have not been introduced, the loss will be borne alike by the useful and the useless. The teachers of reading and of tap dancing will share the same fate.

This kind of stupidity in recent years has exaggerated the consequences of slow collection of taxes and the strike of taxpayers. The board is operating on the assumption that the cure for past mistakes is more mistakes of the same sort. If the board members are right, there is not a word of truth in the arithmetics which the school children use.

TRAFFIC WANTS FASTER TRAINS.

There is added today to THE TRIBUNE'S Platform for Chicagoland plank No. 5: Double the Speed of Passenger Trains.

We are hearing a good deal of the needs of the railroads. This new plank is offered as a constructive suggestion, which will, we are confident, be helpful, if adopted, both to the railroads and the traveling public. Speed is one of the most important factors in the competition which the railroads must meet in this age of the automobile and the aeroplane, and it is one in which the advantage lies with the railroad in competing with motor transport, at present its most important competition. Yet this advantage has not been exploited by railroad management, no doubt largely because of the depletion of railroad means and the discouragements of government regulation. Nevertheless, these restraints should not be permitted to distract attention from possible betterments which will directly assist in solving the difficulties complained of. It is true, as President Scandrett of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad has recently said, that the railroads are suffering from the tremendous burden of taxation they are carrying and from the liberty of action enjoyed by their competitors compared with the restrictions which governmental regulation imposes on the roads. But not all the loss of business which the railroads have felt can be attributed to these causes, nor to any cause other than the railroads themselves. They have failed to keep up with the quickened movement of modern transport, though speed is perhaps their greatest advantage over other agencies.

During the World's Fair in 1893 passengers from Milwaukee came to Chicago over Mr. Scandrett's railroad and over the Chicago and North Western road and it took them about two hours to make the trip. Now those who come from Milwaukee on either railroad or on the North Shore Electric still must spend two hours on the journey unless they take one of the two or three trains each road runs daily which make it in one hour and 45 minutes. The distance by either road or by the electric is approximately 85 miles and the so-called fast trains average 48 miles an hour. The two hour trains have a running time of about 42.5 miles per hour.

In 40 years there has been almost no change of time except these few trains daily, and in these the time is shortened by elimination of stops rather than by any increase in speed. This condition applies to most American railroads, although of late there has been a movement by some to make faster time.

The fastest train in the world is reputed to be the Cheltenham Flyer, which runs from Swindon to Paddington, London, a distance of 77.3 miles, in 67 minutes, traveling at the rate of 69.3 miles per hour. Edward Hungerford, the railroad publicist, points out that the Pennsylvania runs regularly from Camden, N. J., to Atlantic City, a distance of 56 miles, at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

The Great Western boat trains, he reports, make the 227 miles from Plymouth to London in 237 minutes, almost a mile a minute, and the 185 mile run from Calais to Paris is made at the same speed.

The Milwaukee road has the advantage of a straighter line and fewer stops. The North Western, following the lake line in a general way, passes through several cities of importance and well settled communities almost all the way. The Milwaukee in present circumstances could have an advantage of several minutes over its competitor. It has not used that advantage in spite of an apparently strong struggle for passenger traffic between the two cities. It has attempted no speed which both the others could not meet.

With the present good highways the railroad is not much faster than the private automobile. Privately owned aeroplanes make the trip from Chicago to Milwaukee comfortably in less than 45 minutes and those equipped for landing on the lake shore avoid any inconvenience of slow motor trips from remote airports.

It is altogether likely that unless the railroads make greater effort to reduce their time schedules on such a well traveled route as that between Milwaukee and Chicago they will see a constantly increasing number of their passengers deserting them to other methods of transportation. It is probable a speeding up of schedules would see much traffic return to the railroads.

STARS VIA CHICAGO.

[New York Herald Tribune.]

The discovery that stars can be a hobby, even as goldfish or stamps, belongs pleasantly on the credit side of our scientific age. Happening to gaze from his high window, the New Yorker, some midwinter night, sees "that whirl of golden moths, the Pleiades, Orion's giant suns, the red eyed bull," and turning on the lamp reads that the Amateur Astronomers' association is about to take a "flight from chaos" at the Museum of Natural History. He joins; he also flies.

Soon thereafter, in a new, strange excitement, he begins to feel that earth could scarcely hold a higher impersonal joy than the privilege of tracking the motions of the stars at will in a planetarium—but learns with chagrin that he will have to travel at least to Chicago to attain it. Chicago has the magnificent Adler planetarium, Philadelphia is going to have one; but New York, where is hers? In less than five months after it had been opened in 1930 the Stockholm planetarium had paid for itself in small admission fees. Mussolini has had one set up in the Diocletian Baths. Even unsettled Moscow has one, visited by 600,000 in nine months. Hamburg economically constructed a planetarium in a tall old water tower, while the low dome of Düsseldorf's is ninety feet in diameter. The finest of all, built by the Carl Zeiss Optical works of Jena, is in the German museum at Munich. All these smaller and poorer cities enjoy one of the most uplifting and galvanic aids to an understanding of our heavenly surroundings, the lack of which dulls and limits human vision.

We go up in the Empire building and see—more of the same. For an absurd fraction of such a structure's cost New York could possess a planetarium, and from the experience of other cities it is almost certain that it would soon pay for itself. Local astronomers are now a large and eager set. They should have for their further lofty instruction a roof beneath which the Galaxy unfolds, the planets stray among the suns, and even that shifting of the celestial pole which in the sky requires 26,000 years may take place before man's awestruck eyes, at his command, any afternoon.

THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION OF 1932.

As, in the Light of Recent Events, It May Be.

(The convention has been formally opened, the bands have played until they are black in the face, the delegates have yelled until they're hoarse, the keynoter has pointed with pride and viewed with alarm, the nominating speakers have each in turn named The Man Who, and the convention is ready to elect its candidate. Now go on with the story.)

THE CHAIRMAN: The con-ven-shun will come to order! We will proceed to ballot for a candidate for President. Mr. Clerk, call the roll of states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

(The roll of states is called.)

THE CHAIRMAN: None of the candidates having received a two-thirds vote, we will proceed again to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

(The roll of states is called.)

THE CHAIRMAN: No candidate having received two-thirds or more of the votes of the delegates, no choice for nominee of this convention has been made. We will proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

AUGUST 20, 1932.

THE CHAIRMAN: The last ballot not having resulted in any candidate receiving the necessary two-thirds vote, we will again proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

SEPTEMBER 28, 1932.

THE CHAIRMAN: No candidate having yet received a two-thirds vote, we will again proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

NOVEMBER 3, 1932.

THE CHAIRMAN: Ladies and gentlemen of the Democratic national convention: Before we proceed to take the next ballot I must warn you that the election is tomorrow. If we can break the deadlock and nominate a candidate there is yet time for the voters to go to the polls and elect him. But if we do not nominate a candidate before tomorrow, then the Republicans will take the election by default. We will now proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

DECEMBER 24, 1932.

THE CHAIRMAN: No candidate having received the necessary two-thirds vote, we will again proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

JANUARY 24, 1933.

THE CHAIRMAN: . . . and so we will again proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

JUNE (ANY DAY AT ALL), 1934.

THE CHAIRMAN: . . . and so we will again proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

(The same thing happens in 1935, 1936, and 1937, so why go into it? We come to June 24, 1938.)

THE CHAIRMAN: A great opportunity is ours. We have stayed here and voted steadily since 1932. But another presidential election has rolled around. This year, if we succeed in breaking the deadlock and nominate a candidate, we can elect him President on the fourth day of next November. We will again proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

MR. CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

NOVEMBER 4, 1933.

THE CHAIRMAN: The deadlock continuing, the Republicans once more win the election by default. We will again proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

THE CLERK: Al-a-bam-mer——

(The same thing for 1939, 1940, and so on and so on, which brings us up to the year 1950.)

THE CHAIRMAN (now with gray head and long white whiskers is wheeled to the rostrum and speaks in a squeaky, quavering voice): The deadlock continuing and no candidate having received the necessary two-thirds vote, we will now proceed to ballot. Mr. Clerk, call the roll by states.

(To be continued.)

THE KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE, as one item in its special luxury tax program, is going to charge honorary colonels in the state one hundred dollars a year for the glory of their title. If Kentucky succeeds in getting a hundred bucks a year out of every one of its colonels it ought to become the richest state in the Union right away.

MIGRAINE CONSTITUTION.

THE treatment of migraine is in a highly unsatisfactory state. A sufferer from it hears of a treatment that has cured some one else, tries it faithfully, and fails to be benefited. Soon he hears of another that has proved successful with somebody, tries that, and again meets with disappointment. After a number of such experiences he loses faith and is loath to try anything else, regardless of what he hears.

The reason is that migraine is not a disease. It is only a collection of symptoms and, as such, may be brought about by any one of several causes. Furthermore, the causes are usually states, conditions, or habits, and not diseases. A great many periodic sufferers from migraine have noted that when they are seriously sick with a definite disease they are apt to escape attacks of migraine, but the proneness to attacks of headache returns with convalescence.

Dr. Eli Grimes believes strongly that migraine is dependent on a state. People who are addicted to the migraine habit he speaks of as having "migraine instability." They have a makeup which has been called "migraine constitution"; that migraine constitution, or instability, is a combination of physical and personality qualifications which marks the person who has attacks of migraine. Men of broad experience have been reported to be able to pick out migrainous people by their complexions, their expressions, and their reactions of different kinds.

Dr. Grimes says that the man or woman who has migraine instability has attacks only when subjected to stress. The special task of the patient and his physician is to find what experiences and stresses spring his trap and put him in bed with sick headache.

In 75 per cent of all cases of migraine the diagnosis is obvious and the physician is free to put all of his thought on discovering the stresses which are especially provocative to that patient and, having discovered them, of figuring ways to avoid them. In some cases, in women, the periodic distribution of the headaches suggest that some lack of ductless gland balance is responsible. In such cases the physician may give ductless gland preparations, and otherwise seek to establish endocrine balance.

In some cases the digestive system is at fault. In others it has been established that certain foods supply the stress which causes the attack. Eating chocolate is the offense in some instances. In fact, in some cases there is considerable kinship between migraine and hay fever.

In some cases there seems to be a relationship to epilepsy. When we know what it is that sets off an attack of epilepsy we may have the stress that sets off some kinds of migraine.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

E. B. E. writes: What are the symptoms, causes, and recommended diet for a person having low blood pressure?

REPLY.

What we do not know about low blood pressure would fill a large book. The principal cause is supposed to be deficiency of adrenal secretion, but that theory lacks confirmation. We know that failing of the organs is frequently associated with low blood pressure, but which is the cause and which the effect is not easily decided. People with low blood pressure have a multitude of symptoms and but few diseases, and they live long, but these are supposed to be effects, not causes. Many of them digest starch poorly and are most comfortable when they live on meat, eggs, and soy bean flour, and eat little bread, cereals, and sweets. But starch indigestion at most is only a contributing cause.

REMOVAL OF SCARS.

D. E. writes: I have a scar on my face which is about one inch deep and runs across my face. Do you think it possible to have that skin cut away and new skin put on either by grafting or by some other way? With the skillful hands of the surgeons now they seem to be able to do such wonderful operations.

REPLY.

Operations for the removal of scar tissue are generally successful.

FOREIGNER'S VISA.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[Friend of the People.]—Friend of mine wants to come from Lithuania to see the World's Fair here in 1933. Will he be able to come, and how long could he stay? J. V.

You are informed that aliens intending to proceed to the United States must make application to an American consul in the district in which they reside in order to obtain an immigration visa or a passport visa covering entries under the visitor's status act of May 26, 1924, Sec. 3 (2), which relates to the class of aliens referred to in the writer's letter. As to the issuance of such passport visa, that is a function solely within the jurisdiction of the American consul, and it is suggested that the person desiring to come to the United States confer with the American consul.

C. A. PALMER,
District Director of Immigration.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE.

Mount Prospect, Ill., Feb. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please answer in THE TRIBUNE the law respecting a person who buys a house on first mortgage and a contract and is unable to make the payments? Can they make you move out or do they grant you time? C. N.

Subsection 2 of Section 5 of the forcible detainer act authorizes a suit at law for possession "when a vendee, having obtained possession under a written or verbal agreement to purchase lands or tenements and having failed to comply with his agreement, withholds possession after demand in writing." While in a mortgage foreclosure the defendant is sometimes permitted to enjoy the use of the premises during the fifteen months allowed for redemption from the foreclosure sale, there is no such delay on these contract cases. The foregoing relates only to possession. To clear the title, the vendor may have to file a bill in equity if the contract has been recorded, and the court, before entering a decree, may order the refund of an equitable portion of the purchase money. If the contract has not been recorded, the vendor may resell clear of the vendee's equity.

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

SHANGHAI, July 22.—China continues to make preparations to assert its claim to rights in Corea, and from the indications it is judged war is inevitable unless Japan recedes from the position it has hitherto maintained. Preparations were hurriedly completed and 12,000 Chinese troops embarked on transports for the peninsula. The transports were convoyed by eight gunboats, the commanders of which were instructed to fire upon the Japanese should the latter attempt to obstruct the landing of the Chinese in Corea. A strong body of troops will shortly leave Foochow for the Loochoo islands. It is the government's intention to employ the Makin and Canton fleets in harassing the Japanese coasts if actual hostilities are commenced. Orders have been sent to every Chinese province calling upon each of them to furnish 20,000 troops to aid in the support of the government.

LONDON, July 22.—An attempt was made at the Japanese legation here to learn whether the report was true that war had been declared between China and Japan because of the differences between the two powers in regard to Corea. No official denial or confirmation of the report could be had, but no member of the staff of the legation made an attempt to disguise his delight at the thought of war with China. At the Chinese legation it was said no news of the declaration of war had been received. It was added that if the rumor were true the first report of it would come from Japan and not from China.

28 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 11, 1904.

LONDON.—A special dispatch from Port Arthur says the Japanese fleet attempted on Feb. 10 to land men in several bays in the neighborhood of Port Arthur under the protection of the guns of the cruisers. It is asserted, however, that all the attempts were unsuccessful.

LONDON.—Japanese engineers, disguised as Chinese, are reported to have blown up a railroad bridge on the Manchurian railroad, killing thirty Russians. Two Russian telegraph lines in Manchuria have been cut. This information indicates that Japan has lost no time in attacking Russia's railroad communication, with the design of isolating Port Arthur and Dalny. Advices from Kwar-Ting, Manchuria, say that 10,000 armed Chinese, unofficially recognized as government troops, are operating in the district and are expected to attack the railroad guards when they hear of the Russian disaster. It is stated that 50,000 Russians are massed along the line from Liao-Yang, Hai-Cheng, Feng-Hua and Cheng, and the Yalu river to oppose the Japanese advance into Manchuria.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The czar has answered Japan's peremptory challenge to arms and ordered his armies and fleets in the far east to meet force with force. The czar's first move after accepting the issue of war was to order the mobilization of the army reserves in east Asia. The newspapers in general chorus denounce the action of Japan as being treachery, declaring that it is truly Asiatic, but insisting that the issue of the conflict will not be decided by the naval engagements, as the Japanese will have to meet Russia on dry land, when the score will be wiped out. In spite of the state of public feeling there has been no attempt to molest M. Kurino, the retiring Japanese minister, or his staff. He left St. Petersburg, a special train taking him to Berlin.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 11, 1916.

WASHINGTON.—Dr. Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, appeared before the committee of the house on military affairs and urged the adoption of his plan for securing a sufficient supply of trained officers for the military forces of the nation. This plan, in brief, is the establishment of a four years' military course in each of the land grant colleges, now more than fifty in number, at least one in each state and one in Hawaii and Porto Rico.

CHICAGO.—More than 100 distinguished persons, including visiting prelates of the Roman Catholic church and some of Chicago's leading jurists and professional men, were poisoned, supposedly by ptomaines in soup, last night in the University club during a banquet given in honor of Archbishop George William Mundelein. Nearly 300 guests were present. When the first of them to be stricken toppled over or rushed from the room there was general commotion. Many of them were taken to rooms in the club and medical treatment hastily administered. Dr. John B. Murphy quickly organized an "emergency field hospital." The ptomaines seemed to be confined to the bouillon served at certain tables. The speakers' table, at which sat Archbishop Mundelein, Gov. Dunne, Roger C. Sullivan, and other notables, escaped.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison resigned from the cabinet and President Wilson accepted his resignation. Assistant Secretary of War Henry Breckenridge also resigned. Mr. Garrison resigned because President Wilson has abandoned support of the continental army plan for provision of a national citizen soldiery and because the President would not back him up in vigorously opposing the immediate liberation of the Filipinos from American rule. The resignation was precipitated at this time by the fact that Mr. Garrison was to address a National Chamber of Commerce convention this afternoon on national defense. This is the second resignation from the Wilson cabinet within a year, the other being that of Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS.

Sparland, Ill., Feb. 2.—I am a resident of Chicago's west side and live there with my wife and two babies in a small home for which I paid taxes in 1928 of $281. I am with a construction firm now working near Chillicothe, Ill., where the sanitary district of Chicago maintains an office, etc. I visited the office and saw a number of chair warmers from different parts of the state. I could not tell what they were doing, but they were not busy by any means.

These employés draw salaries from $150 to $650 per month. Then on the outside the first man I saw was the watchman. What he was watching I could not make out, unless he was watching the water in the Illinois river flow by. This man is a resident of Sparland, Ill., and his salary is $150 per month. The next employé, if you might call him such, had just dipped a two quart bucket of water from the Illinois river and went to the office with it. He does this heavy work once every hour on an eight hour a day shift and gets the sum of $175 per month and is a resident of Henry, Ill.

This water is then taken by a great professor of chemistry, who had been scrubbing and washing a couple of bottles, and he then poured the water into the same bottles and put a drop of ink into each bottle to color same, looking very wise while doing so, and this man draws a salary of $250 per month and hails from Lacon, Ill.

Now these three men, who draw $575 per month combined salaries, are sponsored by M. Fahey, Democratic representative of the Sixteenth senatorial district, and are called Fahey's Three Musketeers. If this money must be thrown away on such work as I have described, then why not throw it away to residents of Chicago who, like Jones, pay the freight? JAMES CONLON.

THAT INEFFABLE KNOWLEDGE.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—I would like to take this opportunity to inform the public of the preposterous action taken by the school authorities to what they call "economizing." In order to curtail expenses all extra-curricular activities have been cut out. What I would like to know is how are they curtailing expenses by eliminating the social activities in the high school when it doesn't cost one red cent to maintain them?

After all, school isn't book learning, but that ineffable knowledge one obtains from the various social clubs outside the school curriculum. One often gets more out of these activities than he will ever get from books and what certain school authorities call basic subjects.

As a high school senior I take this opportunity to protest against what I call dumb action. SOL FUTTERMAN.

REFLEXES.

Winnetka, Ill., Feb. 7.—I notice doctors disagreeing over the question of whisky sold on prescriptions, Dr. Bevan, eminent medical leader, saying that 90% of whisky prescriptions are bootleg stuff; Dr. Harger, president of the medical society, declaring that Dr. Bevan knows not whereof he speaks.

Now if Dr. Bevan is right about prescriptions all being for bootleg purposes, then the wet argument that all one has to do to get a drink is to go see his doctor is O. K.; but if Dr. Harger is right, then the wets can no longer claim that there is a river of booze running through the doctors' offices. J. P. ANNIN, M. D.

PASSENGERS WILL PLEASE REFRAIN—

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Surely there were two mistakes in your Feb. 6 cable from Geneva. Where you say "James Green, a Yale student," you must mean John Yellow from Princeton. YALE BLUE.

MARRIED WOMEN WHO WORK.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—I was much interested in your editorial on married women in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE because it showed a slight beginning of understanding of this problem, which is encouraging. But why not follow through to a logical conclusion? Since there is not enough work to go around and you think certain groups might perhaps be eliminated, or at least the writer of the letter you quote thinks so, why eliminate only women who have husbands to support them?

You say that in some cases when both husband and wife work the wife is more capable than the husband. Then, in such cases, why not eliminate the husband? If industry is to be run on the basis of the need of the worker and not on the basis of his or her efficiency and fitness for the job, why not be consistent and weed out all men and women who have other means of support? We can find plenty of men with independent incomes and with parents able to support them.

You say the unemployed man contends that a married woman whose husband is working could make her living in the home as a wife. By the same logic many a man could make his living in the home as a son or father.

No, Mr. Editor, I am afraid we get into deep water when we try to run industry and business on the basis of need and when we interfere with the right of an individual to choose how he or she will spend time. We shall have to have a planned economy if we are going to determine who shall do what and my imagination does not carry me far enough to presume that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, waiving the flag of rugged individualism, will ever support such a heresy. MARY BARNET GILSON.

CONVENTION APPORTIONMENT.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 6.—The congratulations which Chicago deserves for getting both national political conventions need to be accompanied with direction for distinguishing one convention from another. This is due to the fact that 166 of the Democratic delegates will come from the Republican states of Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin and be able to outvote the combined delegates from the Democratic states of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi, and Louisiana. Pennsylvania alone, with its 76 delegates, will be able to outvote Alabama, Georgia, and South Carolina. So it won't be a truly democratic Democratic convention at all.

The democratic convention will be the Republican one, for the Republicans now base their convention apportionments in important part on the distribution of the party vote in the last preceding election. Perhaps the Democrats will learn eventually to do the same thing and give up their present undemocratic system of allotting representation solely on the basis of membership in congress, which means a heavy over-representation for certain states which never go Democratic. Until this is done the south will need the two-third rule for what little protection it affords—and you in Chicago will need to be told which of two national political conventions is the "Democratic" one when you are playing host to both.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—If the unpaid taxes of 1928 and 1929 and the taxes of 1930 and 1931 are not bonded, look out for plenty of future litigation. CLAUDE TANNEHILL.

HOLD HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETING IN NEW BUILDING

Officers Gather in One of Unfinished Halls.

While workmen hammered away, speeding the completion of the $1,000,000 Chicago Historical Society building at the south end of Lincoln park, the governing members yesterday conducted their annual meeting in one of the unfinished halls.

The new building will be formally opened on Chicago day, Oct. 9, Charles B. Pike, president of the society, announced. He reported that the financial affairs of the society are in good order.

It was recalled that 75 years ago a group of city leaders held a similar meeting in a room on La Salle street for a preliminary organization for the protection of historic data. Two years later the society was incorporated. Through the succeeding years the society's treasurers weathered two fires, although valuable records were destroyed. When the new building is completed the treasures that record and illustrate Chicago's history will be safe in the fireproof modern structure.

Additions to Collections.

Cecil Barnes, secretary, reported that 739 gifts had been added to the historical collections during the last year. This included a collection of Lincolniana from Goose Nest Prairie, Ill., the first home of Lincoln in this state. This group comprises an ox chain, a handmade brass spigot, a try square, and a brush, and was given by Mr. Pike. Mr. Pike also gave the colonial wing a corner cupboard and hanging lamp.

Other additions include a hide trunk, bearing the shipping label of the City hotel built at Lake and State streets in 1848, several valuable prints, the remainder of the Capt. Francis Taylor world war collection, and a collection of needlecraft from Miss Helen Boyden.

Officers Are Reëlected.

Mr. Pike was reëlected president, Earle H. Reynolds and Frank J. Loesch, first and second vice presidents, Cecil Barnes, secretary, and Mr. Reynolds, treasurer.

The new trustees are Vincent Bendix, William McCormick Blair, Charles S. Dewey, George W. Dixon, William R. Folsom, Joy Morton and Joseph T. Ryerson.

CRITICALLY ILL

JOHN DRINKWATER.

LONDON, Feb. 10. — (AP) — John Drinkwater, 49, best known in the United States for his play "Abraham Lincoln," is seriously ill of bronchial pneumonia at his home in Highgate.

Last Saturday he developed influenza. Pneumonia set in and his temperature tonight was 102. The doctor said the playwright's condition was serious, but not dangerous. His temperature rose during the evening and he was said to be "not so well."

His play about Lincoln was to have opened here next Monday, but Mr. Drinkwater was obliged to turn over its direction to Harcourt Williams, cast for the principal rôle, and it was thought tonight that the opening would not be delayed.

News of Mr. Drinkwater's illness came soon after word of the death of Edgar Wallace reached London. The two are among England's outstanding literary figures, another of which was Lytton Strachey, the biographer, who died recently.

INDIANA ROAD OFFICIAL TELLS ECONOMY NEED

Praises Tribune Expose of Illinois' Extravagance

BY HAL FOUST.

Col. Arthur P. Melton of Gary, a widely known engineer and the north state member of the Indiana highway commission, commended THE TRIBUNE yesterday for revealing Illinois' 32 million dollar highway extravagance in building high priced pavement on little traveled routes.

"It is certainly opportune," he said, "for public officials at this time to realize that the same economic principles should prevail in the construction of public improvements as would be applied in our own private enterprises.

"It appears to me that the tendency in public improvements has been to construct expensive improvements, which, of course, make a good showing, but do not serve the greatest number of people."

Different Materials Used.

Indiana, it was pointed out, has used a variety of materials for paving its highway system rather than limiting itself to concrete, as has Illinois. Of the 73,000 miles of Hoosier roads, 69 per cent have some type of surface. Of 97,287 miles of Illinois roads 24 per cent are surfaced.

"In the matter of policies as to construction," said Col. Melton in a recent lecture before the Purdue university road school, "it must be borne in mind that certain roads are primary in their nature and will carry heavy traffic. These should be built of concrete or other high class construction.

"Other roads of secondary nature should be retread, or bituminous mulch, while others of a lower classification could be the lower class oil mat.

"In the prosperous days of 1925, 1926, 1927, and 1928 we became accustomed to lavish expenditures of public money. Federal and state bureaus grew and grew and their demands were constantly for more and more funds.

"Many communities feel they are being cheated if they do not get the most expensive improvement possible. The material propagandists are largely responsible for this condition in that they go out and solicit and promote improvements that cannot possibly be justified by conditions.

"Lavish expenditures are thereby demanded, ostensibly by the community, on roads that can never be even a good secondary route. We are often told they want the highest type or nothing. Many of them will get nothing.

Limit to Public Funds.

"People must realize that there is a limit to even state and federal funds and that these funds must be spent judiciously.

"We will, no doubt, be continually attacked by selfish material interests and trade associations. We will be accused of being partial to cement, black top, gravel, crushed stone, slag, etc., from time to time, but this is not important so long as we favor each of these materials in its proper place.

"We need some legislation which will permit us to conserve our roads and resurface them without having to ask permission of the federal government. We need some wholesome publicity about our work in place of the vicious propaganda that has been the fashion for the last two years."

CUT PRICE TRIALS OF DYERS' INSTITUTE INCREASES VOLUME

The experiment of cutting prices for limited periods on particular classes of work in all cleaning shops affiliated with the Cleaners and Dyers' institute has resulted in a heavy increase of business, Dr. B. M. Squires, arbitrator of the industry, announced last night.

The experiment was first tried last week when 73 cents, plus insurance, instead of $1.25 was charged for cleaning and pressing dresses. According to Dr. Squires, shops reported that 300,000 dresses were cleaned at the cut rate, an increase of from 400 to 1,000 per cent, with an average increase of 500 per cent.

This week the price for cleaning and pressing suits is cut from $1.25 to 78 cents, plus insurance. While no figures as to the number of garments are yet ready, present indications are of an approximate increase of 500 per cent, Dr. Squires said. Next Monday the prices for cleaning suits will return to standard.

"Our present plan," Dr. Squires said, "is for one sales item each week during February, with the possibility that the program may be extended indefinitely. Before a definite program is announced we wish to study the after effects of the sales. It is our hope that much of the business, drawn during the sales from the cut price shops, will be retained as a result of the difference in service."

Jury Praises Policeman for Slaying of Robber

A coroner's jury yesterday commended Policeman Philip Igoe, who shot a bandit dead after the latter had pressed a gun against the policeman's back during an attempted holdup of a National Tea company store at 2458 West 69th street on Tuesday night. The slain robber was Charles Eakins, 30 years old, 6117 Kenwood avenue. Igoe is a relative of State Representative Micahel Igoe and a world war marine. The police are hunting the slain bandit's companion, who escaped.

JURY FREES 3 ON CHARGE OF JAILING DRYS

Jack Karron, doorman of Ralph Capone's defunct Cotton club in Cicero, and Policemen Chris Presmeyer and Baldwin Koch of the Cicero force were found not guilty of conspiracy to interfere with a federal prohibition agent in the performance of his duty by a jury in Federal Judge John P. Barnes' court yesterday. The jury deliberated less than an hour.

The charges were made by Roy M. Budd, a prohibition agent, and Donald Coakley, a Chicago policeman assigned to the prohibition department. Budd and Coakley were watching the Cotton club from their parked car in Cicero on March 4, 1931, when Karron approached. According to the charges, Karron and an "unknown assailant" disarmed Budd and Coakley and held them until Cicero policemen arrived. Then the two prisoners were taken to the Cicero police station and locked up for several hours, they charged.

Leo Klein, defense attorney, in his examination of Karron, brought out that the latter thought Budd and Coakley were robbers and did not believe their story. "The prohibition department should be ashamed for bringing this case to trial," Klein told the jury.

DEMOCRATS MAY SLATE SCHWABA FOR PROSECUTOR

Party Leaders Talk of Shifts in Ticket.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Judge Peter H. Schwaba of the Superior court loomed last night as a possible new candidate for state's attorney on the Democratic organization slate for the April primaries. It depends upon a possible shifting of Senator Thomas J. Courtney from the prosecutorship on the county slate to a place on the state slate for attorney general. It is to be taken under advisement by the state Democratic leaders when they meet tomorrow and Saturday to frame an organization ticket on state offices for the primaries.

JUDGE SCHWABA. [Chambers Photo.]

The possible shifts are linked up with the battle over the governorship. Senator Courtney had been listed for months as the probable choice for attorney general on the state slate, a place for which he ran before. In searching for harmony the county organization put him on the county slate instead for state's attorney, leaving the place of attorney general open on the state slate.

Igoe Refuses to Withdraw.

This was to be offered to Michael L. Igoe, minority leader of the Illinois house of representatives and national committeeman, in case he would withdraw his candidacy for governor. Peace overtures have not brought results. Mr. Igoe said yesterday he is willing enough to talk things over with Mayor A. J. Cermak, but that he will stick in the governorship race to the last ditch. "I could not withdraw at this late date and keep my self-respect," said Mr. Igoe.

In view of the prospects for a battle over the governorship nomination downstate leaders yesterday revived the idea of slating Courtney for attorney general, as originally contemplated, while petitions were prepared for Judge Schwaba for state's attorney in case the shift should go through.

Jonas Supports Swanson.

On the Republican side meanwhile Mr. Swanson's position was strengthened in the opinion of politicians by an announcement from Judge Edgar A. Jonas that he would not run for state's attorney in the Republican primaries, but instead would support Swanson.

Judge Jonas said Swanson is one candidate who "is not obligated to take orders from any political boss."

"Swanson," he said, "can continue to be sincere and fearless in the grave work before him. It must be kept in mind that if in the opinion of some ultra critical persons the state's attorney has not made progress as rapidly as such persons have anticipated, Swanson was the recipient of prevailing conditions which had entrenched themselves during the last four years of the administration of his predecessor.

"An impartial examination will show Mr. Swanson has made an outstanding and constructive record and a courageous fight in the enforcement of our criminal laws.

"I am with him in his endeavor to do away with and drive out of this community the racketeer, gunman, crook and thief, the highway robber and gangster, and other characters who propose to make their living by the gun, strong arm, intimidation, and lawlessness."

Feinberg, Lyle Still in Race.

Other Republicans who have filed for state's attorney are Judge Michael Feinberg, who is on the Crowe-Harding slate, and Judge John H. Lyle. Swanson is indorsed on the Deneen county slate, which is not yet completed.

Word among the Democrats yesterday was that Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court is still the favorite for the governorship nomination.

Petitions placing Senator James Hamilton Lewis in the presidential preferential primaries as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the White House were mailed last night to Springfield for filing.

Rumors were afloat yesterday that the state Supreme court this week may hold the new ward remapping ordinance invalid. At the city hall Ald. James B. Bowler, who had charge of the remap, said in case it was knocked out a new ordinance with changes to make it different from the original would probably be rushed through the council.

VICTIM SIGHTS KIDNAPER; HAS HIM ARRESTED

In September, 1930, Pasquale Tezza, 1013 North 25th street, Melrose Park, was kidnaped by two men in Forest Park. When they threatened to kill him Tezza went to the Oak Park Trust and Savings bank and the First Union Trust bank and withdrew $1,800, his savings. The men accompanied him, took the money, and left, warning him not to inform the police.

Tezza did not report the incident, but he kept his eyes open, and last Saturday he saw one of the men driving an automobile in Melrose Park. He took the number, informed police, and Lieut. Robert Seiter and Sergt. Joseph Salvatore last night arrested Michael Fabbrockino, 57 years old, in his home at 915 South Wood street.

Fabbrockino was taken to the detective bureau.

JURY CONVICTS ALLEN IN FIRST 'GAS' TAX TRIAL

Finds Oil Man Guilty of Defrauding State.

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Day, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory; Harry Cyranek, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory; Stanley Kusek and John Olesky, assault to rob, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Abe Allen, former head of the Midway Refining company of South Holland, was found guilty yesterday by a jury on sixteen counts of defrauding the state of gasoline tax. The verdict was returned before Judge John Prystalski.

Assistant State's Attorneys John Hampton and John O'Hora declared Allen defrauded the state of $50,000 through failure to pay the tax.

The maximum penalty possible on each count is six months in the Bridewell and a $500 fine. Prosecutors Hampton and O'Hora declared they will ask Judge Prystalski to impose on Allen 16 consecutive sentences of six months each, or eight years, and the maximum fine of $8,000 when a motion for a new trial is disposed of on Feb. 19.

Allen testified in his own behalf that he had offered a check for $250 in payment of the tax to Thomas E. McArdle, an investigator for the state department of finance, and that McArdle returned it to him and suggested that he make McArdle's brother a partner in his business.

McArdle testified that he had made no such proposition and that he would not take the check because he was unauthorized to accept tax payments.

PILOT AND PUPIL DIE WHEN PLANE DIVES 1,000 FEET

Reserve Officer Killed in Parachute Leap.

Munice, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Paul S. Peters, a pilot and his student, Jacob Heaton, both of Yorktown, were killed when their plane crashed from a height of about 1,000 feet late this afternoon at Silver Fox airport, five miles west of here. The two were trying out a monoplane, according to mechanics at the airport, and failed to bring it out of a power dive.

Peters was 28 years old and married. He had been instructing at the airport for the past two years. He formerly played football at Bowen High school in Chicago. His parents reside at 9858 Ewing avenue, Chicago. Heaton was 23, and single. The plane was an Aristocrat, manufactured by the General Aircraft Corp., in Cleveland, and was powered by a Warner motor. It had recently been rebuilt.

Reserve Officer Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Lieut. Lee C. Weber, 24, of Davenport, Ia., a West Point graduate and reserve officer of the 36th squadron, Selfridge field, was killed today when he leaped from an airplane at too low an altitude after he became lost in a heavy fog.

Lieut. Weber was one of three pilots who were bringing new Curtis P-6 planes to the field from Buffalo and was within a mile of the landing field when he made his jump.

His companions were forced down near New Baltimore. Weber's parachute opened just as he struck the ground.

Lands Mail Safely.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.] — Blinded by a snowstorm shortly after he flew away from Las Vegas, Nev., bound for Los Angeles with a 150 pound cargo of mail and express aboard his airplane, Jimmy Carson, veteran air mail pilot, landed his ship in the snow about forty miles southwest of Las Vegas, according to word received at the air line's local office.

Carson's landing gear and part of one wing were damaged but his mail load was safe and he was uninjured.

Listerine gargle

checks the progress of colds..often prevents them entirely

Once again the power of full strength Listerine to ward off infection, by means of its swift, safe, germicidal action, is revealed by a series of unusual tests.

Bear the results of these tests in mind. They point to better health, greater vitality, and freedom from pain and discomfort.

Between November 15, 1930 and February 1, 1931, 102 persons in normal health were kept under medical observation. Thirty-four of them, designated as "controls," did not gargle Listerine. Thirty-four gargled with full strength Listerine twice a day. The remaining thirty-four gargled five times daily. Now see what happened:

One-half as many colds for garglers

The "controls" (those who did not use Listerine) contracted twice as many colds as those who gargled Listerine twice daily. Moreover, their colds lasted three times as long and were four times as severe.

Now let us compare the "controls" with those who gargled Listerine five times a day:

The "controls" had three times as many colds, which were four times as severe and lasted four times as long.

Results every time

Similar tests conducted over periods ranging from four weeks to four and one-half months show equally convincing results.

In a four-week test those who did not gargle Listerine contracted nine times as many colds as those who did gargle. In addition, the colds lasted eleven times as long. In a four and one-half month test those who did not gargle Listerine contracted three times as many colds as those who did gargle. And the colds lasted five times as long.

Kills germs, yet safe

What is the secret of Listerine's success used this way? The answer is its ability to kill germs in the fastest time without harm to the delicate tissues of the mouth. Used as a gargle, full strength Listerine reduces bacteria on the surfaces of the mouth, 98%. At the end of two hours, a reduction of between 75% and 80% is still evident. Ask for Listerine and see that you get it. Its results are certain and its action is safe. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

GUM-DIPPED CORDS

The Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process transforms the cotton cords into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against internal friction and heat, greatly increasing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer tire life.

TWO EXTRA CORD PLIES UNDER THE TREAD

This is a patented construction, and the two extra cord plies are so placed that you get 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and 26% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.

Quiet, Safe, Long-Wearing Non-Skid Tread

Tough, thick rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Effective non-skid gives greater traction and safe, quiet performance.

BIG ARMY BOMBER LOST AT SEA IN U. S. WAR GAMES

Plane Sinks, Men Rescued in Raid on Fleet.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Feb. 10.—Aerial and submarine warfare are the major tactics revealed so far in the efforts of the blue fleet to take the Hawaiian islands in the American joint army and navy maneuvers. The battleships are far out and helpless against the shore batteries of the defenders.

The perils of this war game were shown today when a $150,000 army bombing plane developed engine trouble and was lost at sea during an air raid on the airplane carriers attached to the blue fleet. The plane sank but Lieut. Lloyd H. Hull and Privates Hancock and Deisler of the crew were rescued by a boat from the plane carrier Saratoga. The men were in the water ten minutes.

Six navy airmen were rescued at sea late yesterday when a seaplane made a forced landing. The plane was abandoned after Lieut. C. J. O'Connor, Chief Aviation Pilot O'Donnell and four privates were rescued.

Spectacular Air Battle.

A spectacular air battle occurred early this morning when ninety blue planes left their carriers to attack the army headquarters at Schofield barracks. No casualties were reported. The personnel at the barracks took to emergency hiding places. Black planes met the blues, but the outcome of the battle has not been determined by the umpires.

It is figured that the blacks lost at least five bombing planes during their raid on the aircraft carriers, but they succeeded in releasing ten 2,000 pound bombs on the ships. This "constructively" cut the decks of the Saratoga and Lexington, and the planes of the fleet, unable to land there, had to go to a hostile field, not having enough gas to get to Hilo, where the fleet has set up a base.

In real conflict the defense forces think both of the carriers would have been badly crippled, although not sunk, as they are built in compartments and are able to take a lot of bombing.

More Submarines Needed.

This warfare has shown that the defense forces need more aircraft as well as more submarines. The island is still intact from invasion and the submarines are holding off the foe. The mine fields have not as yet been touched.

It is expected that a decisive action of some kind will take place tonight or tomorrow, but the army is already convinced that it can hold the island.

"We would undertake to defend the island against 50,000 men, even though they got on the beaches," said Maj. Gen. A. J. Bowley, in command of the army division.

The maneuvers have brought out a high percentage of Hawaii's reserve army officers and many prominent civilians in khaki. They have been absorbed into various organizations as regulars. Among the second lieutenants called out are many Japanese and Chinese born on the island. New groups of these orientals are constantly being absorbed into the military system through the R. O. T. C., which is compulsory in the schools here. Some of these corps are made up, in a great majority, of the Japanese race.

WOMAN UNABLE TO GIVE BOND IN THEFT CASE

Miss Katherine Carroll, 37 years old, who for more than 10 years was a trusted employé of the Hopkins-Benedict company, railway supplies, 80 East Jackson boulevard, appeared before Judge James F. Fardy yesterday in the Felony court and was held to the grand jury on a charge of forgery. She was unable to supply a $5,000 bond and was remanded to the county jail.

Sought since July, 1930, Miss Carroll was arrested Tuesday night at her home, 492 Melrose street, and accused of embezzling $52,000 over a period of several years from the concern for which she had worked. Constant C. Hopkins, president of the company, swore out the specific complaint yesterday, charging that Miss Carroll raised a check from $12 to $612.37.

Although the last city directory listed her name as secretary-treasurer of the company, Mr. Hopkins said that she had been employed as his private secretary.

Miss Carroll, interviewed out of court, said that the money shortage would not be more than $14,000, and that she had not taken any money for her own use. She is represented by Attorney Joseph P. Power.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MILLS CONFIRMED BY SENATE AS HEAD OF U. S. TREASURY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Without the formality of a record vote the senate today confirmed the nomination of Ogden L. Mills, formerly undersecretary, as secretary of the treasury in place of Andrew W. Mellon, and of Arthur A. Ballantine, former asistant secretary, as undersecretary of the treasury.

There was no debate upon the nominations themselves, but Senator George W. Norris, radical Republican of Nebraska, seized the occasion to toss a few barbs in the direction of Mr. Mellon and his new ambassadorship to Great Britain. Explaining that ambassadors always had their communications written for them and their actions dictated by the government at home, Senator Norris declared that, except as to social requirements, any bright senate page would make "as good an ambassador as the greatest secretary of the treasury since Hamilton."

"What a comedown," he declared. "I can't help but say, 'poor Andy.'"

Former Ambassador Dawes, said the senator, was reported to have left his knee breeches in London for Mr. Mellon's use.

"What a spectacle," said Senator Norris, "poor Andy standing on his thin pipestems in Dawes' breeches in the center of the greatest diplomatic institution in the world. Like the benefactor who can make two blades of grass grow where one grew before, I imagine Mr. Mellon will be able to get two pairs of breeches out of Gen. Dawes' one."

TURKEY TO ENTER LEAGUE TO PUSH ISLAMIC POWER

Aims at Hegemony of Near East.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Turkey is planning to become a member of the league of nations as the culminating step in well advanced plans to organize an Islamic hegemony of the near east, it was learned today.

The bustle of Arabian and British politicians has advanced plans to restore the caliphate, remove the mandates over Syria and Palestine, and pave the way for entrance of the entire brood of Mohammedan countries into the league under the wing of President Kemal Pasha. The latter will reconsider his position, it is believed, and agree to enroll if freed from the isolation which has always scared him away.

Watch Tariff Meet.

Diplomatic circles of Ankara, Jerusalem, Damascus, Bagdad, Mecca, and Cairo are watching the gathering just assembled at Jerusalem ostensibly to discuss tariffs between Palestine and Egypt. Syria, Trans-Jordania, Nejd and Iraq also are represented.

Egypt has sent Sidky Pasha to press plans to establish Egyptian independence, which would enable her to become a member of the Islamic confederacy. Great Britain and France are reported willing to relinquish their Palestinian and Syrian mandates under guarantees similar to those given by Iraq, and Kemal Pasha is further understood to have sounded out King Nadir Shah of Afghanistan on the proposal to enter the league, with favorable results.

Mecca May Be "Vatican."

With the scheme of recreating the caliphate revived, it is hoped to induce Ibn Saud, king of Hejaz, to allow the use of Mecca as the Moslem's Vatican. Otherwise Jerusalem is favored. It is also proposed to rotate the choice of caliph among Mohammedan powers. Kemal Pasha's interest was gained by giving assurance that the creation of a powerful country by merging some of the smaller nations of the near east, which would threatens his borders, is not contemplated.

Meanwhile, for the first time since 1914, Turkey has completed an arms transaction with the British. She bought 150,000 Lee Medford rifles, which were replaced in the British army at the beginning of the war by another type, and 1,500,000 rounds of ammunition and supplies for a Constantinople shell factory. The rifles are still in perfect condition and are fitted with the latest type of sights.

FRANCE DISPUTES GERMAN CLAIM OF AMOUNT PAID

Difference Between Sums Is 47 Billion Marks.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A comprehensive analysis of German reparation payments, designed to refute German claims recently published here, was issued by the French government tonight.

Based on reparations commission documents and world bank figures, the statement said Germany has paid the allies 20,769,900,000 gold reichsmarks instead of 67,673,000,000 reichsmarks, as set forth by the reich.

[The current quotation of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York lists the reichsmark at .23695.]

[In figures released in New York a month ago Germany set forth that she had paid the allied governments 53,900,000,000 reichsmarks, of which sum it was asserted France had received 20,000,000,000 reichsmarks.]

Great Difference in Figures.

These figures represent a difference of almost 47,000,000,000 gold reichsmarks. The government's communique, which sets the German, French and reparations commission figures side by side, was considered here to be the most exhaustive study of payments, both in cash and in kind, since the world war.

France claimed that from the total paid she had received 8,199,700,000 reichsmarks and that after deducting from this legally authorized sums for military occupation, etc., she had left only 5,213,200,000 reichsmarks for actual rehabilitation of the war damaged area. This cost was placed at about 103,000,000,000 francs, compared with 31,200,000,000 francs available.

Salient differences between the German and French figures lay in the pre-Dawes plan of evaluations of ceded property and in the inclusion of items not recognized by the reparations commission.

Disarmament Is Included.

The German figures showed 8,500,000,000 gold marks paid for "military disarmament and the sunken fleet at Scapa Flow" and 3,500,000,000 reichsmarks for "industrial disarmament."

The French reply asserted that these items are not represented by payments ever received by the allies. Other items which they refuse to recognize were 1,200,000,000 reichsmarks for work done by prisoners of war, the cost of certain interallied commissions and the aid given refugees.

The two countries are nearest to agreement on the amount paid under the Young plan, the difference there being 3,000,000 reichsmarks. The calculations were brought up to July 1, 1931, when the moratorium on payments began.

ROCKFORD NATIONAL BANK IS CLOSED; HAD 5 MILLION DEPOSITS

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Rockford National bank, with deposits of $5,152,134, one of the largest banks in the state outside of Chicago, was closed today by its directors. The directors said the action was taken to conserve the assets.

The closing of the bank does not affect the Rockford Trust company, affiliated with the bank, and located in the same building.

On Dec. 31, 1931, the last national bank call, the Rockford National bank showed total assets of $7,569,436. Its capital stock was listed at $750,000; surplus at $750,000, and undivided profits at $210,608.88. Of the deposits $3,031,623.43 were demand and $2,120,511.56 were time. H. Stanton Burpee was president of the bank and W. F. Woodruff chairman of the board. It was the largest bank in Rockford.

Bonnie Bank Closes.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The State Bank of Bonnie, eight miles south of Mount Vernon, closed yesterday.

ENDS LIFE WITH GUN IN HOME.

The body of Andrew Waksonerlski, 62 years old, despondent because he was out of a job and his wife was ill at the county hospital, was found beside an open gas jet in the kitchen of his home at 1445 West Erie street yesterday.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

The First Choice of the Department Stores

One good test of a newspaper's ability to produce results for advertisers is the volume of department store advertising which it publishes over a period of years.

Consider:

The department stores of New York sell almost everything to almost everybody.

To maintain their large volume of sales they must draw customers from all parts of the city and suburban area, every day.

They get their customers by announcing their offerings, by quoting their merchandise and their prices in the local newspapers.

They advertise consistently, using most of the local newspapers day after day, week after week, month after month. They advertise for quick, tangible results. Today's announcements must produce tomorrow's sales.

They have a day-by-day, on-the-spot contact with the people of this market and the newspapers published here. When a newspaper pulls, they know it. When it pulls more than others, they know it. And naturally they advertise most in the local newspaper that brings them the best results consistently.

For more than five years the department stores have placed more space in The Sun (a six-day newspaper) than in any other newspaper in New York (including the seven-day newspapers).

In 1931 they placed 7,200,645 agate lines of advertising in The Sun.

This was a gain of 13.1 per cent over 1930.

More than that, it was a gain of 17.1 per cent over the banner year of 1929.

It was the largest volume of department store advertising that The Sun or any other New York newspaper has ever published in a single year.

It was 22 per cent greater than the department store advertising placed in the second New York newspaper, a seven-day newspaper.

It was 47.2 per cent greater than the volume of the third New York newspaper, another seven-day newspaper.

What's the moral? The collective advice of the department stores is sound advice. It is based on years of severe testing. If you are making or selling good merchandise and want the people of the great New York Market to buy it, take the advice of the New York department stores and put most of your advertising in The Sun.

The Charming Cheat

By Clara Sharpe Hough

SYNOPSIS.

Ricardo Dane visits New York in search of his aunt, Miss Filomena Stanley, his mother's half-sister. Ricardo's mother had recently died and left him heir to the ranch and mountain land in Romeu valley, California, where he had spent most of his life. He intended to find his sole remaining near relative and bring her back to Romeu valley. He had understood this to be his mother's dying wish. His aunt, an actress, had been out of favor with the family, although his mother had sent her checks.

Ricardo locates a Filomena Stanley, but instead of an aged aunt he finds a beautiful young aunt. She is living in a Bohemian studio with a Follies girl, named Frances. Ricardo readily believes this lovely creature, who acknowledges the relationship. His arrival was fortunate for Filomena, who had been out of work for weeks and was in a sad state financially. Ricardo showers her with gifts and moves her into a better apartment. He moves into the same building on another floor. Webster Sutton, a college friend of Ricardo's, visits New York. He and Eunice Greenway, a girl from home, who is studying in New York, are entertained by Ricardo and his aunt. Eunice is a friend of Ricardo's fiancée, Rachel Beatty. She heartily disapproves of Filomena. Web believes his friend is being trimmed and, before he leaves, tells him so. Ricardo learns that Web was right when Filomena is called home, due to the illness of her father. He goes with her and brings her back to New York to have his revenge. After another search, Ricardo finds his real aunt. She is acting in a Broadway production. Ricardo takes Filomena to the city hall, where they obtain a marriage license. His plan is to have her prepare for the wedding and leave her waiting at the church, while he'll be on his way back to Romeu. They see the play his aunt is appearing in.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

A LAST ESCAPADE.

"Filomena, I'm practically starving. Come in here while I eat waffles, at least," said Ricardo.

"All right. You're always starving. I wonder if you ever had anything to eat out in California."

Filomena succumbed to the sight of hot waffles and honey, and they spent an hour in the hole-in-the-wall coffee shop where they had so often had after-theater bites.

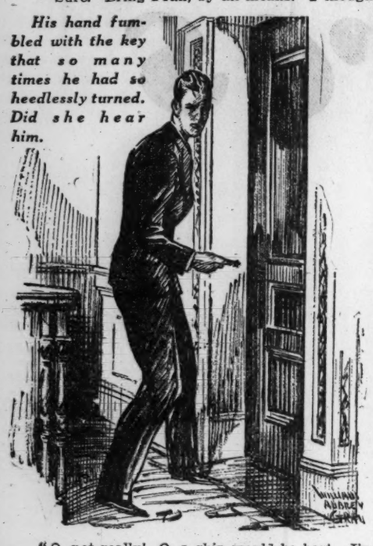
In the middle of waffles Filomena looked up to ask:

"Fran can come, can't she?"

"Come where?"

"To my wedding, darling. I know you're not wild about her, but I—"

"Sure. Bring Fran, by all means. I thought probably you'd want Fran to stand up with you or something."



His hand fumbled with the key that so many times he had so heedlessly turned. Did she hear him.

"Filomena grew radiant. "She'd love it, Ricardo. You think of everything. You——"

"Great executives always think of everything. I suppose you'd like to be married in a church, would you not?"

"I think so. I wish—well, I guess I don't. It wouldn't be much fun to have Aunt Kay here, and father wouldn't come anyway. The next thing I have to a relation is Fran.

He went with her to her door, where they had a whispered brief conference. The house seemed quiet and sleeping.

"One more good party tomorrow night, Fil," he urged. "Slick up in your black dress and we'll dance at Jeannette's. Then I'll get everything fixed up for next day, or day after, or some time——"

"Of course, really, darling." He suddenly hugged her, "or we'll go on a ship."

"O, not really! O, a ship would be best. I've always wished—"

"Sweet." He hugged her again. "You are so sweet and funny. I'd like to take you for that week-end tonight. I'd like to—"

"Got to go in, Dicky, or I'll be asleep standing here." She fumbled with her key. "Good night—did you say you love me?"

"I'm saying it now;" he was kissing her again. "Don't go in, darling, don't go in—"

"My feet are cold," she explained, bringing him to earth with such a practical thud that he laughed, and with one more good night kiss ran down the stairs.

Letting himself in at his own door, he picked up the letters that had been thrust under the sill by the obliging Edward. One was from Rachel. He couldn't very well read it now. He'd have to read it tomorrow.

He had determined to see the thing through. But what cold-blooded nerve it took, after all. He could half believe it was all true when he was with her; he could almost believe in a future with her as she must be believing in it. He could almost forget that part of the morrow's important business was getting his own reservation on the Century for the next day, to take him away from her.

It would be almost pleasant if his nerve would not hold out, he thought. Pleasant to surrender to temptation [Filomena was temptation personified, no doubt about that], to forget everything at home and stay here with her. Why not? Yes, why not send a telegram to Rachel. "I have married my aunt."

He smiled grimly and tossed the letters on the table. Tomorrow would be Filomena's, at any rate. Tomorrow—

But why not tonight?

Must he go over that again and again and yet again? Yet, why not tonight? He opened the door, hesitating for a moment.

He could go back up the stairs. He had his latchkey. He could go back up the stairs, and she would come, startled, to her bedroom door, too lovely to be resisted, too tender toward him to say no. He knew, suddenly, that this was one of the things written in the stars for him long ago.

Stepping quietly and guiltily, as though the eyes of the whole apartment house were upon him, he reached the fourth floor and approached her door. His hand fumbled with the key that so many times he had heedlessly turned. Did she hear him? Was she perhaps wondering why he had not come before? He opened the door a crack.

A shaft of light from the bedroom fell across the darkened living room floor. Perhaps she was waiting for him. Perhaps she knew, with that intuition that lovers carry with them like some secret power hidden from the rest of the world, what was in his mind because she loved him. She was waiting, like a flower waiting to be plucked, perched on the edge of the blue taffeta bedspread.

He opened the door a little further.

The silence of the waiting room was shattered by a voice that he knew only too well.

"Then I said to him," Frances was saying, in tones that could be heard far down the corridor; "I said to him, 'Who do you think you're talking to, brother?' I said. I said, 'Let Mr. Moses just once hear that kind of language around here,' I said, 'and I'll bet you know who gets his walking papers,' I said. Where're the cigarets, Fil?"

"Out in the living room," responded the sweetest voice in the world. "Table, I think."

Into the golden shaft of light from the door stepped Frances, lightly clad in a skimpy, or a scanty, or a panty, whatever it was they called them, her hair tousled, her penetrating voice continuing without pause or punctuation the narrative of what she had said to him to put him in his place.

Ricardo closed the door as quietly and as guiltily as he had opened it, and sped down to his own bed.

. . . . . .

Ricardo's heart suddenly did unaccountable things all the way up into his throat and down into his knees when Filomena, in her golden wrap and silver slippers, snuggled against him in the taxi. Throwing caution to the winds, he determined that tonight no one mattered except Filomena.

Filomena loved him! She said so.

Across the tiny table beside the dance floor at Chez Jeannette he let himself adore her, her hair lying bright as gold across her forehead, her shoulders milky white against her black lace frock. Nowhere in all the world had there ever been any one like her.

He obtained whisky and soda, and Filomena dallied with a chicken sandwich while he told her that she looked like a wedding dress now, two or three wedding dresses.

"O, I've got a wedding dress," she tossed her head. "You'll like it."

"And a—what kind of a necklace is it, baize?"

"No, simple. Topaz. I haven't got that yet. I haven't found just what I want. I'll look again tomorrow. While you're ordering the minister and the flowers."

"Sounds like a funeral."

"Not at all. You're supposed to buy me an orchid to wear on my new dress. All my life I've wanted orchids. I think if I'm going to be married I might—"

"Darling, I'll get you a ton of orchids tonight if you'll—if you want them. Do you?"

"Of course not. I want some for my wedding."

"I'll make a note on my cuff. But it doesn't seem as if you should have to wait. Why not have an orchid tonight? Just one?"

"What I want is to dance," she said.

They danced on the crowded little floor, and he remembered how they had danced here before.

There was the time Web and Eunice had been here, and Web had had to eat the anchovies, and Eunice had been so sulky on the way home.

There was the time Frances had found them here and he had been furious because he did not like the half drunk college boy who was spending money like water on everything Frances fancied. How he had hated to see Filomena dancing with him.

That had been before he had realized how much he loved her. That had been when he thought she was part of his family and there was no danger of losing her. Now that he knew it was possible to lose her—

Baby Lacks Warm Clothing.

"My nine months old baby has no winter clothing and it is hard to keep him warm with the few thin garments we have. My husband is in need of winter underwear and a pair of shoes, siz 8, while I need dresses, size 18, and a pair of shoes, size 6. I don't care in what condition the things may be, we need them so badly.

If this baby is to continue to thrive he must be kept warm and comfortable and this is almost impossible without adequate clothing. Have you any heavy garments for the child or his parents?

Cities Neglect Future Needs in Shade Trees

BY PAUL POTTER.

An awakening of civic interest in maintaining valuable shade trees and organizing communities to secure constant replanting is needed in nearly every section of the country. This is the contention of Dr. E. Porter Felt, noted tree research specialist of Stamford, Conn.

Dr. Felt made known yesterday the results of a state-wide survey in Massachusetts by the state forestry association in which it was found that one-third of the towns in the commonwealth make no appropriation for shade trees. Ninety-six towns in the state were thus found to have no civic interest in shade tree conditions.

"The average annual appropriation of 168 towns, based on the three years preceding the survey, was $907," Dr. Felt reported. "There was an average of 45 miles of streets and roads per town on which trees were or might be planted. Thus but ten cents a tree was being allowed for care of existing trees or planting new ones."

It would take 180 years to bring up the full planting program of the state's municipalities at the rate they are going, the association found. And since the average roadside tree probably lives less than 100 years under present conditions, few communities in the nation are looking to the future adequately protected so far as shade trees are concerned.

No better time exists than in these days when able men are in need of work for citizens or communities to take stock of their trees. Trimming can be done in the next few weeks to good advantage. So long as frost remains in the ground or the trees are dormant, those that need moving should be transplanted without delay.

Nurseries and city lot owners also find this a good time to take stock of next spring's needs of small trees. It is an ideal time for ambitious and capable men to solicit such business among property owners, and for the property owners themselves to formulate group action loking to the economy of planning now for future shade tree needs.

Bells of Cathedral End Mardi Gras as Lenten Season Opens

New Orleans, La., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The bells of St. Louis cathedral today called the faithful to repentance and drove the spirit of Mardi Gras back to the land of fantasy long before dawn scattered the mist from the Mississippi river.

At 11:55 last night Jackson square—Place d'Armes—seethed with humanity hilariously alive with the carnival urge which makes old men do childish things.

Five minutes later the bells of the old church boomed their warning that the Lenten season had arrived.

Masks were lifted before the first notes died away, and the Mardi Gras was closed officially in the old quarter which follows rigidly the rule that the carnival must be forsaken the minute Lent arrives.

The new section across Canal street blazed with lights and vibrated with raucous noises far into the morning. But the Vieux Carre, where Mardi Gras was born, whose haunting courtyards hide the secrets of more than two centuries of conquest and victory, sentiment and passion, heeded the warning of St. Louis that the time had come for sackcloth and ashes.

Association of Commerce Assails Bill for U. S. Dole

The La Follette-Costigan bill, pending in the United States senate, which would provide federal aid for the unemployed, was attacked yesterday in communications sent by the Chicago Association of Commerce to Senators Otis F. Glenn and James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois. The bill, which would involve appropriations of $125,000,000 for the current year and $250,000,000 for the next year for state and local relief, is slowing up contributions to relief funds in many communities, the association said. The association declared that relief work was a local concern rather than a burden for the federal government.

Anne Green Turns Light Story Into Tragedy, Fools Readers

New Novel "Marietta" Lacks Genuine Lightness of Two Former Successes.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Marietta," by Anne Green. [Dutton.] Published today.

ANNE GREEN'S success with "The Selby's," and "Reader, I Married Him" was, I venture to say, the result of man's delight in gayety unmarred by anything but the most sheep in wolf's clothing kind of tragedy. Any snarls and ugly fangs of unhappiness that were heard from the characters or seen in the paragraphs devoted to their affairs proved to be off stage noises from smiling household pets or papier maché jaws which could not even gnash, let alone mangle.

Anne Green pictured gay human beings in the inconsequential business of being gay. And she did it with such conviction that her readers found life less unendurable and—because humans are natural born missionaries—they hastened to share with others their rediscovery of one of the ingredients of the elixir of life. [When that beverage is finally entirely discovered it will be found to contain at least one part of humor, you may be sure of that.]

Loses Opportunity to Strike at Slump.

Anne Green concerned with utterly frivolous people pursuing their utterly frivolous ways is a boon. If "Marietta" had been like its predecessors she might have been responsible for a slump, however slight, in the depression. But "Marietta" isn't like its predecessors. For 276 pages it is—you think it is only a slightly more caricatured picture of the same sort of unimportant, amusedly class conscious southern expatriates in the city of Paris, France. You feel sure that the tragedy is like the tragedy in the two novels which preceded it, as living and breathing as a well stuffed rag doll, or a dragon with sparks induced from its red painted nostrils by a flint and wheel. "Ha-ha" you snicker at the mention of Marietta's spiritual throes—"that Green girl can't fool ME with her didoes about Marietta's broken heart." But you are fooled after all. On page 278 right out of a clear sky all of the foolery and fun and gayety turns into the one thing that you can't laugh off [and I don't mean taxes].

Either Miss Green has fooled her public for 277 pages or she is fooling them for that last half page before "The End" so actually as well as symbolically appears. It is very bad novel writing, I think, to dangle a bunch of sweet-smelling hay in front of readers to keep them jogging contentedly along only to lead them into a trap door that dumps them to the black sub-basement. "Marietta" is certain to make readers cross at being hoodwinked. It will probably add enormously to the amount of baldness among critics. It is the kind of book that makes us tear in our despair great handfuls of hair from our scalps.

Soldier of Fortune Story Rings True.

There's no such fooling of the reader in "Memoirs of a Soldier of Fortune" [Harrison Smith], also published today. The author, Gen. Rafael de Nogales is a modern D'Artagnan. He knows it, the reader believes it, and there is no breaking of faith about it. There actually are soldiers of fortune today, and the author of this autobiography makes it no less a thrilling adventure than the fictionists made it. If his memoirs sound like fiction at times . . . well, it's one of the axioms of life that the whole truth about anybody's life is much stranger than any fiction that can possibly be invented.

Sir Oliver Lodge's Autobiography.

There is also published today—as contrast—Sir Oliver Lodge's autobiography called "Past Years" [Scribner's]. The actual physical adventures of the author have nothing of the picturesque quality that the events of the life of Gen. Nogales had, but his adventures into the jungles of research, his penetration of the unexplored regions of human thought, his soldiering in the war of science is a saga of another sort. Sir Oliver Lodge is best—that is, most popularly—known for his findings in the realm of the supernatural and the mystic. His interest in spiritualism has put him on the front page of many newspapers, while the more vital and important adventures of his life have become records in the scarcely read pages of scientific journals. His adventure with life is the theme of "Past Years" as much as his adventure with death.

Artist from Japan Shows His Work Here

Hori, Leading Exponent of Realism, in City.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An unusually picturesque exhibition opened yesterday in the Allerton House galleries. The paintings illustrate Japanese art and particularly stress the work of Tetsuzan Hori; the paintings are a part of the group shown in the last annual Imperial Exhibition in Tokio, an exhibition entrance to which is the greatest honor that can be conferred upon a Japanese artist.

Tetsuzan Hori comes to Chicago from New York, where he has had several successful exhibits. Detroit has also seen his work, and from Chicago he intends to go to St. Louis and then further west on his road back to Japan. He is perhaps the principal exponent of the Shijo school of painting, a school based upon the values of realism, that was founded about 150 years ago by Okyo in the bohemian quarter of the town of Kyoto.

Hori has always been interested in bird life and particularly in the wild duck. He started his training as a painter at the age of 9 or 10, but his teachers would not permit him to paint for the following eighteen years, they having kept him busy watching and studying ducks. Then when he was allowed to take up his brushes he devoted another eight years to the study of the Mandarin duck alone and when he had learned all he could about that duck he spent the next eleven years in study of wild duck. This brings him to an approximate age of 47 years and only recently has he felt himself the master of his art.

With our hit and miss training, and our lax enforcement of concentration, the rigid discipline of Hori is worthy of consideration. His paintings are delightful, decorative, true, and beautiful. He paints on silk and uses paints made from minerals nearly entirely. His white, for example, is made from crushed oyster shell and most of his colors are derived from malachite imported from China or Africa. His pictures of ducks are superb and his paintings of little birds with cherry blossoms, or narcissi, or leaves, are exquisite.

The Japanese consul, Yoshio Muto, will introduce the artist tomorrow afternoon and Mr. Kenneth Foster, authority on oriental art, will interpret Mr. Hori's work. Mr. Hori will demonstrate his painting technique. There is a general invitation to attend and the hours of the tea are from 4 to 6 o'clock. The exhibition is well worth seeing.

Exhibit Paintings of Birds as Study of Human Nature

New York, Feb. 10.—[U.P.]—A woman who wanted to paint because she thought birds reflected human attributes and frailties, and because she was president of the National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, is having the first public exhibition of her work this week.

She is Mrs. Berta N. Briggs, tall, impressive, and with graying hair, and the 34 pictures which comprise her exhibit were produced during the last two years.

Mrs. Briggs, who is a native of St. Paul, used to do small woodcuts and it was in recognition of her talent in this branch of art that she was made a member of the association she now heads. Two years ago she became national president and the organization has prospered materially as well as artistically.

Having become its leader, Mrs. Briggs got to thinking one day that the avocation of carving woodblocks hardly comes under the classification of "painters and sculptors." So she gathered some tools and went to work. Her exhibition, already lauded by the metropolitan critics, is the result of that decision.

She traveled quite a bit to do water colors of lively French towns, hill cities of southern Europe, villages on cliffs, medieval monasteries on Dalmatian islands, and peasant industry in Brittany. But her sense of humor—her most individual trait—cropped up in her bird pictures.

She sits for hours in the great outdoor aviary in Bronx park, studying ducks and cormorants, viewing these birds much as Anatole France contemplated the human traits of the penguin.

"Many artists," she said today, "paint animals, but animals always seemed to me to be so serious minded about everything. Birds are more lively, more vain, more fickle in their actions. They remind me so much of many people I know."

So she painted birds. One full bosomed, smug creature is called "Stuffed Shirt," and another, seemingly without a friend in the world, is labeled "Mourning Becomes Cormorants."

New Fashions in Tweeds and Evening Wear

This stunning suit of rough weave tweed in which Madge Evans is pictured consists of a one-piece dress worn with a hip length jacket collared with fox collar . . . accessories are brown and tan.

Hedda Hopper wears a princess gown with matching coat of "Blue Heaven" brocade and trimmed with blue fox fur.

Women Tell What Clothes Come First

Society Folk Give Views on Reduced Budget.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

SUPPOSE, my pretty lady, some evil fairy were to wave her malign wand over the family fortune or at least over the generous clothes budget father has allowed for season upon season past. What would you nominate for the Hall of Indispensables—a hand crafted woolen sport dress, a dashing "canotier" and that, by the way, is the 1932 version of the "cloche," or a string of luster pearls?

This is the question I propounded to almost two score of the town's fashionables. To date the "all around" town coat is away in the lead with flying colors although a suit to walk in, live in, and travel in has at least 20 per cent of the 40 chalked up for its side. Ten per cent have favored the strict sports costume while a dozen smart young Chicagoans say "life just wouldn't be worth living" without an evening gown, especially one with a jacket to slip on when a bit "ennui" or overdressed.

Smart Street Clothes for Afternoon Wear.

One of the interesting facts in all this questioning is the discovery that society has done a complete "round about face" on anything fussy. The afternoon dress is no longer a necessity, for our chic townsfolk will wear their smartly tailored street clothes on any occasion that doesn't demand a formal gown.

"And this is true. Dressy afternoon things have come and gone," commented Mrs. William Mitchell Blair yesterday who speaks with authority as adviser to one of the city's upper avenue shops. "When it comes to the 'indispensable' in my own case, I guess I would say an evening gown for there's nothing I enjoy more—with one of the new cape jackets, of course, thrown carelessly about my shoulders." A gesture indicated the manner.

Then having answered the moot question, Mrs. Blair proceeded to outline a budget on which a young woman can dress these days and dress well.

"Of course, it is true that women generally have adopted a clothes budget, and, in some instances, it has been quite curtailed," she explained. "But just try to find one whose ambition for chic clothes has been crushed. Even if finances do not permit her to pack off to Paris, she'll have interesting things."

Budget Suggestions for Spring Outfit.

For $500 Mrs. Blair says that any young woman can have a spring wardrobe smart enough to go anywhere. She tops it with an untrimmed suit of soft wool and a sweater blouse to match or contrast. Then a semi-dress coat with a matching silk dress—"sort of an ensemble," she remarked. One more street coat is included, one that is ultra smart and can be worn over most anything tailored, including the suit.

"Then there must be two evening dresses, one in dull black crêpe, and an evening cape," she went on. "A light woolen ensemble for the country with perhaps a leather jacket, two tennis dresses, and a jersey will complete a fashionable wardrobe for any one."

In each one of the fashion notes Mrs. Blair mentioned, simplicity was sounded as the keynote of the 1932 mode. New as it seems to be, it's really only a revival, like the return of an old masterpiece that passes through a period of eclipse. Didn't the Grecian women wear flowing robes and the ladies of the 17th century almost approach the peasants in their severity? Then the coarsely woven materials we are going into ecstasies about right now—wasn't it the Egyptian peasants who designed them about 500 years before Christ?

What Clothes Come First with Others.

"Just give me one of those woolens fashioned into a smart suit and I will be perfectly happy," said Miss Betty Scriven when questioned about the "indispensables." She agreed with Miss Martha Fitts that a gown made formal or informal in a split second by slipping a jacket on or off is also awfully necessary." Miss Fitts would choose a town coat with a matching silk dress for tailored wear if her wardrobe were limited.

The popular Dodd twins, Helen and Lois, voted for sport coats in a rough woolen—alike, of course, and who wouldn't notice them for certainly there is a fascination in twinship that never wears off. It must be just about the most fun there is, unless, perhaps, its being triplets.

Miss Elizabeth Rumsey, to whom a career is an old story, named a smart light weight wool dress tailored enough for business and dressy enough to go out to dinner. And Miss Jessica Hambleton who, by the way, left yesterday for Arizona, said, "An evening gown, indeed, to make life really worth while."

Mayor Walker and Wales Lead Way to New Styles for Men

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York and the prince of Wales are the two living examples of Beau Brummel who have done more than any other individuals to influence the trend of men's clothing, the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers were told at the annual spring style meeting at the Ambassador hotel today.

Spring and summer styles were indicated as follows:

Slacks, a type of sports trousers with high rise, high waist band and side buckles will almost entirely displace knickers.

A large percentage of the linen suits sold will have one pair of golf slacks.

Solid colors will be favored most, all shades of plain gray leading. Tan effects, dark and red brown and pin checks will also be popular.

Two pants suits will not be as popular.

Twenty-nine dollars will be the most popular price for suits.

Bolder patterns will predominate in golf hose and sweaters.

Maharajah's American Wife Starts for Egypt

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 10.—The former Nancy Ann Miller, wife of the former maharajah of Indore, left here last night for Vancouver, B. C., from where she will go by train to New York. She was expected to arrive in New York Monday en route to Cairo, Egypt, to join her husband and two daughters. The maharanee visited here with her parents and her grandfather, Louis Schaeffer.

U. of C. Co-Eds Rehearse for Annual Musical Show

Rehearsals have been started at the University of Chicago for "All's Fair," the annual revue produced by Mirrow, women's dramatic organization. The revue will be presented Feb. 26 and 27 in Mandel hall on the university campus.

Old Time Movie Stars Paid Well for Minor Parts

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 10.—Just for old time's sake many a one time star or a famous director is being paid $50 a day for doing bits of acting or supplementary work for which ordinary extras and assistants would receive $7.50 and $10.

Newcomers in films have been finding it increasingly more difficult to get a start toward an acting career. Part of the reason is the number of former celebrities now on the waiting lists about town, eager to get in a day or a week of work where they once commanded four figure salaries and told producers were to get off.

Many one time featured names crop up on the credit sheets of recent pictures, and famous profiles flit on and off the screen so fast one has to be looking for them to pick them out of the supplementary action.

For instance, "So Big," now being remade, has Florence Lawrence, "The Biograph Girl" of twenty odd years ago, and Helene Chadwick in its cast.

"Taxi," recently released, showed Florence Turner, the "Vitagraph Girl," who was the favorite of the generation which idolized Florence Lawrence. Ella Hall, the blond heroine of daring serials, Clara Horton, and little Audrey Ferris of more recent fleeting prominence also showed in the cast of "Taxi."

"Broken Lullaby" (the real name of this was "The Man I Killed") will reveal Tully Marshall, Emma Dunn, and Joan Standing in subsidiary bits of action.

Edna Purviance has not taken part in any films at all for years. There still is an unreleased picture for which Charlie Chaplin paid, featuring her, locked up in the Chaplin studio storage rooms. But Miss Purviance is better off than many of her sisters. She is still on the Chaplin studio pay roll under an arrangement which Charlie made with her seven or eight years ago.

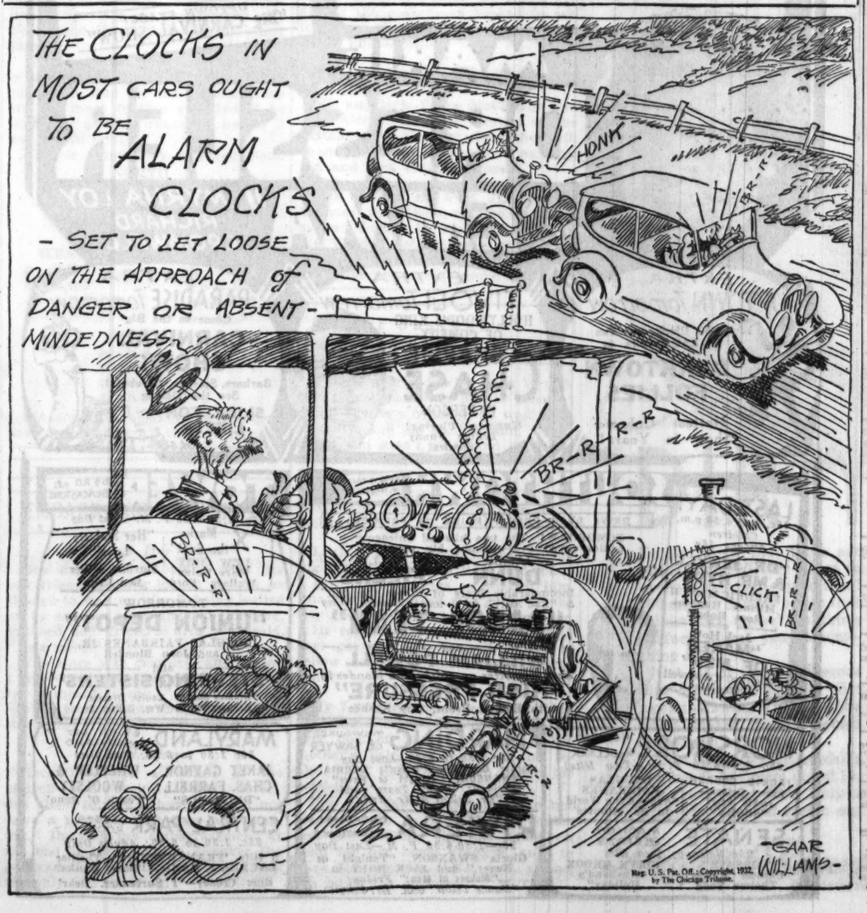
Kathlyn Williams, serial queen of the pre-war era, occasionally takes a film rôle in these days. She was quietly divorced from Charlie Eyton, one time prize fight referee and later head of the Paramount studios here, within the last eighteen months.

Raymond Hatton, who slipped out of the limelight after his break with Wally Beery as a comedy mate, is climbing up the ladder again.

Henry B. Walthall, whose unforgettable little colonel in "Birth of a Nation" never was followed up by other successes as great, recently was announced as having been offered prominent parts in a series of pictures to be turned out by an expanding independent studio. Walthall at present is playing an important minor part, that of the professor with the unconventional daughter in Norma Shearer's strange interlude.

A benefit performance given by eighteen movie and stage stars netted more than $5,000 for the widow of Detective Lieutenant Hugh Crowley. Crowley handled investigations and guarded persons and property for the big studios. He was shot down by a burglar while breaking up the robbery of a film theater in Westwood, just west of Hollywood. Crowley had appeared in a number of motion pictures. One of the alleged burglars, whom Crowley shot, was traced by bloodstains and is now awaiting trial. A second suspect also has been seized.

A HUNCH FOR THE AUTO INDUSTRY



Relief Fund to Get Proceeds of Gymkhana Tomorrow Night

Thrilling Program Will Be Presented at Chicago Riding Club; 2 Polo Games.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Joint Emergency Relief fund is to benefit by the proceeds of a gymkhana to be held at the Chicago Riding club tomorrow night, and from all we hear, it is to be a colorful and exciting affair. The crack polo players of the city will play two exhibition games, and between the games Lieut. Paul Butler and his Chicago Black Horse troop will give a drill exhibition and take part in some thrilling contests, such as rescue racing and jumping. We understand that quite a number of the schoolboys and girls on the near north side are asking their parents to let them celebrate Lincoln's birthday by going to the gymkhana, and since it is Friday night probably the parents will accede to the requests. Among the boxholders are Miss Pauline Hart, Miss Jeannette Peterkin, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Britton I. Budd, Col. George T. Langhorne, Joseph O. Watkins, Roy D. Keehn, and Paul Butler.

The Casino, which is the scene of perhaps more large and fashionable private parties than any other club in town, but which has very few club parties, is having one tonight, a dinner followed by a musical program given by Marion Kerby and John P. Niles.

Consuls to Attend Reception Sunday.

The reception to be given Sunday afternoon by the Alliance Française for the new French consul, Jean Jacques Rene Weiller, and Mme. Weiller in Curtis hall of the Fine Arts building is to be quite an important affair with all the consuls and their staffs present. Hugo Simon, head of the German consulate, is to give a brief talk and Miss Grace Nelson, pianist, will give a program. Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, vice president, is in charge of the arrangements for the reception and receiving with her will be Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Edward H. Bennett, Mrs. William Burry, Mrs. Arthur Bissell, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Rufus Dawes, Mrs. Byron Harvey, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Charles S. Pike, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. F. Hampden Winston, and Mrs. Ralph T. Winston.

Despite the fact that a popular debutante dozed through much of Dr. Phillis Ackerman's illustrated lecture on tapestries before the Antiquarians yesterday morning, the program was nonetheless a very successful one.

The audience, which only half filled the Goodman miniature studio theater, was composed mostly of fashionable women whose knowledge of tapestries and other arts both ancient and modern qualifies them among the most erudite people in town. Many of them remained after the conclusion of the lecture to meet Dr. Ackerman and congratulate her on her talk.

Most of the 40 or 50 women present were in black ensembles with no touches of color. One of the few who were more brightly garbed was the president, Mrs. Potter Palmer, who wore a trimly tailored and ery becoming suit of skipper blue, a turban of the same shade, and a blue fox scarf.

Among others present were Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. John Adams Chapman and Miss Margaret Chapman, Miss Marie Rozet, Mrs. William Prescott Hunt, Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Miss Agnes Foreman, and Mrs. Edward F. Swift.

Turn to Suits Seen in Paris Style Shows

Spring Costumes May Be Silk or Wool.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Spring costumes may be silk or wool, plain or trimmed, but a large percentage of the time they will be suits.

Silk suits are especially popular, and are shown in numbers by Chantel, Mirande, and Lanvin. Patou varies the silk suit with a loose bolero, and also shows the bolero suit in linen.

Two piece suits with short, semi-fitted jackets are featured in Augusta Bernard's collection. Very short jacket suits are used by Vionnet.

A white shantung ensemble is sponsored by Lanvin, as well as many ensemble coats in three-quarter and seven-eighths length. Wool coat ensembles are found among Patou's costumes, and Vionnet shows print ensembles with a chiffon dress and a crêpe coat of the same pattern.

Coats have many kinds of treatment. Elbow sleeved coats worn with long sleeved dresses, coats with Dolman sleeves and coats with draped collars are among the throng. Cape sleeve details are very popular. Flared circular coats, often belted, are used by Lanvin, as well as coats with very large sleeves above the elbow.

Vionnet features coats with straight closings and small collars, and often combines a darker coat with a lighter dress. A modified princess coat with center back seams is a feature of Augustabernard.

Gloves play a prominent part in spring fashions. Glacé kid gauntlets, for elbow sleeves, are used by Lanvin, while Chantel features pastel mousquetaire gloves matching the afternoon blouses.

Silver Chinese buttons are among Lanvin's trimmings, and also wide silver belts for both afternoon and evening. Patou uses ribbon bow trimming, many contrasting belts in wool and leather, and boutonnieres especially of gardenias. Many white gardenias are employed by Molyneux for afternoon and evening, and bead embroideries are used by Molyneux and by Vionnet.

Lace provides the filmy thinness so well suited to spring clothes, and adapts itself to the present more elaborate styles.

Chanel uses lace in costumes for many different effects. She shows a gold lace dress embroidered in pink and blue beads for evening. Many lace dresses in her collection have fine corded patterns and others are of Venise types with medium sized heavy patterns. An embroidered muslin, simulating lace, is seen in many designs.

Shirred laces form a new type of treatment followed by Chanel. Shirred chiffons for evening wear also are used.

White lace blouses make attractive companions for silk afternoon suits. Chanel's suits are distinguished by long coats.

Ensembles are popular for afternoon, and one Chanel group of afternoon dresses of ankle length has matching long sleeved jackets. Self-lacings and bow details are used in suits and ensembles.

Famous 'Laughing Boy' Bust Willed to Vienna Museum

VIENNA, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The "Laughing Boy," famous bust by Desiderio da Settigano, which recently was erroneously reported to have been sold to an American, becomes the property of the Vienna Museum of Art under the will of its owner, Gustav Benda, who died last Sunday. The museum also receives other valuable art objects, including the bronze relief, "Madonna with Child and Angels," by Bertoldo di Giovanni, who was the master of Donatello and Michelangelo. The testator stipulated that the collection remain intact.

Lecture on Spying Holds Interest.

Whether Greta Garbo's latest picture had anything to do with the sale of tickets for Maj. Thomas C. Coulson's lecture next Wednesday we couldn't say, but we learn from Mrs. George Jaeger Jr. that there has been a rush for reservations to hear the famous member of the British military intelligence service and author of "Mata Hari" tell all about "Spying on Spies."

The lecture, which is to be the first of two benefit talks sponsored by the Lower North Community council, will be held at 11:30 in the morning at Increase Robinson's gallery in the Diana Court building. Afterwards there will be a special luncheon served at Vassar house.

The Washington branch of the English Speaking union has sent word to the Chicago branch that members in Washington for the bicentennial will be welcome at the clubrooms at the capital. The union, organized "to draw together in the bond of comradeship the English speaking people of the world," now has 34 branches in the United States and Honolulu.

News of Travelers in Sunny Climes.

Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, who went east on Monday, will leave from New York today for a fortnight's stay at the Yeaman's hall, the lovely old club at Charleston, S. C., which has lately become a popular wintering place for Chicagoans. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Farwell have been down there for several weeks and probably won't return to Chicago for another month.

From Palm Beach comes the information that Mrs. Franklin P. Smith has opened Il Sogno, the Smith villa there, and that Hoyt Smith and his chum, Cyrus H. Adams III., are spending their midseason vacation there. Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr., and her two little daughters are with Mrs. Smith, and Mr. Smith expects to join his family later in the season. Mrs. W. David Owen of Lake Forest has joined her husband and their children, David and Frederica, at the Brazilian Court hotel and the family party will be augmented for the Easter holidays by Ruth and Florence Louise Owen. Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm L. Harris are important additions to the Chicago colony at the Breakers, so our correspondent writes. This is their 14th season in Palm Beach. They will be joined soon by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Max von Schlegel of Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Leigh of London, who were recent visitors to Chicago, Mrs. Leigh's former home, are in Palm Beach now, enjoying the deep sea fishing especially.

Expert on Food Picks Menu to Honor Lincoln

As I wrote tomorrow's menu I cculdn't help wishing I could pay a fitting tribute to Abraham Lincoln. But I don't know as much about Lincoln as I wish I did. I do know that his kindliness, his sensitive humor, and his great tolerance of all mankind justly won the respect and liking we have for him today. And since he held a sincere regard for the southerners he was forced to war against I have chosen a southern dish for the dinner entrée of his birthday.

Southern Shrimp Gumbo.

3 slices of bacon.
1 heaping tablespoon of flour.
1 minced green pepper.
1 minced onion.
Salt.
Pepper.
1 cup of tomatoes, canned.
1 cup of okra, canned.
1 cup of shrimp, wet packed.
1 tablespoon of kitchen sauce.

Fry out the bacon fat and add to it the onion, green pepper, and seasonings. Simmer in the fat for a few minutes. Then add the other ingredients and cook it all together slowly until heated through. Serve on hot cooked rice.

Some other famous southern dishes are the hot tamale pie, creole pork chops, and shrimp Louisiane. In all of these the cooks of the south are generous with their seasonings, and if you enjoy foods of this nature, I'll be happy to forward the recipes to you.

The tamale pie is made of round steak, ground; tomatoes, green peppers, onions, celery, and is highly seasoned with chili powder, salt, and the powdered hot peppers. A dish, after the eating of which, you would religiously pursue a water fountain or faucet for a "refreshing draught."

Creole pork chops aren't quite so hot. [That is, in seasoning. No slang intended.] First one stirs together a roux and then the seasonings with water are added to the dish for cooking. But you'll find onions, bay leaves, and green peppers in this entrée, too. Most delicious for winter nights, however.

We find that both colored and white cooks like their shrimps cooked with peppers, onions, and shallot tops. I'll wager they wouldn't enjoy anything as mild as our shrimp salads, or creamed shrimp dishes. Shrimp Louisiane is very attractive, too, for serving, as the green of the pepper and parsley contrasts effectively with the shrimp and tomato.

The spinach ring below is not southern, and after all, since Lincoln lived most of his life in the north, this should be in keeping with the spirit of the day.

Spinach Ring.

½ peck of spinach.
2 tablespoons of butter.
2 tablespoons of flour.
½ cup of milk.
3 eggs.
Pepper and salt.

Wash and clean the spinach. Cook without water very slowly for about thirty minutes, and drain. [If the spinach is not young, cook in boiling water until tender.] Put the spinach through a meat grinder. To a generous one and one-half cups of spinach, add the following sauce: Melt the butter, add the flour and seasonings, then the milk, and when it becomes thick stir over the beaten egg yolks. Add the spinach to the mixture, season and cool. Add the stiffly beaten egg whites. Place in a well greased ring mold. Set in a pan half filled with boiling water. Place in a moderate oven [325 degrees F.] and let bake until set [about twenty minutes]. Loosen around the edges and turn out on a hot platter.

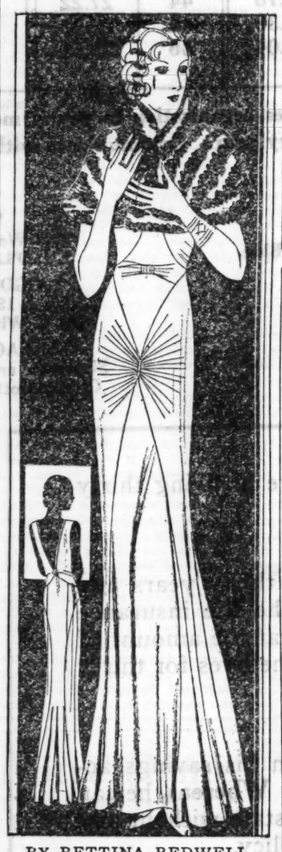
Delicate Colors Gaining Favor in New Gowns



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The last days of the winter social season in Paris have proved that fashionable women are turning to the pastel palette for their evening colors. Within the last week I have seen Comtesse de Robilant wearing pastel pink from Paquin. Mme. Lelong, she who was Princesse Paley, in a pale blue frock designed by her husband, Mme. Chanel in a pale pinky beige dress by herself, and others of the Famous Forty smartest women in such delicate colors. Princesse Henri XXIII. de Reuss is wearing pastel green for evening, a dress in georgette designed for her by Lucien Lelong, and shown in our sketch today.

Long cloaks in matching colors or another pastel shade, or metal cloth, are worn by the smartest women over their pale evening gowns, and almost invariably these coats are made with separate fur scarfs or small capes that are kept around the shoulders after the coat has been consigned to the vestiaire. Comtesse de Robilant is wearing a chinchilla capelet that looks so charming as to predict other chinchilla capes on other fashionable women later on.

The cape worn with the evening gown in our sketch is sable, which gives the essential touch of sober elegance to the pale green of the georgette frock. This frock is the molded sheath that 90 per cent of the fashionable feminine world of Paris is wearing.

It has sunray tucks at the front of the skirt and at the décolleté in front. The back bodice is cut in a deep V and has a small peplum. It buttons over one brilliant button at the waistline.

Prof. Louis Lord to Speak at Classical Club Meeting

The Chicago Classical club will meet next Saturday for luncheon in the Hotel La Salle. Prof. Louis E. John Lysandrou will give a program of songs accompanied by Mrs. Lysandrou.

OFFICIAL CONTRACT

BY CHARLES TRUE ADAMS.

[International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight."]

In recent books having to do with the raising and training of children, as well as in less serious works having to do with the care and training of husbands and wives, we find the modern injunction against the use of the word "don't." This dropping of the word "don't" can well be extended to all bridge vocabularies. Unquestionably one of the first "don'ts" the average player learns in bridge is "Don't trump your partner's ace." And yet even this "don't" should be banished to the limbo of antiquated rules. Witness yesterday's play-a-problem, which was:

NORTH
♥—8,7,5
♣—Q
WEST	EAST
♠—5,4,2	♠—6
♥—9	♥—A,K,J,10,6,4,3
♦—Q,J,10,6	♦—A,7,3
♣—8,7,4,3,2	♣—9,6
SOUTH (Dealer)
♠—K,9,8
♥—Q,2
♣—A,K,J,10,5

South dealt and bid a club. West passed. North took out with a spade and East made an attacking overcall of three hearts. South now bid three spades and after West's pass North went to four spades, which ended the bidding.

East opened the ♥ K, which, of course, took the first trick. He then followed with the ♥ A. South's Q, of course, came up and West trumped his partner's ace, North following with the ♥ 7.

West now led the ♦ Q and, regardless of whether or not North comes up with his K, East and West will now take the next three diamond tricks. Regardless of what is led by East or West following the taking of the three diamonds, North and South will take the rest of the tricks, being set one on their bid of four spades.

Suppose on the second trick West had not trumped his partner's ace, and I fear the average player would not have done so. In that case then the third lead of hearts could be trumped in dummy with a trump higher than any held in West's hand. North and South then could take all the remaining tricks, with the exception of East's ♦ A, which would give North and South four-odd and their game.

West must see that his only chance is to trump his partner's A and thus get in the lead for the diamond play and he must further see that if he waits for another round of hearts it will be too late.

Here is tomorrow's play-a-problem:

NORTH
♠—J,10,7,6,5
♥—5,8,5
♦—7,6,3
♣—A,2
WEST (Dealer)	EAST
♠—Q,2	♠—A,9,3
♥—A,Q,9	♥—K,10,6
♦—A,K,5	♦—J,9,4,2
SOUTH
♠—K,8,4
♥—7,4,3,2
♦—Q,10,8
♣—K,4,3

Bid and play the hand and then compare the result with the one printed.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Claimed Her Own.

One day while shopping with my boy friend, a clerk looked at him as though to wait on him. I, being waited on by another clerk and not thinking, grabbed my friend's arm and said, "he's mine."

The store was crowded, and to say I was embarrassed is putting it mildly. I meant to say, "he's with me." We are engaged now, but I hear about it often. A. B.

Stood Alone.

Recently I was a visitor at the church my cousin attends. Every one stood to sing a hymn. I did not have a program and was busy singing. Imagine my embarrassment at the end of the hymn to discover the congregation kneeling and that I was the only one standing. R. G. S.

Waveless Hair Simple Way to Wipe Out Years

Coiffure Frequently Fails to Look Smart.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you want a really painless and inexpensive year lifting operation, try a waveless coiffure. Anyway, waveless across the entire top of the head. You haven't any idea what a difference this waving iron restraint will make on certain heads. A couple of very wide waves down the sides and over the ears will not spoil that younger waveless top effect. In fact, most women need just that facial softening and they need more imperatively neat disposition of the side short ends. These have to be tended with the waving iron.

But there is something about a tight-set wave across the top of the head that stacks up a couple of years a lady can get along just as well without. And on young girls these waves do not even give the expression of sophistication that, I gather, is sought. I know no other reason for young women cultivating the much marcelled head unless it is to look older and more experienced. They look older, all right—but not smartly sophisticated.

Of course, you do not see so much of this sort of thing now as you did a couple of years ago. Still, there is some of it still in existence. But if you will look over the smart magazine illustrations, photographic and art, for one all-over waved head you will find a hundred with the top of the head left flat and free of marcel touch.

Of course, one cannot be arbitrary about a thing of this sort. Here and there you find a woman to whom the all-over wave is becoming, but there are still any number whose faces would appear much younger if they didn't exact every cent of their money's worth in waves.

An acquaintance whose hair is graying with beauty (O, yes, there is such a thing), abandoned recently the all-over wave for no more than a couple of extremely wide indentations, the entire head over. Hers is a sort of windblown bob with the hair over one ear, brushed completely across the back of the other ear, or over as far as the short hairs will go. But there is just that faint line of finger wave indicated rather than outlined — and truly, the simpler mode is ten years younger in effect.

Mrs. E. L. Doheny Jr. Engaged to Marry Los Angeles Banker

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.] — Formal announcement was made tonight by Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Smith, parents of Mrs. E. L. Doheny Jr., that Mrs. Doheny, widow of the late oil magnate, will marry Leigh M. Battson, widely known in Los Angeles and San Francisco financial circles, on a date to be set within a short time.

The announcement came as a surprise to Los Angeles social circles in which Mrs. Doheny is a leader and which were assured one of the most brilliant weddings of recent years.

Mrs. Doheny was widowed in February, 1929. She is the mother of five children living with her in the mansion on Doheny road, Beverly Hills, which is a part of the $14,000,000 estate left by her husband when he died. Doheny was the son of E. L. Doheny, dean of western oil producers.

Battson is the Pacific coast manager of the S. W. Straus company, an investment firm, and is an executive vice president of the concern. He formerly was a partner in the financial house of E. F. Hutton & Co. and has been identified with financial firms in California since 1918.

The prospective bridegroom has been married before. He was divorced by his first wife at Reno in December, 1929.

Shortly after he was divorced Battson was reported engaged to Muriel Vanderbilt Church, New York and Newport society leader.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elisha C. Tower gave a dinner and bridge tonight at the Savoy-Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Casimir De Rham are among the passengers booked to sail tomorrow night on the North German Lloyd liner Berlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons arrived from Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance McCaulley and Mrs. Richard S. Aldrich sailed on the Britannic for Nassau, where they will be guests of Mrs. McCaulley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seward Prosser.

Mrs. Edwin M. Post Jr. has announced that there will be no more supper dances in the Sert room of the Waldorf-Astoria as a number of the subscribers have gone south or are attending the Olympic games.

Bright Sayings of the Children

I have a friend who finds it difficult to get her little boy to sleep at night. On one occasion he was quite naughty, and his mother said, "Bobby, if you aren't quiet and don't try to go to sleep, I shall have to turn out the light."

Bobby answered, "I don't care 'cause the moon is turned on now, anyway." Mrs. S.

Little 5 year old Harry was spending the summer on a farm and found a great many things to interest him. One day his mother was going to the city and asked him to accompany her.

He replied, "O mummy, how will I ever get anything done if I have to follow some woman around all the time?" H. F.

My 7 year old niece Jean was doing her home work problems. Puzzled over one of them she asked her mother's help and received the reply, "Not now, dear; I'm much too nervous."

The next day I was talking to her teacher, who is a friend of mine, and she told me she had called on Jean for her home problem, only to have Jean answer, "Not now, please; I'm much too nervous." M. O. J.

'Mother's Boy' Often Yields to Responsibility

Adult Emotions Must Be Required.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A case is reported to me of a young wife who married one of the spoiled baby sons of a dominating female parent. The kind of mother reported, in this instance, has been treated fairly roughly of recent days by authors, playwrights, and educators generally. We refer to the woman about whom in her relations with her son it is difficult to know where pure selfishness leaves off and love begins. These women so often mask their selfishness under the name of mother love. Anyway, the sons, often only sons, are not permitted to grow up emotionally.

So far as the education and intellect of these young men are concerned, they may be quite big boys. Emotionally, they remain mother's sweetheart. The girl who marries one of them is in for a trying period of adjustment. He has been mothered, spoiled, or babied for so long he expects the wife to take up where mother left off. Or, if mother is within reach, said son keeps running back home for babying and direction.

The sanest piece of advice covering this particular domestic drama that has come to my eyes in some time is offered by Ira S. Wile and Mary Day Winn, co-authors of "Marriage in the Modern Manner" [the Century company]. Something has to be done to help the man grow up emotionally, to make him feel a man among men, to throw off the yoke of his mother's domination.

Having children, several of them, as soon as possible, is the prescribed formula. The minute the young wife produces a child, the co-authors explain, she shifts the center of interest, not only psychologically but in an actual material sense. Instead of seeing the husband continually returning to his mother for advice, she has the satisfaction of seeing her mother-in-law coming to her home. She has won the spotlight, acquired a new importance and authority in the marital drama. . . . And the husband is provided with that sense of importance and responsibility he stands badly in need of.

Another advantage, pointed out by the co-authors, is the understanding of the older woman's emotions when she [the young wife] holds her first born in her arms for the first time. Then, and only then, can she realize what it means to have a son taken from her by another woman.

Cherry Pie Contest for High Schools Will Be Held Here

High school girls from virtually every cherry producing state in the nation are to compete in a cherry pie baking contest in the Morrison hotel Feb. 22, it was announced yesterday. The contest is to be the last feature of a national "cherry week" observance and the winner is to be awarded $500.

Judges of the contest are to be Miss Lillian Kemp, head of the Domestic Arts and Science school; Mrs. Wilbur Fribley, president of the Housewives' league, and Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president of the Chicago and Cook county federated women's organizations. The prize is to be presented by Miss Maxine Weaver, queen of the cherry festival at Traverse City, Mich., last July. Gov. La Follette of Wisconsin, one of the honorary chairmen, is to open the celebration formally with a radio talk on Feb. 15.

Accept Child as She Is--Then Start Training

Different Handling Needed in Each Case.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Sometimes it is a help to sum up the matter by saying to yourself, "Jane is like this and this and this. So, I will take those things into consideration. Instead of wishing she were different—instead of trying to make her like Mary and Robert, I'll accept her as she is, and handle her differently from the way I handle the others."

A description of a certain type which is encountered in reading, will often clarify things so a mother or father will say, "Why, that's like Helen exactly! Perhaps we've been on the wrong tack in managing her the way we have been."

What brought this to my mind was a letter or two which I found in rereading some correspondence. One said: "I was thankful to read your article on the ebullient child. My 3 year old boy apparently is that type and I have been a little anxious about him, but feel better now."

Another wrote: "What a joy to read your discussion about the ebullient child! I have one, also, in my group of 3, and she has been a source of worry—and happiness.

"People have said when they see her, 'O, what good would a child be without such life as she has?'

"That is true, but they have in all probability left us to struggle with the child in her overtired condition."

COLDS are expensive!

Regular 50c size now 35c

Avoid risk of self-infection by using KLEENEX disposable TISSUES instead of handkerchiefs

COLDS are costly, both in health and money.

They are the starting point for a whole list of serious and expensive illnesses. Colds cause more time lost from business, more absences from office and school, than any other disease.

It is good sense and good business to take every precaution at the first sign of a cold in yourself or your family.

Start using Kleenex at once

Stop using handkerchiefs when the first sniffle starts! Handkerchiefs collect germs—cause constant self-infection.

The only safe handkerchief is one you can use and then destroy at once—Kleenex disposable tissues.

Imagine a soft, gentle, super-absorbent tissue instead of a damp, unsightly handkerchief! Think of the relief—no handkerchief washing to do or to pay for!

Many uses for Kleenex

You'll find many other uses for Kleenex. Use it to wipe razor blades; as bandages for minor wounds; for polishing spectacles.

That big supply of Kleenex that formerly cost 50 cents, is now priced regularly at 35 cents! Buy several boxes of Kleenex at this new low price. Sold at all drug, dry goods or department stores.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

Germ-filled handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

Avoid
"DIRTY FACE"

Do you know that there are more than 900 tiny pores in every square inch of your face? 900 minute danger points that collect dirt under the skin's surface, unless you do something about it?

Get rid of these dangerous dirt accumulations. For dirt ages the skin, stretches the pores, makes the complexion coarse and muddy.

Let Daggett & Ramsdell's Perfect Cold Cream dispel below-the-surface dirt. Only a properly balanced cream can do it. Only Daggett & Ramsdell's Perfect Cold Cream can give to the skin the essentials it must have to keep it young, and clean, and lovely—and give them all in one cream, in one application.

Get a jar of Perfect Cold Cream today and give your skin a thorough cleansing. Just a regular massage—every woman knows how. But spend enough time on it to get down below the surface and roll out that hidden dirt. Regularly. Why not start today?

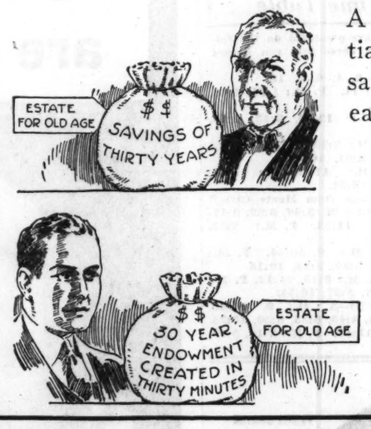
SAVE WITH SAFETY



A man can build a substantial estate in thirty years by saving a certain amount each year—

OR—

He can create the same estate in thirty minutes and take thirty years to pay for it.

One plan is as good as the other—IF—he is sure of living thirty years,

BUT—

If he is not absolutely certain that he will live thirty years and enjoy good health in the meantime . . . then the life insurance plan is the only way that he can be assured that the amount of the estate he plans will be paid in full whether he lives for thirty years or dies tomorrow.

AND LISTEN!

If he becomes disabled and draws money from his savings account, that amount is deducted from his estate. Whereas, he can draw disability benefits from his life insurance estate without any deductions whatever from the amount of the policy.

GOLDEN GLOVES ENTRIES REACH NEW HIGH

YANK BOBSLED DRIVER WHIZZES BY TWO RECORDS

Stevens Brings U. S. Olympic Title.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Copyright: 1932: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Twice more today the twelve little two seaters entered in the international boblet race of the Olympic winter games came tearing down the side of Mount Vanhoevenberg completing the first of the great spectacular feats of the program.

Twice more Hubert Stevens, a young blond giant of the neighboring country drove his sled through the meandering turns and diving straightaways of the mile and one-half descent in better time than he had ever made before to overcome a lead held by Reto Capadrutt, the bantamweight kid from Switzerland, which had seemed too great for challenge.

And again the United States scored a victory in a sport in which the European athletes previously were deemed to be the better operators by reason of their long experience and apparently greater skill.

Figures Don't Tell.

The numerals denoting hundredths of seconds cannot very well suggest the hazards that Hubert Stevens and his brother, Curtis, who was nominally at the brake of the sled, courted and conquered to win back the few seconds advantage laid by in the first two heats of Tuesday by the yodeling kid, Capadrutt, who learned his sledding on the somewhat more lofty heights of the Swiss Alps.

Stevens had been at a disadvantage in his first slide of the tournament, as his was the first sled down the run and therefore had to serve as a sort of ice breaker for the sleds coming behind. The snow resistance retarded his first run, so his time for the heat was 2 minutes 13-10 seconds.

The night before the contest began he had reckoned this disadvantage and acknowledged that in order to beat Capadrutt, the most daring of the Europeans, he would have to slide under Capadrutt's best time in the subsequent heats. He did. He was about three seconds better than Capadrutt on his second slide Tuesday and when they clocked him in at the finish of his first run today, where his forward runners broke the thread of the electric timer, he was the first one to come down the dangerous trail in less than two minutes.

His time was not much less than two minutes, 1:59.69, but where time is measured in hundredths of seconds, the gain was as important as a gain of hours in a boat race. Curtis Stevens was the brakeman only in the nominal sense today because the Stevens boys, legendary giants in their own country, were not using the brakes now, but letting the bob roll free.

Close to Sixty.

Going into Whiteface, the dangerous right-angled turn to the left not far from the top of the mountain, Curtis yelled to Hubert, "We're going like hell," and Hubert yelled back as he bowed over his wheel, "We're going close onto sixty right now."

Hubert Stevens' score for the four heats and Cappadrut's for the whole contest were as follows:

Stevens, United States, 2:13:10, 2:04:27, 1:59:69, 1:57:68; total, 8:14:74. Cappadrut, Swiss, 2:05:88, 2:07:21, 2:03:52, 1:59:67; total 8:16:28.

The American No. 2 sled, which was third in the aggregate time, driven by John R. Heaton, was not even close in 8:29:15. Next came the Rumanian sled, driven by the flying officer, Lieut. Al Pappana, in 8:32:47, and the Germans, although they had been regarded as drivers of great audacity and skill, could do no better than fifth place with Hans Kilian's sled. His time was 8:35:36.

The box office reported that on both days of the run the attendance at a spectacle presented eight miles from any town, with the suggestion of disaster as one of the lures, had drawn ten thousand people at prices of from $1 to $3.

Swedish Skiers Win.

In the meanwhile the 62 ski racers were sliding over the landscape in single file in an 18 kilometer hike, which was a Swedish triumph over their favorite enemies, the Norwegians.

At points along the route there are stations where boys may absorb bowls of thin gruel and the amount of time which they spend taking their ease and their nourishment is entirely up to them. The Norwegians have been having a very unhappy time in these Olympic games, winning no races on the ice when they had expected to lead the field, and when two Swedes and two Finns came home today in better time than their Arne Rustadstuen was able to make over the gummy snow, their spirts and their prestige swooned altogether.

Even the goading of a phonograph at the twelve kilometer station, which squawked their national anthem as the Norwegian men came hopping along, was ineffective, although reports brought back from there had it that this was a pretty bad phonograph and no fitting way to treat any national anthem.

In fact, Johan Grottumsbratten, a Norwegian who finished sixth, had been going very well until he came within earshot of the phonograph, whereupon he was knotted with a body cramp and seriously hampered in further progress. On the other hand, Axel Vikstrom, a Swede who finished second, felt a cramp coming on and encountered an American farmer with a bag of apples who pre-

269 FIGHT FOR CHAMPIONSHIPS IN WEST SECTION

Qualifying Bouts to Begin Monday.

On the Firing Line

ACTIVITIES along the Golden Gloves battle front tonight are as follows:

Opening of Wisconsin State Golden Glove championships at Milwaukee.

Opening Vincennes Sun Commercial tournament.

Davenport Times preliminary bouts.

Finals of Danville Commercial News tournament.

Entries for Chicago north side sectionals close at midnight.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Two hundred and sixty-nine boys, a record total, have entered the west section eliminations of the Golden Gloves tournament which opens Monday night at the Ashland boulevard auditorium. For two nights these lads will battle for the qualifying positions in the tournament of champions at the Chicago Stadium.

Two boys in each of the eight classes will qualify from the west side meet for the Tournament of Champions. The same procedure will be followed in the north sectional trials the latter part of next week and in the south side tournament Feb. 22, 23 and 24 at White City. Thus Chicago will have 48 boxers to oppose the championship teams from out of town.

Twenty-one Cities Entered.

Twenty-one cities will send eight champions each to the monster tournament at the stadium. For two days, Feb. 29 and March 1, two rings will be used which insures continuous boxing. On March 2, 64 boys will fight the quarter finals.

One week later, March 9, the semi-finals and final bouts will be held and the Chicago team selected. Twenty-four boys—eight champions, eight runnersup and eight alternates—will make the trip to New York to fight the fifth intercity series in Madison Square Garden on March 28.

The Tournament of Champions is Chicago's biggest boxing bargain. Tickets may be purchased by mail now from the TICKET MANAGER, GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNAMENT, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The prices range from fifty cents to $1.50. The tickets for the final night, March 9, are $1, $2 and $3.

There'll Be Plenty Fighting.

But for real action it will be hard to surpass the preliminaries in the Chicago sections. Future champions and novices, experts and dubs will battle in a succession of bouts which will run the range of all that is possible in the boxing ring. And these bouts may be seen for seventy-five cents. No seats will be reserved. It is probable that the sectional meet at the Ashland boulevard auditorium will start at 7 o'clock. There will be at least 40 fights each night.

Since the boys must box at least two times in one night, the rounds will be two minutes each instead of the customary three minutes. No bout, however, can last longer than three rounds, since the recent rule adopted by the National Amateur Athletic union prohibits a fourth round, which last year was permitted if the judges and referee thought three rounds had not produced a decision.

Three Clubs Lead.

The race for the team championship seems to center around Johnny Coulon's club, t' Arcade gymnasium and Belle Plaine, although it is possible that one of the 21 cities will win enough points to take the championship out of town. Kid Howard's Arcade boxers won the trophy last year.

Willard Howard is one of Coulon's boxers who expects to qualify for the Tournament of Champions. He is a middleweight and will compete in the north side eliminations. Howard holds a decision over Johnny Phagan of last year's intercity squad. Elmer Harris, a 147 pounder and a sophomore at Hyde Park High school, will compete for Coulon at White City.

Dempsey Buys Shoes.

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, who was in Chicago Tuesday on his way to Cleveland, purchased six pairs of boxing shoes for the team which will be entered in the Golden Gloves tournament by the Unemployed Clearing House Athletic club.

Jimmy Walthour and Ritter Ride Into Six Day Bike Lead

BULLETIN.

Before the 2 a. m. sprints McNamara and Horan gained a lap and tied for the lead with Ritter and J. Walthour. Joe De Vito and Jack Sheehan were withdrawn at 1 o'clock.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

An evening of reckless jamming finally shook the tiny Jules Audy and his big Canadian countryman, Bill Peden, out of the lead in the six day pedal pushing affair at the Stadium last night. Through three hours of strenuous riding the Maple Leaf pair met every challenge, but shortly before midnight fortune changed for them and first place went into the hands of the metropolitan pair, Charley Ritter and Jimmy Walthour.

Until Ritter and his pal put on the big fireworks for the 12,000 fans they had been deadlocked with Audy and Peden and the Bill Grimm-Bobby Walthour combination. After the Ritter-Walthour coup Audy and Peden and Grimm and B. Walthour were forced to take their place with Reggie McNamara and Charley Horan, one lap in arrears.

The remainder of the field was stretched out like a freight train, the caboose honors being carried by De Vito and Sheehan instead of the Chronic tail-enders, Georgetti and Spencer. De Vito and Sheehan were a mere nine laps behind the leaders.

At the usual time, 8:30 o'clock, the most ambitious of the field took up the matter of excitement. De Lille touched off the first rush but lost a pedal and was nearly bounced off his horse. Peden promptly took up the pace and a moment later, along with McNamara and Horan, had lapped the field. This cut the leaders to two teams instead of five, as had been established in the matinee hours.

Right on top of his first theft, Peden glided out gently in front of a leisurely field and before his purpose was suspected he and Audy were in possession of another lap. This started the French team of Letourner and Guimbretiere on a rampage and they kept going until they had stolen eight laps in rapid succession.

Certain members of the field were able to stick with the red shirted lads, so the Frenchmen accomplished nothing of importance. Among those in all these big pushes were Audy and Peden, who exceeded the French team in spots and at one time had the lead to themselves. But their exclusion was short lived.

The usual amount of bouncing out of the saddle was for the most part restricted to the period devoted to the night sprints. In the first of these McNamara, Wals, and Audy, the ladies' choice, piled up with consequences no more serious than a few twisted spokes.

Rodak then kocked himself out by falling for no apparent reason. Next Stockholm took a few slivers from the boards and finally McNamara took his second dive. The crowd suspected he slipped off his bike for the express purpose of halting a jam. He was booed accordingly. The last to tumble was Hill, who slipped half way around the east bank when his front tire burst.

Results of 2 o'clock sprints:

First—Horan, Georgetti, Bulla, Rodak.
Second—Ritter, De Lille, Spencer, Hill.
Third—Stockholm, Rodak, Bulla, Schenk.
Fourth—Hill, De Lille, Audy, Kroschel.
Fifth—Georgetti, Horan, J. Walthour, Pijnenburg.
Sixth—Wals, Hill, Audy, Kroschel.
Seventh—Pijnenburg, J. Walthour, Horan, Georgetti.
Eighth—Wals, Ritter, Audy, Spencer.

HAWKS VS. CANADIENS

MONTREAL, Can., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Coach Everson and fifteen Blackhawks are here to play the world's champion Canadiens tomorrow night. The two teams, which battled through a five game series for possession of the Stanley cup last spring, have split even in three close games this season. Each won a game, 2 to 1. The other resulted in a 1 to 1 tie.

The Canadiens, off to a bad start, have been going at a fast clip lately and now only one game separates them from first place in the Canadian division of the National league. The Hawks need the game to hold second place against the Detroit Falcons. Boston's Buins are only two games behind.

Notre Dame Wins, 26-18, Over Syracuse

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Notre Dame won its tenth straight basbetball game tonight, defeating Syracuse, 26 to 18. It was a hard fought battle three-fourths of the way, with big Ed Krause again leading the Irish forces in points and floor play. Notre Dame played without the services of Day De Cook, forward, who was confined to the hospital with tonsilitis, and Johnny Baldwin, regular guard.

The score was tied five times in the first half and Syracuse took the lead twice, but Capt. Norb Crowe's long shot just before the gun gave Notre Dame a 10 to 9 advantage at the half. Notre Dame missed 11 free throws out of 19 attempts, most of the failures coming in the first period.

Ronnie Phillips, high scoring Syracuse forward, kept his team in the game in the first half with six of seven consecutive free throws. He took the Syracuse scoring honors with nine points.

Vogel's short shot just as the second period opened gave Syracuse the lead for the last time. A moment later Krause pivoted on the free throw line, sank his attempt, and the Irish pulled away. Notre Dame led, 19 to 15, midway in the second half and then pulled the ball into the back court.

Two men from each team went to the bench on personal fouls.

WISCONSIN, 28; BUTLER, 17

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—[Special.] Wisconsin's basketball team defeated Butler tonight, 28 to 17.

The game was 11 minutes old with the Badgers trailing, 8 to 2, when Griswold entered the Wisconsin lineup. He immediately took control of the game, outjumping Proffitt, Butler center, and playing one of the most brilliant floor games ever seen in the Cardinal fieldhouse. The Badgers rallied and had tied the score, 9 to 9, when the period ended.

Starting the second half, the Badgers controlled the ball almost exclusively, and scored nine points before Butler started.

While Griswold was the star with his all around play, it was Capt. Marvin Steen who led the Badger attack, scoring four baskets and a pair of free throws for a total of ten points. Bobby Poser added six points for the Badgers, while Doug Nelson contributed five points, all on free throws. Baird, Proffitt and Davis, each with four points, led the Butler scoring.

ILLINOIS SENATE PASSES 15 ROUND BOXING MEASURE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The senate today concurred in house amendments which legalized the holding of 15 round heavyweight championship bouts in the state of Illinois. The bill was passed by a unanimous vote by the house of representatives two weeks ago and now will be sent to Gov. Louis Emmerson.

The bill, introduced by Senator Graham of Chicago, also provides that the state shall receive 15 per cent of the gate receipts. The title bouts in other divisions will be ten rounds, the present limit.

Heinrich, a deaf mute, was running along the tracks carrying a basket of towels and water bottles when he was struck. He was graduated from Gallaudet college, Washington, D. C., in 1928.

Ruth's Failure to Hit Homer Leads to Suit

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth's failure to hit a home run was blamed in Supreme court here today for the stampede in the Yankee stadium on the afternoon of May 19, 1929, in which a man and a girl were killed and thirty persons injured. The baseball star was portrayed to a jury in the rôle of one-half of an act of God. A sudden rain squall constituted the other half.

The combination of the crowded bleachers waiting for Ruth to perform and the dissatisfaction when he failed to get a hit and the drenching rain that descended was too much for even perfect ushers, guards and exits, Herbert Smyth, attorney for the owners of the New York American baseball club, told Justice Edward J. Gavegan in a plea to have the suit for $60,000 damages dismissed. The suit is based on the charge that the exits and the guards at the park were inadequate.

Heirs Are Plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs are heirs of Joseph Thomas Carter and Eleanor Price, Hunter college student, who were trampled to death in the rush from the bleachers. The thirty who were injured are suing for $35,000, but the death suit has been agreed upon by all plaintiffs and the defendant to serve as a test case.

If the jury, which heard evidence for the defense late today, agrees that Babe Ruth and the rainstorm constituted an act of God, then the other suits are off and the Yankee club will not have to dig into its gate receipts for damages.

Here is the story of what happened the day Ruth failed to hit as told to the Supreme court jury.

He Hits One Earlier.

The Yankees were playing the Boston Red Sox and the Sox were pretty good that day. Home runs also were the order of the day. Babe had already put one in the right field grand stand and Lou Gehrig had matched him with a long one into the left field stand in the third inning. The sun had been shining, but when the fifth inning came up a heavy black cloud floated in. A light rain began to fall. The Babe was at bat and every one sat tight to see what he would do.

Ruth took a couple of strikes and then hit a slow grounder. He was thrown out at first just as the shower became a deluge. Immediately the bleachers became a mad mob, as every one there tried to run toward the exits and shelter. Somebody fell and others began to pile over him. When the police arrived and untangled the stampede two were dead and thirty hurt.

Says Fans Were to Blame.

Attorney Smyth made his plea at the end of the plaintiff testimony. The description of the stampede was true, he admitted, but the baseball fans themselves were to blame in a measure for waiting in the face of a storm to see Babe Ruth perform, and then all starting home simultaneously. The owners of the Yankee team could not be held responsible for an act of God, Mr. Smyth argued. If the exits had been twice as wide, the lawyer said, and the guards twice as strong, they could not have handled the hundreds who rushed headlong toward the spot where the casualties occurred.

Mr. Smyth gave notice that he would renew his motion to dismiss after all the evidence for the defense had been placed before the jury.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

The approach of the Jack Dempsey-King Levinsky match at Chicago Stadium Feb. 18 recalls a prank pulled on the Kingfish by some of his billiard room buddies.

The action took place about three years ago, when Levinsky was only a small sardine in the cauliflower canal, if I quote the expression correctly. He had just dusted off a couple of palookas and was beginning to assume that "I'm good" attitude, which he never has been able to shake.

His friends at a Roosevelt road billiard palace faked a call from Dempsey's manager. It was made from a booth in the same hall. Levinsky rushed to the phone.

"Sure, this is Levinsky," he was heard to say. "Dempsey's manager? Swell. You heard about me? Yeh. I'm pretty good. A match with Jack? Sure, I'll take him on. I ain't scared of nobody. I'll knock the stuffings out of him."

It took the King some time to catch on. But the laugh is on somebody else, after all, for Levinsky gets his chance to fight Dempsey a week from tonight.

And maybe he's right.

Dempsey's comeback tour, by the way, is taking on news interest. After campaigning for weeks on the Pacific slopes and in the wheat belt, he is moving into the cities. He packed an arena in Milwaukee a few nights ago. He is working in Cleveland tonight against K. O. Christner. After a stop over in Flint, Mich., for an engagement with Charlie Belanger, Jack returns to Chicago for the Levinsky match. He must be satisfied with his condition. Otherwise he would stay in the hinterlands.

Last November, when the former champion appeared at Moline, Ill., we inquired why he was timid about returning to Chicago, where he drew the biggest gate in the history of the sport. He answered that he wouldn't come into Chicago or any other metropolitan center until he was convinced he was ready for a comeback.

Dempsey's opponents since he returned to activity last fall perhaps have not been the last word in quality, but they have been right there in quantity. And nobody kicks about quantity when it comes to money.

The amazing thing about the Dempsey tour is that even though most of the fans where he appears believe he is no longer on a par with the best, they still are all for him. The crowds that clamor to see him are mainly those who watched him in his prime or who have heard the legendary tales that grow around a champion.

Unless Dempsey believes he still has much of his old punch I don't think he would have accepted a match with Levinsky. The King's technique may not be so good, but there is nothing wrong with his heart nor his wallop. A fellow strong enough to knock down Tommy Loughran two or three times and earn a decision can hardly be called a bum.

A knockout would be a sharp setback for either fighter. It will surprise thousands if one occurs.

SINGLE STAR IS HIALEAH PARK FEATURE WINNER

Just Gets Nose Up to Beat Tombereau.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Joseph Edward's Single Star won the fifth race, feature offering at Hialeah Park today, by a scant nose, the filly just getting up under a hard ride by H. Mills. Tombereau, which had led to the last furlong, was second, a length in front of Salisbury, the favorite.

Single Star was reserved off the pace but held in striking distance, and at the sixteenth began wearing down the leader. She paid $5.50, and ran the six furlongs in the fast time of 1:11 3-5.

Glenside Wins.

Glenside, Please, and Knowlton was the order of the finish in the fourth race and a nose and a head separated the three. Tommy Malley was the winning jockey on Mrs. V. M. Duncan's 4 year old Glenside, and the gelding hung on with courage after racing the pacemaker, Knowlton, into defeat to stave off the final rush of Please.

Robertson held Please off the pace, but failed by inches to catch the winner. Knowlton, the favorite, rushed from the barrier as if to make a runaway of the race and almost succeeded. The winner paid $6.60. The time was 1:24 2-5 for seven furlongs.

Catron Puts Over Bosafabo.

Under an energetic ride by Jockey Catron, Bosafabo, from the Mrs. S. Bennett stable, followed the pace set by La Golondrina and drew away in the stretch to score a length victory in the one mile gallop in the third race. Parties closed considerable ground in the final furlong to account for the place, three lengths before Phantom Rock. Hleover, the choice, dropped back after going a half mile and finished fifth in the field of eight. The winner's price was $7.50 and the time was 1:38 4-5.

PURPLE BASKET, MAT, SWIM TEAMS W

LONDOS, WITHOUT THAT NECK LOCK, GRAPPLES DUSEK

Old Rivals Top Coliseum Card Tonight.

Jim Londos makes his first start of the year in Chicago tonight against persistent Rudy Dusek, Omaha Bohemian, at the Coliseum.

Unusual interest has been attracted to the match as Londos' most effective weapon, the neck lock, has been declared illegal by the Illinois athletic commission. It was with this grip that Londos downed Dusek when they met here six weeks ago.

Dusek carried his fight to the local commission to have the hold barred on the grounds that it was a strangle. He was backed up by Dr. L. K. Eastman, local sportsman.

Whether this coup by Dusek will give him an advantage or not remains to be seen. The decision naturally nettled Londos and he is expected to be more warlike than usual when they come to grips in the two falls to a finish battle.

Ticket sales indicate a large crowd.

Jim McMillen, thoroughly recovered from an injury that kept him from the mat for several months, is in the semi-windup spot against Jim Clinkstock, Cherokee Indian from Oklahoma. From this match and the other three probably will come a future opponent for either Londos or Dusek.

Two Germans are on the bill, Hans Steinke meeting George Hills, Wisconsin, and Hans Kampfer trading holds with Frank Bronowicz. George Calza, Italy's best heavyweight, goes against Floyd Marshall, California, in the other match.

Tonight's Card.

Jim Londos vs. Rudy Dusek, two out of three falls to a finish.
Jim McMillen vs. Jim Clinkstock.
George Hills vs. Hans Steinke.
Frank Bronowicz vs. Hans Kampfer.
George Calza vs. Floyd Marshall.
First match—8:15 o'clock.

Some Ducks Spend Winter in Chicago

BY BOB BECKER.

Some Chicagoans have been quite excited this winter by the presence of several large flocks of ducks on Lake Michigan. Although there may be more than the usual number of these birds around this winter, the fact is that we have several species which every winter take up their residence on the lake and consider Chicago waters pretty comfortable as a winter resort.

We have been watching several flocks of ducks near our home some 32 miles north of the loop. It is quite easy to pick them up with binoculars early in the morning when the birds apparently are flying from an area where they have spent the night to a feeding ground.

Several Species Remain.

There are three or four species of open water or diving ducks which can be seen around here nearly any winter. Usually they include two species of mergansers or so called fish ducks, with which the sportsmen have little to do, the old squaw and the golden eye. Earlier in the season there are rafts of bluebills, which sometimes stay with us for a number of weeks.

Colin C. Sanborn of the Field museum also records among our possible winter ducks the scoters. They may or may not come down from the north for the winter so probably they should be considered as irregular residents. So far we have been unable to see any from our stretch of shoreline on the north shore, probably due to the fact that the birds, when around, stay far out in the lake.

Mergansers Are Hardy.

The mergansers are well equipped to stand a winter on Lake Michigan as they are thoroughly at home in deep or rough water. When the wind is blowing from the shore we have seen them come in quite close to occupy the quiet water which has been cleared of drift ice.

HALF OF SEASON'S GRID DEATHS ARE NOT GRID DEATHS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Twenty-two, or only slightly more than half of the 43 deaths charged to football last season, were due to actual play in games. This is shown by information gathered by Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at the University of Michigan. Yost will give his information to the football rules committee at its meeting Saturday.

Eight sandlot, seven college, and seven high school players make up the list of players who succumbed through actual competition. Eight deaths were caused by fracture of cervical vertebræ four by peritonitis, four by cerebral hemorrhage, and one each by ruptured spleen, concussion, skull fracture, and coronary embolism. The exact cause could not be learned in two cases.

One "Death" Was Mistake.

Of the 21 persons whose deaths were charged to football, but traced to other causes, six died of infection which was neglected, two of pneumonia, three, who did not play football, from unknown causes, and one each from kidney disease, typhoid fever, wrestling, appendicitis, heart disease, internal hemorrhage due to physiological defects, and infantile paralysis, the report says.

One death was that of a small boy who chased a football into the street and was killed by a truck. Another was due to an individual's kicking a soccer football and falling in the road. In still another case the person has never been heard of in the community where he is said to have been killed. In the 21st case the report was false, the person being alive and well.

Equipment Bears Watching.

Yost's report mentions specially the number of deaths resulting from infections caused by abrasions and points out the definite need of attention to small cuts. It also casts suspicion on the hard leather headgear and fiber pads, intimating that the man who comes in contact with them is in danger. Fatal injuries are in inverse proportion to the degree of coaching, training, and medical supervision exercised, it points out.

More than 6,500,000 boys and young men are playing football in the United States, Yost estimates and suggests that were the number cut in two, 22 deaths would represent a small percentage.

Seven players were killed on offense and 12 on defense, Yost further disclosed. Six deaths occurred among tackles, six among backs, and four among ends, and three among centers.

Yost Makes Suggestions.

Yost suggested in the report that equipment should be made with consideration for the opponent's safety as well as the wearer's, players should be impressed with the importance of paying attention to scratches, officials should pay great attention to improper use of knees and hands, and officials should penalize all unnecessary roughness.

U. S. Driver Breaks Two Records; Wins Bobsled Run

scribed an apple and cured him on the spot.

The ski run was a long drawn event, the men being started one at a time and racing only against the stop-watch, and the field was strung out in a long meandering parade for hours. There was some complaint against the American snow, which was not of just the right character for artistic ski hopping today because the thaw had made it sticky and some of the Swiss in the race reported that they had to stop and hack the snow from their runners with pocketknives.

The Norwegians, after much planning, secrecy, and scientific research to develop just the correct kind of wax to meet every known condition that snow is subject to, had rubbed their skis with the wrong kind of wax after all, they said, and the snow accumulated anyway.

Wax is an important item in the equipment of a ski runner and the professional instructors, mainly Norwegians, who infest the American winter resorts giving lessons to fatigued business men, all claim to have their private and incomparable formulas to speed the ski over the snow with the utmost rapidity for the least effort.

Utterstrom Wins for Sweden.

Sven Utterstrom, the cross-country champion, won the race for Sweden, with Vikstrom second and Saariner and Lappalainen, both of Finland, third and fourth.

But Grottumsbratten, recovered from his patriotic cramp and finishing sixth, led a field of Scandinavians who were entered in a combination running and jumping event, consisting of today's hike and a series of leaps off the high tower set on a mountain top, to be executed Thursday.

The ski jumps are another spectacular item on the Olympic program, presenting many large Scandinavians and Americans in graceful flights through space to apparently certain death. However, the morbid expectations of the patrons who have been waiting for the jumps are not likely to be fulfilled, because the better jumpers, when they fall, almost always fall with ease and nonchalance and no serious consequences.

The four-man bob teams will go into action tomorrow also as the Olympic program moves into the circus phase, and the Americans now seem fairly certain to win in this European sport, too, with Harry Homburger's native crew and the American society crew from New York, St. Moritz and Paris, riding down the chute. The Germans have lost most of their good bobbers in consequence of accidents during the practice runs and there is much talk among the bobbers about this one and that one having lost his nerve in contemplation of the shocking smashups.

Mr. Stevens Speaks.

"But," Mr. Hubert Stevens pointed out when his bob had won the two man race this evening, "these smashups shouldn't affect any one except the men who are smashed up. Automobile drivers become very familiar with smashups along the roads on Sundays in summer and I have never heard of any one putting up a car and refusing to drive any more because he happened to see a wreck."

The hockey championship probably will go to the Canadian team, but it seems that this will constitute a doubtful honor this year. Americans are now quite familiar with good hockey and the hockey which the teams have played in this Olympic tournament is generally acknowledged to be some of the worst hockey in the world.

FRACTURED LEG TO KEEP NEWSOM FROM CUBS' CAMP

L. N. (Buck) Newsom, a pitcher by trade, will not be among the Cubs leaving here Saturday evening for the Catalina Island training camp. He will be detained at home indefinitely by a fractured leg. News of the young man's misfortune reached William Veeck, the Cub president, late yesterday afternoon in a letter from Hartsville, S. C.

Newsom sent along a doctor's affidavit to prove that he wasn't kidding about the mishap, but he neglected to provide details as to the cause of the accident.

Drafted from Little Rock.

Newsom, a right hander, who had a record of 16 wins and 14 defeats last season, was drafted from the Little Rock, Ark., Southern association team.

Two more games have been added to the exhibition schedule which the Cubs will have to run through before they get down to their regular season's work. The two added attractions will be staged March 5 and 6 with the Giants at the Catalina Island field and no admission will be charged.

Hornsby Arrives Today.

Manager Hornsby will arrive today and will be followed closely by the men who are to make up the rookie squad which departs from here. The players starting from Chicago will be Gabby Hartnett, Zack Taylor, Rollie Hemsley, Del Young, Vin Barton, Bill Jurges, Johnny Moore, and Mike Kreevich. Ed Baecht, Archie Miller, Lyle Tinning, Lon Warneke, and Johnny Welch will join up en route. Leroy Herrmann, William Campbell, Stanley Hack, Harry Taylor, and Marvin Gudat will report at Los Angeles. Pat Malone, the only veteran pitcher to be included in the early squad, is already in camp.

SONJA HENIE WINS OLYMPIC SKATING TITLE FOR 2D TIME

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Sonja Henie, petite Norwegian blond, tonight was again crowned queen of the world's women figure skaters after what many experts said was the greatest performance of her career, in the winter Olympic competition here.

The Olympic committee's decision, announced after fifteen representatives of seven nations had performed before the first sell out crowd of the international competition, returned to the 20 year old Norwegian girl the honors she won four years ago at the St. Moritz Olympics, when she swept all opposition before her. Five times Sonja has been acclaimed world's champion in her class, aside from the Olympic honors that are hers.

Fritz Burger, Austria, was second. Maribel Vinson of Boston was highest among the Americans, winning third place. Constance Wilson Samuel of Canada was fourth. The other places:

Fifth, Vivi-Anne Hulten, Sweden; sixth, Yvonne De Linge, Belgium; seventh, Megan Taylor, Great Britain; eighth, Magdalen Colledge, Great Britain; ninth, Mollie Phillips, Great Britain; tenth, Joan Dix, Great Britain; eleventh, Margaret Bennett, Minnesota; twelfth, Suzanne Davis of Boston, and thirteenth, Elizabeth Fisher, Canada.

CHAMPIONS ON BELLE PLAINE CARD TONIGHT

Ketter, Tonn to Clash in Feature.

North side suburban champions and a Golden Gloves alternate, Merrill Tonn, will feature the amateur card tonight at the Bell Plaine Athletic club, 3943 Lincoln avenue. Matchmaker Marshall Richie announced yesterday that Tonn will fight Frank Ketter, north side heavyweight champion, in one headline bout. Another brings into action Billy Glasgow, flyweight titleholder, and Matty Plavonitch. Phil Heinz, welterweight champion, and Fred Becker, middleweight titleholder, meet Henry Flug and Bud Shannon, respectively, in two other matches. Four other bouts will be held.

Dave Maier, Milwaukee southpaw, who meets Mike Mandell, St. Paul heavyweight, in the eight round windup bout of Pep Kerwin's show tomorrow night at the Rainbo Fronton, compares with Jack Dempsey in many respects when the former heavyweight champion was starting out, according to ring critics. Dempsey is famous for his powerful left hook, and the Milwaukee light heavyweight is becoming noted for his left hook, which is conceded to be more powerful than Jack's becomes as it is delivered from a southpaw stance. They also point out that Dempsey acquired his punching power from doing manual labor, and Dave developed his wallop from the same source. Two six round matches and five bouts at four rounds each will comprise the supporting card, and these were announced yesterday.

Promoters Lou Heckl and Jabber Young announced last night that an amateur card of eight star bouts will be presented tomorrow night at the Northwest Lions Athletic club, 4300 West North avenue. Phil Pernice and Rubin Meyer will battle in one feature contest. Another will have Jimmy Spata and George McGee.

Billy Jones, Philadelphia Negro boxer, and George Nichols, Buffalo southpaw, were signed yesterday to meet in a ten round match on the Chicago Stadium card Feb. 18. The bout will be the only semi-final contest in the light heavyweight championship tournament, Baxter Calmes and Harry Ebbets, two of the five remaining contestants dropping out of the series because of weight trouble. The winner of the Jones-Nichols battle will meet Dave Maier for the National Boxing association's championship later. Jack Dempsey and King Levinsky, who will meet in a four round headline bout, will use ten ounce gloves, it was announced yesterday. Three other matches will round out the card.

Roy Williams, south side middleweight, will be Dave Shade's opponent at White City next Monday night. Mique Malloy will sign Williams today to fight Shade for ten rounds at 165 pounds. Nell Donald and Marie Lapatina, women wrestlers, will meet in an exhibition bout on the card.

"He's trying to be fair"

MR. CARLTON is a straight-forward business man—never did an unfair thing in his life. He wants to give responsible people a real hearing—because he asks the same treatment for his own men. But in this interview his attention wanders. He can't give the salesman a "break." In a vague sort of way he's wondering why the visitor isn't a bit more careful about shaving. A straggly bit of stubble here and there has spoiled the caller's chances.

• • •

It is possibly a bit unfortunate that a clean shave is considered so important. Many men avoid close, frequent shaving because of discomfort. They don't know that the blade Gillette offers today makes shaving easy and agreeable. Beyond question—this is the sharpest blade we have ever produced. Prove this on our guarantee. Buy a package of Gillette blades and try one. If they don't measure up to your expectations—if every shave isn't amazingly clean and pleasant—return the package to your dealer and he'll refund the entire purchase price.

EDGAR WALLACE DEATH CUTS OFF PROLIFIC CAREER

Writer Rose from Slums to Riches.

Beverly Hills, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Edgar Wallace, most prolific of modern novelists, died here today of pneumonia, which he contracted three days ago.

He was 56 years old, and since he graduated from a private in the British ranks during the Boer war to become a war correspondent, he had written more than 150 novels—he was uncertain of the number himself—between 1,300 and 1,400 short stories, and 20 plays.

He came to Hollywood last December to write for motion pictures. He got a fat contract from American producers after his work as a writer and director of mystery and thriller pictures had won him the chairmanship of a British motion picture corporation. At the time of his death arrangements were in progress for him to direct his own stories in Hollywood studios.

Born in London Slums.

Wallace was born in the London slums. His parents were so poor that they had to place him in a public boarding school. His formal education stopped at 10, when he started selling apers on London streets. At 11 he was cabin boy on a North sea trawler.

He joined the British army when he was 18 years old, and it was awhile he was serving as a private in the Boer war that he began writing. His first products were ballads modeled after those of Kipling, of whom Wallace was a great admirer, and presently a close friend.

With his poetry he earned enough money to buy his discharge from the army, and finished the war as correspondent for Reuter's news agency and the London Daily Mail. He showed his flair for the sensational even in those days. One of his dispatches, charging that Boers had killed wounded British soldiers on the battlefield, was the subject of heated debate in parliament.

Before returning to England he edited the first English newspaper in the regions conquered from the Boers. By 1905 he had started his mass production of fiction. It was his habit to write at least a dozen novels a year. He employed two stenographers and a voice recording device. Two weeks were time enough for a novel, and many of his plays were turned out in a single week-end.

Royalties Enormous.

His royalties were enormous. The 1,500,000 of his books sold in the United States contributed only a small part of his income. He sold five million copies a year throughout the world, and last year six of his plays were financially successful in London alone. For one of them, written in two days, he got $100,000.

Wallace came to Hollywood expecting to write a story a week for the screen. He cut his schedule in half because the studios were unable to keep pace with him. Asked if his death had been hastened by overwork, his physician, Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, replied:

"On the contrary, he had not worked so hard here as was his custom."

Word Reaches Widow at Sea.

His widow, summoned from London when his condition became alarming yesterday, received word of his death half an hour after she sailed. He had four children, three of whom are now in school in Switzerland.

Wallace made several flying visits to Chicago, on which he visited scenes of gang crimes and picked up material for several of his novels and plays.

"Chicago epitomizes all that is best and most robust in America," he said. "It is really not the crime center of the world, so much as Paris, but Chicago is the center of sensational crimes. It is the most hospitable city in America, and one day will be the greatest city in the world."

Court Takes Son from Mother; Custody to Father

Following an investigation by social service workers, Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday awarded George R Sountag, 1915 South 51st avenue, Cicero, custody of his 13 year old son, Kenneth. The boy had been living with his mother, Mrs. Ellen Sountag, 5105 West 21st street, Cicero, who obtained a separate maintenance decree a year ago. The father charged that the mother spent her time at bridge parties, leaving their son to cook most of his own meals. Judge Trude reduced her support payments from $20 to $15 a week.

Teacher Stricken While Teaching a Class; Dies

Miss Ida C. Balter, 62 years old, 1400 Lake Shore drive, was stricken with a heart attack yesterday afternoon while teaching her pupils in the primary grade at the Jenner elementary school, 1009 Milton street, and died shortly afterward. Miss Balter had been teaching at the Jenner school since 1916. She is survived by her sister, Clara, also a teacher. Miss Balter will be buried in Charleston, her birth place, on Saturday.

Nuns Escape as Fire Razes Prince Edward Convent

RUSTICO, Prince Edward Island, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Five nuns and twelve pupils escaped in night attire early today when fire destroyed a large convent and Catholic boarding school here. An early checkup indicated there were no casualties. The convent and school formed the center of community life in this small fishing village, and residents worked valiantly in a bucket brigade in a futile attempt to save the two buildings.

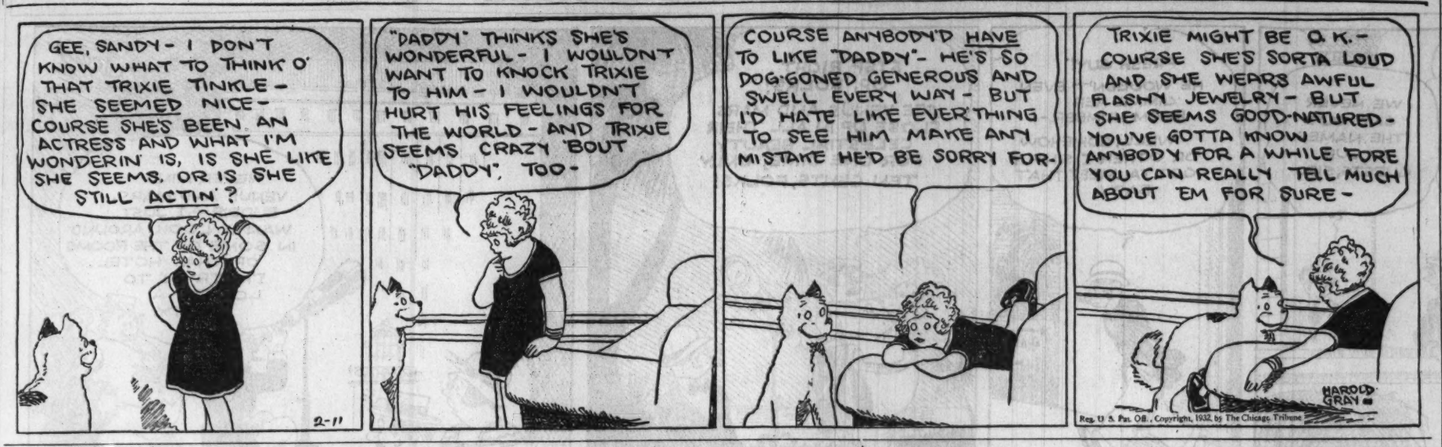
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: As Annie Sees Her



PACK CHURCHES AS OBSERVANCE OF LENT BEGINS

Bishop from Kansas Is Preacher.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Chicago observed Ash Wednesday yesterday, with churches of many faiths crowded. Pastors of both Catholic and Protestant faiths assert that the spirit of the worshipers points to a recovery of religious values and shows that the economic slump has brought increasing numbers of people to observe spiritual realities again.

Hourly masses were celebrated yesterday morning at Holy Name cathedral and in virtually all Catholic churches throughout the city. Following the ancient custom ashes were blessed and sprinkled over the members of the congregation, and the sign of the cross was made on communicants' foreheads by the priests.

Bishop James Wise of Kansas was the preacher for the first of the noon Lenten services at the Garrick theater, held under the auspices of the Chicago Episcopal Church club.

Recalls Scriptural Counsel.

"The scriptural admonition, 'Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth,' is still valid," said Bishop Wise. "It leads to hoarded wealth, the possession of which fills men with fear and terror that it may be lost. A frenzied hour on the stock exchange can and did destroy for many that on which their hopes and hearts were set."

The Kansas bishop criticized the "prevalent mealy mouthed kind of religious philosophy." He said people must face the fact that the Christian religion has teeth in it and that men cannot tamper with its principles or deny its ideals with impunity.

"Some people," said Bishop Wise, "have the idea that the way to overcome the depression is to deny its existence. Stimulate business, these say, and all will be well. Increase production and consumption and good cheer will be found just around the corner. All the artificial stimulation of commerce in the world will not create a single value of reality. The real remedy lies deeper than that."

Bishop Stewart Talks.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago discussed three purposes of Lent in an address yesterday over radio station W-G-N. He declared that the season is really one of joy and not gloom and taboos; one of self-realization, self-release, and self-fulfillment through self-denial.

"Lent means deliberate detachment, decisive discipline, and deepening devotion," said Bishop Stewart. "Our lives are amazingly complex. The days are cluttered with engagements, torn with fierce demands. The church has no sour puritanical hostility toward dancing or the theater or accustomed social pleasures, but it has the good sense to know that every one needs at least 40 days out of the year when these and other affairs of equal unimportance are not in command of our lives."

Two Injured in Naphtha Blast at Paint Factory

Two men were seriously burned late yesterday when naphtha fumes exploded in the varnish mixing room of the Devoe & Reynolds Paint company at 825 West Chicago avenue. About 100 workers in the four story brick building hurried into the street when they heard the explosion. The injured men are Alfred Thorpe, 29 years old, 2838 West North avenue, and Ernest Johnson, 28 years old, 2623 North Spaulding avenue. The windows in the mixing room are kept open because of the naphtha fumes, and a spark from a neighboring chimney is believed to have caused the explosion. The property damage was about $1,000.

2 KILLED WHEN FAST TRAIN HITS AUTO IN SUBURB

Lansing Couple Dies in Crossing Crash.

Two persons were killed late last night when their automobile was struck and demolished by a fast passenger train on the Pennsylvania line at 182d street in Lansing. The victims were Eldrud Schultz, 25 years old, and Miss Madeline Kammerer, 20, his niece, both of 125 East Ridge road, Lansing.

The two were returning home from the Lutheran Evangelical church at the time of the accident. As their car reached the rails, the Atlantic Express, bound for Pittsburgh, and driven by Engineer Samuel Eisenbise, hit them. Shultz was hurled 20 feet out of the machine.

Fog Obscures Vision.

Police said that Schultz knew the area well, but probably failed to see the tracks because of fog. The crossing was unguarded, and the only visual protection consisted of a light and a criss-cross sign. A watchman is kept at the crossing until 11 p. m. According to police the grade is particularly treacherous because buildings abut almost to the tracks, cutting off visibility.

These deaths and two others increased the Cook county toll to 128 since Jan. 1. The other victims:

Charles Parker, 54 years old, 6920 South Ada street. Fatally injured last night when he was struck by the automobile of Al Colk, 7652 South Wood street, at Loomis and 70th street.

Orville E. Thompson, 38 years old, of 828 East 88th place. Died this morning in the Burnside hospital. He was struck last night at 89th street and Cottage Grove avenue by a Yellow cab. The driver took him to the hospital and left after leaving his driver's number. Police learned his name is Henry Simmons. They are seeking him.

Salesman Gets Thrill.

Theodore R. Mendelssohn, a salesman for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, living at the Webster hotel, 2150 Lincoln Park West, experienced one dramatic thrill last night which doubtless he'd rather see in the films. His automobile stalled on a railroad crossing in Porter, Ind., just as a fast New York Central freight train bore down on him. Mendelssohn leaped out. He tried to push his machine off the tracks. Unsuccessful, he tried to flag the train, but he was too late and his car was demolished. The front pony wheels of the locomotive were derailed by the crash.

ROB WOMAN IN HER HOME.

Two bandits entered the home of Mrs. Marie Focosi, 35 years old, 5914 Elston avenue, yesterday, gagged her with a towel and escaped with her wrist watch.

PUBLIC SERVICE GROSS AND NET BOTH PASS 1930

Insull Firm Earns $10.58 a Share.

Principal commodity and security markets in the United States will be closed tomorrow, Lincoln's birthday. Trading will be resumed Saturday in all markets, including the Chicago and New York Stock exchanges and the Chicago Board of Trade. The Chicago Live Stock market will remain open tomorrow.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, the third of the big Insull operating companies to issue annual reports this week, made a relatively better showing for 1931 than either the Commonwealth Edison or Peoples Gas Light and Coke companies.

In spite of adverse general conditions, Public Service increased both its gross and net earnings from normal operations. It accomplished new high records for both items. However, its investment subsidiary, the Public Service Subsidiary corporation, incurred a considerable loss as the result of its stock market transactions in stocks of the parent company. In this respect, it followed Commonwealth Edison and Peoples Gas.

Gross Up Slightly.

Gross revenues of Public Service of Northern Illinois were $35,916,019 last year, compared with $35,405,093 in 1930, an increase of $510,925, or 1.4 per cent. This increase was made in spite of a reduction in gas and electric rates which represented $1,009,000, according to President Britton I. Budd. On the other hand, operating expenses were $21,735,254, compared with $21,758,049 in 1930, a decrease of $22,795.

Chiefly as the result of economies, net income for 1931 was $7,589,784, equivalent after preferred dividends to $10.58 a share on 618,320 common shares outstanding at the end of the year. Net income for 1930 was $7,564,046, or $12.92 a share, on 504,344 common shares. Dividends on the common stock last year required $4,440,042, being at the rate of 8 per cent, and thereafter $2,245,137 was added to surplus, which now stands at $18,483,474.

Subsidiary's Results.

Public Service of Northern Illinois increased its investment in its wholly owned Public Service Subsidiary corporation from $15,998,700 at the end of 1930 to $32,598,700 at the end of 1931. The latter corporation sold to the parent company $15,600,000 of a new issue of preferred stock and an additional $1,000,000 of common stock.

At the end of 1931 the Public Service Subsidiary corporation held stocks and stock rights of the parent company with a market value of $4,865,808. Its transactions in these securities resulted in a loss and write down of $2,562,678. But it had net income of $719,689 and an investment profit of $26,255. It paid out $87,166 in preferred dividends. The net result was that surplus was reduced to $491,760, compared with $2,395,660 at the end of 1930.

JANUARY OUTPUT OF AUTOMOBILES PLACED A T 126,516

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—January production of automobiles in the United States and Canada was estimated today by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at 126,516 units, against 123,965 in December and 178,344 in January, 1931. The increase over December was 2 per cent and the decline from last year was 29.1 per cent.

The chamber reported that the increase over December was made despite the fact that the Ford Motor company was virtually out of production incidental to the preparation of a revised four cylinder model and the probably introduction soon of an eight cylinder machine.

This would indicate that the normal production of the entire industry would not be off more than 5 per cent from last year's figures instead of the 29.1 per cent cut shown.

As against virtually no output last month, Ford world output in January, 1931, was 55,182 units. Probably around 50,000 of these were made in this country or Canada, so that, without Ford in January, 1931, the industry's output was about 128,344 units.

Congoleum-Nairn Co. Income Shows Big Gain

The Congoleum-Nairn company reported net income of $1,030,827 for 1931, equivalent to 90 cents a share, compared with $208,839 in 1930, or eight cents a share.

U. S. Steel Has 87,203 Ton Backlog Drop

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—The United States Steel corporation today reported a decrease of 87,203 tons in unfilled orders during January to the new all time low record for any month of 2,648,150 tons, compared with 2,735,353 in December and the high of 12,183,083 registered in April, 1917.

While the reduction caused little surprise in Wall street, most prophets believed that adjustments by the company would hold the figures closer together.

It was pointed out some days ago that the volume of business being placed by the railroads during the opening month of the year had been disappointing, due to the fact that it was delayed by the settlement of the wage question as well as to the belief that the railroads will do more bargaining than usual regarding the prices at which they will place their orders for new rails.

Auto Orders Lag.

Also, the lack of volume orders from the automobile manufacturers, despite the fact that at several of the shows there were optimistic reports of a greater demand and actual sales of cars, indicated a reflection of this in the Steel corporation's report this noon on its forward business.

With today's report down to the lowest figure in the last twenty-one years—in fact, the total of 2,648,150 tons is the smallest backlog the corporation has shown for January since the monthly figures were first made public in 1911—a new low record is established for any of the months since that date.

At 28 Per Cent of Capacity.

The steel industry is unable to make progress because of conditions which restrict the purchase of material on almost every hand, Iron Age said today.

The publication estimated current ingot production at 28 per cent of capacity, unchanged from last week, but said there had been "a sharp decline in volume of orders for some products, notably those going to the automobile industry." Expectations of an increase this month are based largely on prospective railroad purchases, chiefly rails.

Curtail Schedules.

"A very definite factor in business curtailment is the slowing down of schedules by the motor car manufacturers," said the review, "caused by lagging sales and the desire to move slowly until Ford's plans are fully revealed. Curtailment is especially in evidence among units of General Motors, whose January sales, both to dealers and car users, were below those of December, going against the usual trend. It is now doubtful whether February output of cars will equal that of January.

"In building there is virtually no private work, while lettings of fabricated structural steel and reinforcing bars for public projects are unfavorably affected by state and municipal budget reductions. Bookings of fabricated structural steel this week are only 5,250 tons, the smallest for any week since the Iron Age began compiling this record, and new projects call for only 7,000 tons."

JAPAN SHIPS GOLD HERE TO BOOST CREDIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—Japan is sending to San Francisco this week $18,500,000 in gold to strengthen her credit. Of this amount $13,500,000 is expected here early Saturday, according to United States customs officials, $5,000,000 having arrived last Sunday.

These shipments in the first 15 days of the current month bring the total Japanese cargoes of gold to San Francisco since the first of the year to approximately $28,500,000.

Since Japan invaded and took over the Chinese northeastern provinces of Manchuria last September she has shipped $181,370,000 in gold to San Francisco. During the calendar months of last year her total exports to this city were $184,356,700, and the total since January of last year aggregates more than $313,856,700.

Japanese officials in San Francisco said today these shipments constitute an expression of Japan's confidence in the United States. They denied they were being used to finance the military movements in China.

Bright Spots in Business

Henry Schroder Banking corporation announced yesterday that $1,750,000 State of Sao Paulo 7 per cent coffee realization loan bonds have been drawn for redemption at par and will be paid on and after April 1. After this retirement there will remain outstanding $29,739,000 of the $55,000,000 originally issued.

Total dividend distributions by Standard Oil companies and other so-called Standard Oil units for the first quarter this year are estimated around $48,800,000.

It is understood that the New York Telephone company, plans to spend $76,000,000 during 1932 for plant additions, betterments and replacements.

Safeway Stores, Inc., reported for the four weeks ended Jan. 30, 1932, sales of $18,560,312, compared with $15,660,384 for the four weeks ended Jan. 31, 1931, an increase of 18½ per cent.

The Chicago and North Western railway's loadings yesterday of 3,920 cars, are low for this time of year, but the best daily loadings since Dec. 3, Fred W. Sargent, president of the road said.

C. E. Dawson, president of the General Motors Fleet Sales corporation, reports that combined sales of General Motors cars and trucks to national fleet users for January were 55 per cent ahead of the same month last year.

RAILWAYS PLAN DRIVE TO REGAIN LOST TRAFFIC

Seek Less Than Carload Business.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

American railroads are about to make a concerted effort to recapture the less than car load freight business which they have been steadily losing to motor trucks utilizing the public highways. This effort will be made through the Railway Express agency which is owned jointly by some eighty-two of the major railroads of the country.

Officials of the agency yesterday told of plans to start two experimental lines, one operating between Chicago and Milwaukee and the other between Chicago and South Bend, to handle less than car load freight. They believe that operation can be made a financial success and if this is so the agency may carry on general expansion of the trucking business.

Door to Door Service.

It is expected that a number of tractors and trailers will be put into service between the above points in the near future. Rates, it was stated, will probably be slightly above rates charged by the railroads, but the service provided will be door to door.

The agency already has ten terminal stations in Chicago to serve as bases for the truck operations. It now has some 600 vehicles operating in Chicago which will be used in the new service.

How serious has been the roads' less than carload freight losses since the perfection of paved roads may be seen in the following figures. In 1911 the roads handled 35,175,164 tons of this type of freight. In 1916 the tonnage had increased to 52,910,848, and in 1920 to 53,202,296. After 1920 there had been a steady recession in less than carload volume. Only in 1922, 1923, and 1925 were gains shown over the immediately preceding years, although in all three years the volume was substantially less than the 1920 peak.

In the prosperous years of 1928 and 1929 the tonnage had shrunk to 36,953,931 and 36,043,271 respectively. And in 1930 only 29,666,721 tons of less than carload freight were carried, almost 6,000,000 tons behind 1911.

May Use Idle Rail Workers.

Agency officials stated yesterday that very likely if general trucking expansion is carried on serious consideration will be given the request of the railroad unions that furloughed rail workers be given employment in this field.

In another direct attempt to regain business lost to the trucks the agency yesterday announced that it has reduced rates from the New Albany berry district of southern Indiana, from about $1.50 a hundred pounds to $1.00 on less than carload business, and 90 cents on carload lots. It is expected that some 400 carloads of berries, mostly strawberries, will be carried this season.

P. LORILLARD CO. NET EARNINGS SHOW BIG GAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—An increase of more than $1,200,000 in net income is shown in the 1931 report of the P. Lorillard company, large tobacco firm. GOLDBLATT BROS. SET NEW HIGH MARKS FOR SALES AND EARNINGS

Goldblatt Brothers, operating a chain of five department stores in Chicago and one in Hammond, last year did the largest volume of business and earned the largest profits in the company's history.

Total sales for 1931 were $17,122,448, compared with $15,154,269 in 1930. Net profits were $908,456, equivalent to $4.42 a share on 205,472 common shares outstanding at the end of the year. Net profits for 1930 were $754,237, or $3.67 a share. Last year the company paid cash dividends totaling $237,544 and stock and scrip dividends totaling $68,332.

"Each one of our units showed an increase in volume over the previous year," President Maurice Goldblatt said in his report. "With the acquisition of Loren Miller & Company, Broadway and Lawrence avenue, in August and Kaufmann & Wolf, Hammond, in December, we were given an opportunity of expanding our sales volume. Our two new stores are operating very successfully and have more than come up to our expectations."

The company's balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1931, shows current assets of $2,880,311 and current liabilities of $1,248,852; surplus of $1,656,650; and total assets of $8,117,498.

U. S. ISSUES DROP A LITTLE IN DULL BOND SESSION

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Buyers held aloof from an uninspiring bond market today which was featured by moderate offerings of government loans, carrying liberty and treasury issues a shade lower. The prime liberty 3½s reacted 1-16th of a point. Other securities were off a scant fraction. In the corporate group, the utilities held relatively better than the railroad and industrial liens. Except for a few scattered issues, however, changes were fractional in all groups.

In the railroad list, Santa Fe, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Union Pacific bonds held within a fraction of their closing prices of yesterday. Canadian National railway 4½s and Southern Pacific 4½s showed losses of 1 point or more. Chicago and Alton refunding 3s advanced 1 point.

A similar trend was apparent in the industrial list, American Sugar refunding 6s, Inland Steel 4½s, International Match 5s and American Metal 5½s losing around a point.

Lack of Blue Sky Law Lets Bucket Shops Trim Victims

BY SCRUTATOR.

The bill requiring the registration of brokers and dealers in securities in Illinois has already been passed by the lower house without a dissenting vote. If this bill becomes a law the state securities commission will again be in a position to protect the public against bucket shops and security swindlers.

The commission lost its most effective weapon two months ago when the Illinois Supreme court declared invalid that part of the blue sky act which provided for registration of firms dealing in securities.

Since then the securities racketeers have had a field day. New houses have sprung up to practice all the tricks of the trade, and some of the old houses have reawakened.

The 1932 variety of bucket shop possesses some subtle refinements that its predecessors lacked, but it is essentially the same old game. There are the usual "market letters," tipster sheets, unsolicited telephone calls and high pressure sales tactics.

A Quick Killing.

A few years back the bucketeer made no attempt to convince his customer that he had actually bought the stock ordered. He made a quick killing and departed with the loot.

Your 1932 bucket shop follows carefully the advice of counsel and gingerly skirts the fringes of the law. If a customer who has ordered a hundred shares of General Motors on margin becomes suspicious and asks to see the stock certificate, he is shown it. The next customer, of course, is shown the same certificate, but the ruse works.

Getting the victim to order some well known, legitimate stock is only a starter. The next step is to switch him into something else on which the house can make a profit.

From the moment the client places his first order the cards are stacked against him. The carefully trained salesman knows exactly the line of persuasion he will use a week or ten days hence. He knows just when he will attempt to make the switch and how he will affect wounded dignity in case the customer talks of checking through some disinterested source.

Leonard D. Karcher, assistant manager of the Investors' Protective bureau, says that one firm that the bureau has been checking ran up a telephone bill of $4.500 for ten days last month.

Over His Head.

The average individual has as little chance to detect fraud in dealing with bucket shops as a city newsboy would have in trying to spot a tubercular cow. He's playing a game that's over his head and he hasn't a chance against the carefully arranged series of traps prepared for him. Superficially these schemes all have the appearance of legitimacy.

Inquiries that come to THE TRIBUNE Investors' Guide indicate that doctors, dentists, teachers and other professional people who have a steady income but not much practical business experience are especially susceptible to these quick profit schemes.

Enactment of the proposed law has been urged by Rupert F. Bippus, head of the securities commission, and A. Wayne Clemens, who has charge of the commission's Chicago office.

"It would not eliminate all fraud," says Mr. Clemens, "but it would help considerably. The securities commission would be empowered to refuse registration to houses known to be operating fraudulently. They could be made to appear and show cause why their registration should not be revoked. At present our hands are tied."

SEE CONTEST FOR DEBENTURES OF GEN. THEATERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—The contest for deposits of the $30,000,000 General Theaters Equipment, Inc., 6 per cent debentures, on which the interest due April 1, is not expected to be paid, became an established fact today when announcement was made of the formation of a second protective committee for the issue in which the Chase National bank is importantly represented. The new committee has called for deposits of the debentures by holders by April 1, whereas the first committee, which describes itself as "an independent and impartial committee," has set April 15 as the last date it will receive deposits.

The new committee will be headed by Arthur W. Loasby, former president of the Equitable Trust company, now merged with the Chase, and will include Frank Callahan, of the Chase Securities corporation, Edward C. Delafield, of the City Bank Farmers Trust company, Lloyd S. Gilmour of Blyth & Co., Inc., Seton Porter of Sanderson & Porter, Ray W. Stephenson, of Nassatt & Co., Philadelphia, and Schuyler B. Terry, of the Chase Harris Forbes corporation, Chicago.

Claims Sugar Institute Renders Public Service

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Profit and loss figures of the Sugar Institute, Inc., were quoted in federal court today as the organization sought to disprove the government's claim it is a monopoly and, therefore, should be dissolved.

John C. Higgins, Institute attorney, said the organization was performing a public service and was bringing about the practical competition desired by those who drafted the Sherman anti-trust law through the elimination of unfair tactics, which had put honest dealers under a disadvantage.

PRICE OF COPPER HITS RECORD LOW; SURPLUS CONTINUES INCREASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Burdened with an ever-growing surplus of copper, custom smelters today slashed prices for both the domestic and foreign trade to new all-time low levels. The domestic price was reduced to 6 cents a pound, Connecticut Valley basis, and the export quotation to 6⅝ cents, C. I. F. European ports. The prices had been 6¼ and 6⅞ cents, respectively.

These levels, however, snap back automatically when custom smelter stocks are reduced, but even at these prices buying today was reported as small. The custom smelters, in making the reductions, took advantage of the new rules of Copper Importers, Inc., for the second time in the last few weeks.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Only five common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange were selling for as much as $100 when speculators for the decline finished their day's business this afternoon. Such has been the ruin of this proudest of speculative markets since disaster overtook it on that memorable day back in October, 1929.

The so-called "Century club"—made up of issues holding above the 100 level — has been growing more and more exclusive all these two years as new lows forced one member after another out of the charmed circle. Auburn Auto held out until a few days ago, and Peoples Gas made almost as stubborn a resistance. Atchison got the hook last fall, and before that Allied Chemical and Dye and United States Steel and some other stalwarts were forced to take the count. A count of noses back around Jan. 5, when the market bumped its so-called "double bottom" for the depression, showed seven still solding the fort.

Here Are Bluebloods.

The bluebloods still able to hold their heads up are American Telephone, Coca Cola, Detroit Edison, Norfolk and Western, and Homestake mining.

This was the sixth consecutive day of the decline, which got under way when the list gave up trying to cash in on the railroad wage settlement and the setting up of the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation, the latest in the administration's series of undertakings in behalf of sick business. Up to that time the predominating tendency had been downward, of course, but days of reaction had been followed by half hearted rallies, thus breaking up the movement and keeping the forces of construction from summarily throwing up the sponge.

Is Less Pronounced.

While today's setback was not so pronounced as others, most of the leaders managing to hold within a fraction of their previous closing levels, it did serve to sink the main body a little nearer to the much dreaded "triple bottom." On the face of some popular sets of averages, the Jan. 5 lows have already been penetrated, but the rails are still holding safely above the line and the industrials have a fraction to spare.

The rails tried hard to lead a recovery in the late trading today, but the pessimism in which the trading community has immersed itself was too stubborn to be overcome. After an upturn of a point or so the list was borne down again in the last hour and the close found the leaders near their day's lows.

A disheartening feature of the day

A LEAF FROM THE SCRAPBOOK OF 1931

"THERE IS TREMENDOUS DIFFICULTY IN SELECTING ONE SECURITY WHICH ASSURES EVEN AVERAGE PERFORMANCE."

But some securities have given average—several even better than average—results.

Moreover, these results have been obtained with less than average risk on the part of those investors who have purchased them.

It is because people have faith in the future of American industry and wish to profit therein without speculative risk that they are purchasing the market averages through sound group investments.

YOUR INVESTMENT DEALER WILL BE PLEASED TO DISCUSS THIS PROGRAM WITH YOU WITH REFERENCE TO THE FOLLOWING SOUND GROUP INVESTMENTS:

A group investment in the common stocks of 44 outstanding public utilities.

A group investment in the common stocks of 77 forward-looking corporations.

INSULL UTILITY OMITS DIVIDENDS ON ALL ISSUES

Utility Stocks Improve in Uneven Trading.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Dividends on all classes of stock of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., were suspended yesterday by directors. The action came as no surprise to the financial community, which has expected the decision for several weeks. The ticker tape had been anticipating the action for several days and with the bad news out of the way the securities of the investment trust and other Insull securities staged a moderate rally.

Organized in 1929 as a holding company to perpetuate family control of the various Insull utility enterprises the company has shared the fate of similar concerns in sustaining heavy actual and paper losses during the long bear market. Since its organization the company has paid dividends at the rate of 6 per cent annually in stock on the common shares, $5.50 on the prior preferred and $6 on the preferred, second series. The prior preferred was privately sold and is not widely owned.

Barely Ripples Market.

Previously discounted the news caused barely a ripple in the market yesterday. Insull securities made gains in the midst of a sloppy market. Commonwealth Edison, Middle West common and the trust's stock and debentures scored moderate improvement.

Heavy trading continued on Swift & Co. shares and the selling predominated until announcement was made that directors had authorized the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, thus maintaining the present rate of $2 a year. On early transactions that stock had sold under 17 but rallied to close only a slight fraction under its previous quotation.

Another packing issue, Miller & Hart preferred, appeared on the tape at 7⅜ as directors met and declared the usual quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share. The stock is cumulative to the extent of $3.50 annually, but has been on a $1.60 annual basis since the middle of last year when the first reduction was made.

Bendix Moves Up.

Motor shares were fairly steady with Bendix gaining slightly as the street heard reports that the directors at their meeting late this month will declare the regular 25 cents dividend. Elsewhere in the list quotations were irregular within a narrow range.

U. S. Gypsum common was unresponsive to the news from official sources that the company showed a profit in the final quarter of 1931. Unofficial estimates place 1931 net earnings around $3,000,000, or $2 a share on common. In 1930 the company earned $5,408,685, or $4 a share.

Richman Brothers 1931 Net Equals $3.40 a Share

Richman Brothers company, clothing manufacturers, announced a net profit of $2,025,639 for 1931 after federal taxes, and equivalent to about $3.40 per share of outstanding stock. It compared with $3,085,216 profits in 1930.

EASTMAN CO. DROPS EXTRA DIVIDEND, BUT PAYS $1.25 REGULAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Eastman Kodak company directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on the common, but decided to omit the 75 cents a share extra which has been paid regularly since January, 1930. The company has paid extra dividends, though at varying amounts, each year since early in 1922. W. G. Stuber, president, made the following statement:

"The present economic conditions throughout the world naturally affect the business of this company. At the current rate of operations the earnings of the company are not sufficient in the opinion of the directors to warrant the payment of any extra dividend. Under all these circumstances the directors consider it prudent to maintain the present strong financial position of the company rather than to pay out in dividends more than is being earned."

Due to increasing requirements for greater production schedules and to preserve a conservative cash position, directors of the Motor Wheel corporation voted today not to pay cash dividend in March for the first quarter of 1932. Three months ago 12½ cents were paid and six months ago 25 cents.

The International Securities corporation of America passed the quarterly dividends of $1.50 on the 6 per cent preferred and $1.62½ on the 6½ per cent preferred stocks.

Directors of the J. I. Case company voted the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on preferred stock.

PRICES OF WHEAT ADVANCE AFTER EARLY RETREAT

Grain News Favors Bulls First Time in Days.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An oversold condition was disclosed in the wheat market early yesterday after an early dip which carried prices off around ½c from Tuesday's finish to 56⅝c for the May, or 4¾c under the high of the previous week. A good class of buying was in evidence on the break, which led many local shorts to take the buying side, and a rally of 1@1⅜c followed with the close about the top. There were net gains of ⅜@⅝c, with September leading. The latter finished at 59⅞@60c, while March was ⅜c; May, 57¾c, and July, 58⅜@58½c.

Wheat bulls had the news somewhat in their favor for the first time in several days. The effect of the recent bearish figures on the world and the domestic supply and demand position issued by the department of agriculture had apparently worn itself out, temporarily at least and, with an active foreign demand and abnormally high temperatures over the southwestern winter wheat belt, sentiment was less pessimistic than for several days.

Foreigners Buy Cash Wheat.

There has been much more export business passing in wheat of late than has been reported. Around 1,750,000 bu Manitobas are now estimated to have been sold to the United Kingdom and the continent on Monday and Tuesday, while the demand yesterday was active, with 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 bu taken at both coasts. In addition, around 600,000 bu hard winters are said to have been sold to Greece, making an aggregate of around 3,250,000 bu taken in all positions in the last three days.

France was reported to have been a free buyer of Manitobas yesterday, milling regulations having been revised so that 15 per cent of imported wheat could be ground. This compared with 10 per cent previously, while before Feb. 1 only 3 per cent could be used. According to Paris cables it was expected the percentage of foreign wheat used would be gradually increased to 50 per cent. Italy, Spain, Belgium, Germany, and the United Kingdom are expected to be good buyers for some months to come, as the amount of home grown wheat available is now regarded as small.

Fear Damage to Wheat.

Temperatures of 70 and over have prevailed in the southwest for two days and fears of damage ultimately were expressed by the grain trade. The forecast indicated much colder weather in the northwest, which might work down into the winter wheat belt. H. C. Donovan, the Logan & Bryan crop expert, was apprehensive as to the outcome, claiming that the abnormal weather might result in the crop making so much growth early in the season that it would be handicapped by premature age just before heading out time. He claims damage of this kind occurred in 1922 and 1927.

The first actual claims of damage to the Kansas wheat crop were received during the day, both from official and private sources, but were not regarded as serious enough to be a factor in the market. Liverpool closed ¼@⅝c per bu lower due to realizing sales and a less active milling demand. May was 55⅞c at the last, or 2⅜c under Chicago. Winnipeg gained ⅝@½c for the day, with May at 63½c in Canadian funds, the latter being at 14 per cent discount as compared with American.

Corn Sells at New Low.

Corn futures declined fractionally at the opening, with the March delivery selling at 34½c, a new low for the season, while the May at 37⅝c was within 1c of the inside figure so far. Short covering on the strength in wheat caused a rally of ½@⅞c from the low, with the close at net gains of ¼c. March finished at 35c, May at 38¼c, and July at 40⅜c.

Country offerings of corn to arrive were fair, with 30,000 bu booked by local handlers, while 23,000 bu were sold for shipment. No change was reported in the basis on the sample market, which remained firm.

For nine days oats futures have failed to close higher than the finish of the previous day, final trades yesterday being unchanged to ½c lower, with May, 24¼c, and July, 24c. Liquidation developed early, with a decline of ⅝c from Tuesday, but the late rally in other grains led to sufficient buying to lift prices back to around the previous finish. Rye was dull and closed ⅝c higher with wheat, May being 44⅜c and July, 45⅞c.

LARD DROPS TO NEW LOW

Lack of support was a feature in the provision trade with all deliveries of lard dropping to a new low for the season and since 1897, cash lots being quoted nominally at 4.55c at the last or 6½c under the inside figure made in 1898. Selling was scattered with the close at net losses of 2½@12½c with March leading. Bellies were neglected, but closed unchanged to 5c higher, the latter on September. Strength in grains and stocks had little effect, and an advance of 10@15c in hog prices was also ignored. Liverpool spot lard was 6d lower and futures off 3@6d. Supplies of hogs in the west were materially short of a week ago and a year ago. Prices follow:

After declining to new low records for all time on the March position, and to new lows for the season on most of the other positions, futures rallied and closed net unchanged to 3 points advance, with the late months relatively steady. Approximate sales 26,500 tons. Prices follow:

BUTTER FUTURES LOWER

A sharp break took place in butter futures on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday, closing prices showing net losses of ¼@1c. Egg futures were off ½c, while Idaho potatoes dropped 10c. Heavy selling started in butter at the opening, overnight production and storage news failing to prove bullish. New selling entered and liquidation appeared. Support finally checked the drop near midsession, but the new buying and covering was not heavy enough to cause a reaction. The egg news continued unchanged, light receipts failing to induce buying. March fresh graded firsts opened for the year at 13¼c, selling ½c lower at the close, the lowest price ever recorded for that class of eggs on the exchange. Sales: Butter, 79 cars; eggs, 18 cars; potatoes, 6 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 1 car. Prices follow:

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

An oversold pit condition was generally believed by the wheat trade as having been responsible for the greater part of the rally in the market yesterday. Operators who have been bearish for some time were skeptical about advances holding in view of the big excess in world supplies as compared with the probable demand. It was pointed out that for sometime past advances and declines have largely held within a range of around 5c per bu, taking the extremes. With a weakened technical position it is felt it will take stimulating news to bring about much of an upturn.

Economic conditions are receiving more attention from the grain trade at the present time than for a number of years. This accounts to a considerable extent for the grains reflecting the action of stocks to some extent. At the same time wheat prices at the close yesterday were around 9c above the low of last October, while the average price of stocks was within striking distance of the lowest level at which they have sold heretofore on the current movement.

Crop conditions in the southwest are expected to come to the fore in the immediate future as a market factor of importance in wheat. Complaints of deterioration were received yesterday from some sections. According to a recent estimate made by R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Bros. statistician there was around 6,500,000 acres of wheat in the area which went into the winter with a below normal condition.

LIQUIDATION IN COTTON

Cotton prices suffered another setback with final quotations showing net losses of 6@11 points at Chicago and 10@12 points at New York. New Orleans was off 13@15 points from Monday. Weak cables caused liquidation at the opening which carried prices down to a low of 6.73c for May and 7.04c for October at Chicago, while New York touched 6.63c for May and 7.01c for October. Japanese buying, which has been a sustaining factor of late, is said to be only spasmodic, with both major Japanese firms out of the market.

Cotton is said to be held firmly in the interior. Textile centers report good inquiry but small sales to mills due to the high basis. Spots at New York were 10 points lower at 6.55c, while New Orleans was off 15 points at 6.40c, or the same at Galveston, with Houston 6.35c. Prices follow:

CUDAHY PACKING RENTS SPACE IN LA SALLE-WACKER

Takes 30,000 Square Ft. of Floor Area.

BY AL CHASE.

What is claimed to be one of the largest leases in downtown office building space negotiated in some time was reported yesterday when the Cudahy Packing company rented the entire eighth, all of the ninth, and about half of the tenth floor of the La Salle-Wacker building, comprising in all an area of approximately 30,000 square feet. The lease negotiations were handled by E. A. Cudahy Jr., president of the Cudahy Packing company, and A. W. Anderson, secretary of the concern. Francis E. Manierre of Dibblee & Manierre, managing agent, represented the La Salle-Wacker building.

E. A. CUDAHY JR. [Lewis-Smith Photo.]

The Cudahy concern leased the space for ten years beginning May 1 at an undisclosed rental. It now has its general offices in the Harris Trust building where it has been for the last tyenty-one years, having moved there from Omaha. During that period of time it has trebled its gross business, according to Mr. Cudahy, and nearly trebled its employés and its facilities. The company is one of the largest packing concerns in the world and markets many internationally known by-products.

Executive Headquarters.

The offices just leased will be used as the executive headquarters for the company and will be fitted up in modernistic design. Dibblee & Manierre report that more than 60,000 square feet of office space has been leased in the La Salle-Wacker building during the last six months.

The Avlo Manufacturing company, makers of starch products, has leased third and fourth floor space in the Schmidt building, at North and North Park avenues, from the George A. Schmidt company. The Fantus Factory Locating service negotiated the lease.

Bankers Building Lease.

The Prudential Insurance Company of America has leased quarters in the Bankers building, according to the Adams-Clark Building corporation, owner and manager. It also reports renting space to the Louisville and Nashville railroad, Scovell-Wellington & Co., and the Industrial Equities corporation.

John C. Hattendorf of River Forest, a builder, has sold to Thomas P. McGuire, grain broker, the nine room residence at 1230 Monroe street, River Forest, with sixty-five feet frontage, for an undisclosed consideration. O. W. Lee represented the buyer and F. T. Szoboda of W. H. Wright & Co., the seller.

EASTMAN ASKS REPEAL OF RAIL RECAPTURE ACT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Repeal of the railroad recapture provision of the transportation act and repayment of excess earnings collected under that law were urged "in the public interest" today by Joseph B. Eastman of the interstate commerce commission. He told the house interstate commerce committee efforts to collect the $361,000,000 of recapturable earnings outstanding would adversely affect the present critical condition of many roads. Likewise, he favored returning to the carriers the $10,600,000 of excess earnings paid in.

The commission, Eastman said, feels railroads should be allowed to earn excess income in good times to balance deficiencies when freight is light. It is neither fair nor in the public interest to enforce the present recapture claims, he testified.

Mr. Eastman presented a new rate-making provision under which the commission, in fixing rates, would give due consideration to:

"Present and prospective needs of the public for adequate and efficient transportation facilities and service, to the effect of rates on the movement of traffic and to the necessity in the public interest, that the carriers furnish transportation service at the lower rates consistent with adequate service."

U. S. LOSES GOLD OF $15,500,000; FRANCE GETS IT

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Gold transactions reported by the Federal Reserve bank of New York today included exports of $17,045,000 and imports of $1,645,200. Of the exports, $16,701,500 went to France, $200,000 to Germany, $100,000 to Holland, and $4,000 to Belgium. Imports consisted of $1,070,000 from Canada and $575,000 from India. The earmarked account recorded a net increase of $100,100.

A drop of about 2 cents in sterling, accompanied by sympathetic reactions in Scandanavian rates, provided the feature of foreign exchange dealings today. The pound closed at $3.42⅜ for cables, off 1⅞ cents. Brokers attributed the drop to small commercial demand.

Board of Trade to Open Grain Marketing School

A school for instruction in grain marketing, the first of its kind ever held, will be inaugurated on the Chicago Board of Trade on Feb. 18. Lectures covering all phases of the grain and allied trades will be given by recognized leaders, including Board of Trade officials, government men, statisticians, and crop experts, and others. The lectures, which are open to the general public, will be given at 3:30 p. m. in room 300 Board of Trade building, starting Feb. 18. A series of eighteen lectures is scheduled.

Alton Seeks to Abandon 38 Mile Downstate Line

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Alton Railroad company today asked the interstate commerce commission to permit it to abandon 38 miles of line between Barnett Junction and Carrollton, Ill. The application says the line has had a precarious existence and is paralleled by modern highways. It is making no money, and the Alton, which is a subsidiary of the Baltimore and Ohio, asks that it be permitted to abandon and remove the tracks.

Java Plans to Produce 1,496,351 Tons of Sugar

THE HAGUE, Holland, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Union of Java Sugar Producers informed the international sugar council today that production in 1933 will be reduced from 2,981,047 to 1,496,351 tons. Some producers were considering more drastic restriction and consequently production, it was said, probably would not exceed 1,400,000 tons.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed easy at 3 to 6 points net lower today on sales of 23 contracts, equivalent to 3,450 barrels. All active options were at new lows for the season. Weakness of tallow, with sales of extra loose amounting to 500,000 lbs at 2¾c, or ½c net lower, new season's lows in lard and easiness of cotton unsettled the market. Crude oil was quoted at 3¼@3¾c in the southeast, with sales at 3¼c in the valley, while Texas was nominal. Bleachable spot closed 3.75c, Mar. 4.20c, May 4.34c, July 4.46c, Sept. 4.55c. There were no sales in the prime summer yellow contract with closing prices as follows: Spot 3.75c, May 4.15c, July 4.30c, Sept. 4.40c.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 5,000; hogs, 25,000; sheep, 11,000.

The cattle market pulled a surprise yesterday when prices whirled about and shot up fully 25c, and in spots considerably more before the end of the day. Nervousness replaced the listless tone which has prevailed since a week ago and fluctuations in some branches were sharper than any seen in several days. Trading, however, quieted down after some of the early orders had been filled and conservative operators in midsession and later found it possible to do a fair amount of business at prices in line with Tuesday's average market.

Traders were unable to explain the actions of the cattle market. Some attributed the bulge to light supplies. The week's total at Chicago is expected to fall short of 35,000, one of the lightest weekly receipts in recent years. Armour went up to $9.25, the top price, to obtain a load of choice 935 lb Missouri yearling steers. Several carloads averaging 912@1,423 lbs reached $9.00. The market for better grades was at the highest point of the week.

Country Buyers Active.

A range of $4.65@8.25 took the bulk of offerings, and a fair number of plain kinds ranged downwards to $4.00. Low grade steers brought $3.00@3.50. Butcher stock sold on a "catch as catch can" basis, while calves slumped 25@50c. Country buyers showed more interest in replacement stock and were paying stronger prices as the market closed.

Hog values moved up 10@15c on scant supplies yesterday and best grades finished at the high point of the season. Receipts were smallest for Wednesday since middle of last October. Buyers encountered considerable opposition to an attempt to rub out some of the early gains when discouraging reports from the wholesale pork trade arrived, and succeeded only in quieting down the trade in medium and poorer grades of swine.

Soft weather and the opening of the Lenten season are working against the markets, for all classes of meats and traders agree that only abnormally light receipts can save prices from another setback. The extreme top and the general average price of hogs moved up 10c at $4.20 and $3.90, respectively, the highest they have been since last Friday.

Contracts for May lightweight hogs were bid up to $5.00 on the futures trade, or 25c above the previous session. The lowest offer to sell in that month was $5.50. Light and mediums for July delivery were also bid $5.00. March contracts were offered at $5.00 and bid $4.25.

Lambs Slump 25@50c.

The lamb market turned reactionary again yesterday and lost 25@50c before the close of the session. City butchers were cautious buyers and got their best selections at $6.50, against a peak of $7.00 Tuesday. Larger houses took the bulk of offerings of good grades at $6.00@6.35, paying $5.50@5.75 for the rank and file of medium kinds lacking finish.

Light supplies yesterday and advanced estimates of only 32,500 for five markets today, against 47,700 last Thursday, failed to spur local buying, and with eastern orders comparatively small the trade was almost without support. Aged sheep and yearlings shared in 25c of the break.

$2.53 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

COMMONWEALTH'S rate on amounts above $100 is substantially lower than the lawful rate usually charged.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.

Why pay more than HOUSEHOLD'S LOW RATE on loans? . . . .

Household loans, $50 to $300 to families at reasonable rates. Rate on loans above $100 almost one-third lower than maximum permitted by small loan law.

For example, average monthly cost of $200 repaid in 20 equal monthly payments is $2.63—the lowest in Chicago.

Strictly confidential. Husband and wife only need sign. No endorsers. Quick service. Twenty months to repay.
